Phoenix Commerce Chamber Scores Texas City for Opposing Merger

Hints at Trade Reprisal if Espee-Southwestern Plan is Not Backed Up

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EL PASO (Tex.) June 27.—What is interpreted here as a veiled threat from the Phoenix Chamber of Commerce that it will wipe El Paso off the commercial map unless El Paso supports the Southern Pacific-Southwestern merger, so that Phoenix can get a railroad line and lower freight rates, was received by the local Chamber of Commerce today.

The telegram received from the Phoenix Chamber of Commerce explained:

"Said merger is a necessary step in the connection of the main line of the Southern Pacific Railroad through Phoenix and the Salt River Valley, which main line will be of great economic benefit to this locality, and to the entire State of Arizona.

"And, whereas the people of Arizona and the Salt River Valley purchase commodities from the merchants and wholesale houses of El Paso to a large extent so that what benefits Arizona and the Salt River Valley must benefit proportionately the city of El Paso.

"Now, therefore, be it resolved that the Chamber of Commerce of El Paso and the Mayor of that city be advised that the State of Arizona and, in particular, the

MAN SAVED FROM ANGRY KLAN CROWD

Police Called to Rescue Prominent Realty Broker from Fullerton Mob

Charging into the midst of an audience of 5000 at a Ku Klux Klan mass meeting at Fullerton last night, police and deputy sheriffs rescued Daniel O'Hanlon, secretary of the Kiwanis Club of Fullerton and prominent real estate man, from a mob apparently bent on lynching him.

O'Hanlon had publicly protested against an attack on the Roman Catholic Church made by Dr. Paul Henry Packard of Kansas City, Klan lecturer and chief speaker at the meeting.

Immediately shouts of "Shoot him! Mob him!" were heard on all sides and O'Hanlon was quickly surrounded by angry Klansmen.

At the first sign of disorder the police, who were on guard at the meeting, charged toward O'Hanlon, but the latter was severely handled before they could reach him.

Rescued, he was taken to the Fullerton Jail for safety and later released on his own recognizance.

Rev. Dr. Elon L. Myers, pastor of the First Christian Church of Anaheim, who was in charge of the meting, said last night that no complaint would be preferred against O'Hanlon.

RICH MAN, WOMEN IN AUTO CRASH

Pasadenan and Feminine Companions Injured When Car Plunges Off Road

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, June 27.—Montgomery Huff, wealthy oil man of 130 Arroyo Drive, and two women companions were injured here tonight when Huff's automobile swerved from the drive and, falling down the side of the arroyo, crashed through the roof of a barn thirty feet below.

Mrs. Charles M. Clark, 166 Arroyo Drive, and Miss Edna Lyle of Long Beach, were the women in Huff's car at the time of the accident. Neither was reported seriously injured although the machine, an expensive one, was declared to have been reduced to a wreck.

The exact extent of Huff's injuries could not be learned by the Pasadena police last night. The officers, who visited the Huff residence to get a report of the accident, were told that he was unable to leave his bed, but relatives insisted, nevertheless, that he was "just shaken up."

According to Mrs. Clark, the three had gone for a ride in the foothills and were almost home when Huff apparently lost control of his car on a sharp curve.

"The chicken coop saved our lives; it broke the fall of the car," she said. Several of the chickens were killed.

Neighbors near the scene of the accident carried the women to Mrs. Clark's home, and assisted Huff to his residence.

SEATTLE POLICE UP IN AIR

Woman Acting as Mayor Finally Launches Raids After Shake-Ups, But Results Meagre

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SEATTLE, June 27.—Seattle's police department, jolted by two changes in command in twenty-four hours, launched a minor clean-up crusade today as a result of the activities of Mrs. Henry Landes, president of the City Council and acting Mayor in the absence of Mayor Brown, but in the main the department resumed its placid routine without further upheavals.

Half a dozen or more raids were conducted by special details on orders of Police Captain Bannick, who served as Chief of Police some years ago, and who now is acting Chief following the removal of Chief Severyns Thursday and Mrs. Landes's assumption of command of the department.

ARDOR COOLS

The raiders centered their efforts on liquor and gambling resorts but the results were of small consequence and their ardor cooled when it was discovered that persons given to ignoring the law had decided to close up for the present.

Mrs. Landes, the acting Mayor and Chief of Police, who after deposing Chief Severyns and relieving Inspector Mason, whom she had designated as acting Chief, again declined to talk at any length today, except to say she had realized from the first the impossibility of cleaning up either the city or the police department in the brief time she will have before Mayor Brown returns.

Her decision to oust Chief Severyns came when he aired his views extensively in the press, saying at least 100 of his officers ought to be fired. Mrs. Landes invited him to "fire" them, adding that he would have twenty-four hours to do so. He replied that she could run the department herself if she chose and she proceeded to do so, although knowing that when Mayor Brown returned he would restore Severyns.

SUFFERS SETBACK

Mrs. Landes apparently suffered a setback today when two committees of the City Council, acting in routine course on petitions filed by the deposed Chief, granted his request that more officers be added to the department with appropriations for additional "prowler" cars for patrol duty at night.

Mrs. Landes, referring to Severyns's request for the additional men, had told the Chief the taxpayers would not wish to add to their burden until the dishonest 100 had been severed from the pay roll.

The action of the two committees today must wait the approval of the Council next Monday. If the Council accepts the committee's recommendations, Chief Severyns, on being reappointed Tuesday, will have his job back and also the additional men which the Council repeatedly has refused him in the past.

Japan Plans to Introduce Dairy Herds in Island

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27.—Japan has entered into an experiment to make her people larger in stature through the consumption of milk and is negotiating large purchases of milch cows throughout the United States for proposed dairies in the Island Empire, according to a bulletin issued today by the California Dairy Council. Dr. Atsushi Miyawaki, professor of dairying at Hokaido Imperial University, is homeward bound with a large shipment of pure-bred Holstein-Friesian cattle purchased from leading American breeders. While in San Francisco he consulted executives of the dairy council.

OBREGON SIGNS COIN DECREE

Provides 25 Per Cent of Silver Exports Must Be Returned to Mexico in Gold

BY JACK STARR-HUNT
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, June 27.—President Obregon today signed a decree providing that 25 per cent of all silver exported from Mexico for refining or other purposes must be returned to Mexico in gold. It was brought forward by the Finance Ministry as a means of halting the depreciation in silver currency.

This action, which is designed to bring relief in a financial crisis, will have an important effect on American mining interests in Mexico and vigorous protests are being lodged on account of the increased expense the law will impose on them.

ITS REQUIREMENTS

The decree means that all exporters must present to the mint 25 per cent of the value of all silver they export, either in gold coinage or gold metal to be recoined or coined into Mexican currency.

It provides also that exporters of silver bars must return to Mexico any gold mixed in the bars.

This regulation is occasioned by the fact that much of this type of mixture leaves Mexico for the United States, where it is refined.

REDUCTION PROMISED

Announcement is made that the measure will be enforced strictly, but that the percentage will be reduced as silver currency improves in value. Gold coins now command a premium of from 3 to 4 per cent compared with silver.

Mint officials estimate that the new law will result in the coinage of 50,000,000 Mexican gold pesos during the first year the measure is effective. With this amount of gold in circulation it is expected relief will be afforded to the depreciation of silver currency.

ROW BREAKS ON LEAGUE

Fight to be Made in Convention

Compromise Plank Approved by Committee Will be Opposed on Floor

Wrangle Over Referendum Plan Threatens to Hold Up Platform Vote

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, June 27.—A minority report on the League of Nations question as well as on the Ku Klux Klan issue will be presented tomorrow to the Democratic National Convention.

Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War under Woodrow Wilson, prepared an alternative plank late tonight after a subcommittee had reported to the resolutions committee a compromise plank on the league which, among other things would declare for a nation-wide referendum on the question of American membership.

A general row broke out in the committee immediately after the compromise draft had been read. Some committeemen took the position that it was not strong enough in its declarations regarding the league; others that it was too strong, and still others argued that if there was to be a referendum, it was not necessary to make the league an immediate issue.

DELAYS KLAN FIGHT

Discussion of this question delayed until exceedingly late in the night consideration of the Klan issue and some committeemen expressed doubt that the two controverted subjects could be put in shape for presentation to the National Convention at the hour of its convening—9:30 a.m., tomorrow.

The compromise league plank was a composite on the plan submitted by Owen D. Young of New York, formerly a member of the Dawes reparations committee; John H. Clarke, president of the League of Nations Non-Partisan Association; Mr. Baker, Senator Caraway of Arkansas, and Alfred E. Lucking, member of the committee from Michigan. Its text follows:

"The Democratic party pledges all its energies to the outlawing of the whole war system. We refuse to believe that the wholesale slaughter of human beings on the battlefields is any more necessary to man's highest development than killings of individuals.

HOPE IN COMBINING

"The only hope for world peace and for economic recovery lies in the organized efforts of nations combining to remove the cause of war and substituting law and order for violence.

"Under Democratic leadership a practical plan was devised under which fifty-four nations are now operating and have been for the past four years, while the United States government for the last four years has had no foreign policy and consequently has delayed the restoration of political and economic conditions in the world which has impaired self-respect at home and diminished prestige abroad; has curtailed foreign commerce and ruined agriculture.

It is of supreme importance to civilization and mankind that America be placed on the right side of the greatest moral question of all times. The Democratic party declares its principle of rendering assistance in the high purpose of establishing world peace through the League of Nations and the World Court of justice which it recognizes as institutions representing the supreme effort of statesmanship.

NO SUBSTITUTE

"Therefore, the Democratic party declares the purpose of the next administration to do all in its power to secure that moral leadership in the family of nations which in the providence of God we are called upon to assume.

"There is no substitute for the League of Nations as an agency operating for world peace. Therefore, we declare in the interest of peace that we will establish a permanent foreign policy under which these supreme questions may be settled, not subject to change.

"It is desirable and wise and necessary to lift this question out of partisan politics and that we take a census of the American people by a referendum election, advisory to the Congress, to be held officially under action of Congress and free from all contentious political questions.

"Shall the United States become a member of the League of Nations under such reservations to the covenant of the League as the United States may care to establish? Immediately upon an affirmative vote we will carry out such mandate."

UP TO CONVENTION

The compromise league plank was adopted after lengthy and heated discussion by a viva voce and thus the league question was disposed of by the platform committee, and put up to the convention itself.

The league plank as originally presented was changed in several respects by the committee before it was approved. One of the principal changes was in the final

PARTY CHIEFS STRIVE TO AVERT CLASH OVER KLAN

Democratic Leaders, in Alarm at Impending Split, Call Futile Conferences for Peace

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, June 27.—Thoroughly alarmed by the potentialities of a fight over a Ku Klux Klan plank on the floor of the convention tomorrow various groups of leaders were in conferences tonight seeking to devise some means to smooth out the situation so the convention could get to balloting for a Presidential nominee. One conference was attended by David L. Rockwell, campaign manager for William G. McAdoo, Norman E. Mack of New York, George Brennan of Illinois; E. H. Moore of Youngstown, O.; Senator Gerry of Rhode Island; G. Bruce Kremer of Montana, McAdoo floor leader; Senator Walsh of Montana, permanent chairman of the convention; Senator Harrison of Mississippi, and Chairman Hull of the Democratic National Committee.

The conference was described as friendly in all respects and it was said all the participants agreed that the need of the moment was to find some way to keep the Klan fight from coming to the floor of the convention. Grave fears of the consequences were expressed should the efforts fail.

After the principal conference, the conferees split up into groups and continued their work among delegates and leaders separately. No specific plan for avoiding the open fight was advanced, but all the participants were engaged actively in the attempt to find one before morning.

WEARY DELEGATES AWAIT REAL BATTLE

BY KYLE D. PALMER
"Times" Staff Correspondent

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, June 27.—The menacing lull that follows one great storm only to give warning of another and greater tempest to come descended upon the Democratic host in New York tonight as the last of a seemingly endless procession of nominating speeches and artificial demonstrations for favorite son candidates brought to a close the fourth day of the Democratic National Convention.

An unterrified but slightly exhausted Democracy now has sixteen sons duly nominated and acclaimed, according to the lung power of their respective followings for the party's nomination for President. From among them the nominee doubtless will be chosen and possibly, a Vice-Presidential nominee, too.

The list:

Senator Oscar W. Underwood, Alabama; Senator Joseph T. Robinson, Arkansas; William Gibbs McAdoo, California; Gov. Alfred E. Smith, New York; former Senator Willard Saulsbury, Delaware; David F. Houston, Illinois; Senator Samuel M. Ralston, Indiana; Gov. Jonathan M. Davis, Kansas; Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, Maryland; Senator Woodbridge N. Ferris, Michigan; former Gov. James M. Cox of Ohio, Democratic nominee in 1920; Gov. Charles W. Bryan, Nebraska; Gov. Fred H. Brown, New Hampshire; Gov. George S. Silzer, New Jersey; Senator Carter Glass, Virginia, and John W. Davis of New York, former United States Ambassador to Great Britain.

TROUBLE IN AIR

These various "sons" will be eclipsed tomorrow, and possibly, for a day or two next week, while the convention tries to settle the Klan issue, the League issue, the dry issue and one or two other issues upon which agreement has been hard to reach.

It is conceded by each side in the contest for and against a plank attacking the Ku Klux Klan that this question cannot be disposed of satisfactorily by the platform committee and that it can be settled, only by a finish contest on the floor of the convention itself. Speakers representing opposite opinions on the subject are preparing their arguments tonight.

HARD BLOW FOR PARTY

Klan Rift Blasts Campaign Hope

Democratic Machine Hurt Seriously by Injection of Religious Issue

Damage Cannot be Repaired Regardless of Action on Convention Floor

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG
"Times" Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, June 27.—Regardless of who is nominated, the Democratic campaign machine has met with a real injury. When Forney Johnston of Alabama nominated Oscar W. Underwood, he threw into the Democratic machine engine the monkey wrench of the anti-Klan issue. The best mechanics of the party have been working day and night in the committee on resolutions to try and get the monkey wrench out with as little damage as possible. They are not yet out of the woods, and, dripping with perspiration and grimy from struggling with the greatest injury to the power of the party in fifty years, may be able to report the platform to the convention tomorrow morning.

If this committee of experts is unable to get the engine to hit on all its cylinders the delegates themselves on the floor will tinker with the Klan problem. Whatever is finally done the engine of the Democrats will limp through out the campaign and never hit on more than three cylinders regularly.

TWO KLAN PLANKS

Two planks dealing with the Klan are still before the committee on resolutions. Whether one or both will be reported by the committee—one as the conclusions of the majority and one the best view of a minority—will not be known until the convention gets the cold facts from the report. Eight members of the subcommittee are reported to have insisted that the name of the Klan should not be mentioned in the platform. They concentrated for a general demand for religious and political freedom. Three members of the subcommittee demanded that the Klan should be denounced by name and in no uncertain language be eliminated for all time from Democratic toleration or support.

If the resolutions committee does not name the Klan some of the delegations on the floor will offer such a resolution as an amendment to the resolutions committee report and the convention will

HONOLULU GIVES WELCOME

Los Angeles Excursionists Hear "Aloha" as They Enter Harbor; Hawaiian Girls Give Leis

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HONOLULU, June 27.—"Aloha, Los Angeles!" "Hello, Hawaii!" "Welcome back!" "Glad to see you again, you Honolulu folks!" These greetings rattled back and forth in gay and spontaneous good fellowship this morning, when the proud City of Los Angeles, gallant in her renewed beauty, came sailing into this port with a large delegation of Los Angeles businessmen and their families.

It was the meeting of old friends. For two years now, linked together by the Los Angeles Steamship Company, they have been strengthening their business and social relations.

So when the City of Los Angeles, after months in the hands of skilled workmen, returned to the Hawaii run with the third annual Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce excursion, it was a sort of love-feast with island trimmings.

At dawn when the City of Los Angeles was moving in stately parade past the palm-fringed beaches and bold headlands that precede Honolulu Harbor, passengers on the big flagship heard the whirl of airplanes overhead, airplanes of the United States Army and seaplanes from Pearl Harbor, Uncle Sam's Pacific base.

PLANES IN WELCOME

This was the first note of welcome in a long day of greeting. Army and Navy reminded the Angelenos that though they were more than 2000 miles from continental United States, they are still in their own country.

A large launch bearing the Hawaiian band sped across the waves and circled the steamer, playing stirring music, combining everything from "On the Beach at Waikiki" to the world-known "Aloha Oe."

A large delegation from Hawaii's leading civic organizations then came aboard. They swarmed up the lowered gangway as agile as pirates, and like pirates they caputred the ship. They were headed by a bevy of dark-eyed island girls armed with leis—the Hawaiian flower circlet that betokens utmost hospitality in welcome—and for ten minutes the girls were busy lassoing each member of the Angeleno party with the pretty wreaths. Not only were all the Angeleno excursion

Gov. Cox Named by Newton Baker; Glass Compared to Jefferson; Silzer, Davis on List

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, June 27.—Declaring that former Gov. James M. Cox of Ohio "became a national figure at that moment in 1920 when only a few had the vision to see, or the courage to follow the new faith—the new political religion of Woodrow Wilson," Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War in President Wilson's Cabinet today again placed Cox's name in nomination for the Presidency before the Democratic National Convention.

"Without hesitation or wavering, he fought the long 1920 campaign, debating without doubt, appealing to our higher emotions, battling back the tide of ills which, rising out of the chaos of the world, finally included us with the peoples of Europe as the children of despair," Mr. Baker told the convention.

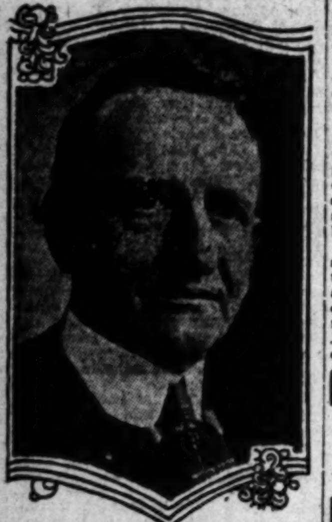
JAMES M. COX

"Since that campaign his dedication to the cause has remained complete," Mr. Baker said. "He has devoted the intervening years to serious study in the old world and this.

"In her name, I present to you Ohio's three-time Governor, her successful executive, her constructive leader, her son who bore the banner of our principles bravely and blamelessly in a national contest, her son who has had the vision to see where America's opportunity now is and has the courage and capacity to lead us to that realization.

"I present to you the name of James M. Cox. Throughout the world the forces of militarism and imperialism are arrayed against the forces of liberalism. Within the next four years one or the other of these philosophers will prevail—which we are probably determining here today. The present administration has transferred our sympathy in this contest to the wrong side."

CARTER GLASS



CARTERGLASS

A call upon the Democratic party to discharge "all factional, party and personal differences and obliterate forever all questions of sectional differences," was sounded by Senator Claude Swanson before the Democratic National Convention today when he placed the name of his colleague, Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, in nomination for the Presidency.

"The Democrats of Virginia," Senator Swanson said, "moved by the hopeful anticipation and animated by patriotism that is national and not local, have directed me to present for the high office of President a most prominent citizen whom we hold to be the most available of the candidates and the one who will most efficiently and satisfactorily discharge the vast responsibility of that exalted office.

"We need a man whose conception is like that of Thomas Jefferson, that a life given absolutely to the service of the country though it may end in financial bankruptcy, is far preferable to a life devoted to the accumulation and employment of wealth.

"We need a man too honest to be corrupt, too brave to be coerced by demagogues; who will keep the temple of our government free alike from the greed of money changers and the plundering rabble. I present to you, as measuring up to all the needs, Carter Glass of the Old Dominion."

GEORGE S. SILZER

Gov. George S. Silzer of New Jersey was placed in nomination for the Presidency by John A. Matthews of Newark.

Mr. Matthews told the convention Gov. Silzer had proved a "leader of incomparable value" and declared that if "we had such vigorous, such intrepid leadership at Washington when the thieves of our national resources were discovered in the very household of the government there would have been no platitudinous pronouncement that guilt would be punished regardless of party; there would have been 'help wanted' signs on the doors of the Cabinet."

The "oil situation at Washington" also was mentioned by Mr. Matthews to further illustrate Gov. Silzer's type of statesmanship.

"Translate such statesmanship," he said after describing the New Jersey Governor's record in office, "into the oil situation at Washington. I could not, of course, have even remotely imagined our Governor sitting idly by while the very bowels of our national domain were bartered away." On the question of law enforcement, Mr. Matthews said:

"There can be no law enforcement that is not a mere gesture, where government is used to pay party debts; there can be no law enforcement which chases after the shadow of lawlessness, while the substance of corruption taints the law's very source."

In conclusion Mr. Matthews asserted that the New Jersey executive had all of the traits of availability of his competitors, and came "with the mantle of victories of Cleveland and Wilson, New Jersey sons, upon his worthy shoulders."

JOHN W. DAVIS

"The Democratic convention has met not to choose a candidate, but to name a President, and it behooves us to consider well the character of the man we name," declared John H. Holt of the West Virginia delegation today, in placing the name of John W. Davis of that State before the convention as a candidate. The Democratic candidate must be "flat-footed on the Constitution in all its parts and amendments." Mr. Holt declared. In his administration, he continued, there must be "no room or hiding-place for crooks. He must stand for a Navy that will uphold the Monroe Doctrine and the peace of the world.

"Give us a man who will rescue the Department of Justice from the scorn of an indignant people, protect the public domain with the flaming sword of common honesty, relieve the people from unnecessary taxation, and in heaven's name simplify the machinery by which those taxes are levied and collected. If the rules and regulations now in vogue emanate from the so-called best minds of the present administration, let us in the future have a little less genius and a little more common sense.

"Our candidate must strike the shackles from business and hold the scales at equipoise between capital and labor.

"I present you a man who represents these principles and comes from a country upon whose people Washington relied in the darkest hours of Valley Forge, when a Continental Congress had all but given up the fight—John W. Davis of West Virginia, the West Augusta of the revolution.'

face an all-day fight on this portion of the platform. Leaders believe that the foes of the Klan can force the convention to denounce it by name in vigorous forceful and unmistakable language. This may require all day and night sessions and the convention will go over to Monday without even a ballot on the nominations for President.

SECRET CONFERENCE

Plans for the meeting of a conference in secret of the principal leaders of the party for Sunday night were matured today and these men will attempt to program and expedite as soon as possible the balloting for President when it starts with the opening of the convention sessions Monday. Judged by the length of time it took the convention to merely adjourn yesterday each of the ballots for President, under roll call of the States, will take at least three hours.

Many of the States will change their votes from time to time and after the necessary ballots to comply with their instructions will split their votes for various candidates and all of this will complicate the final totals and delay the announcement of each ballot.

Aside from the Klan issue the platform makers are badly muddled over the position of the party in regard to the World Court and the League of Nations. Different expressions and conflicts over the exact language to be used have tied up the committee on this issue almost as much as the one in which the Klan is involved.

OTHER PLANKS

The other thirty odd planks of the platform are an arraignment of Republican policies to a large extent and follow along the lines of the various inquiries and investigations presided over by Senator Walsh of Montana and other Democrats. There has, according to all reports, been the greatest freedom in language and loose construction to permit the widest possible construction of the platform, to view with alarm every Republican action and point out its danger to the country. This is the idea of the committee to make the platform a so-called progressive platform. If advance information gives a correct reflection of the various planks of the platform the word "progressive" is not properly used in the description of the proposed platform for rather than progressive it is anti-Republican and stops there.

Informal polls of the Democratic leaders here give no authentic indication of who will finally be the nominee of the Democratic gathering. Most of the leaders declare that neither McAdoo nor Smith can get the two-thirds vote necessary to success and that the fight lies between four dark horses—Ralston of Indiana, Ritchie of Maryland, Underwood of Alabama and Davis of West Virginia.

The best informed leaders of the party believe that if the Klan is denounced along the lines indicated as agreeable to Oscar Underwood he will gain many votes and possibly may win the nomination. After that Ritchie of Maryland, Ralston of Indiana and Davis of West Virginia are prime favorites in the order named.

WALSH FOR SECOND PLACE

In order to have the ticket carry out the challenges to the Republican party as indicated in the platform there is a general feeling that Senator Walsh of Montana, permanent chairman of the convention, and pre-eminent as the leader of inquiry into the oil leases of the Federal government, will be named for Vice-President. His nomination with any of those suggested above as favorite for the nomination would broaden the ticket and balance it between the East and Northwest.

Most of the experienced leaders here believe now that the convention will probably require the greater part of next week to finish its work and nominate a President and Vice-President. Predictions as to the closing days of the convention vary all the way from Thursday, July 3, to Saturday, July 5.

CHAOS ABOUNDS

Chaotic conditions surround all of the important tasks of the convention.

Who will be the nominee for President? No one knows.

Who will be the nominee for Vice-President? Walsh probably, but it is uncertain.

What effort will the final platform as adopted have on the States dominated by the Klan in the Democratic total vote next November? If any one here knows he will not answer.

Some one either knowingly or unwittingly left the door open for the most colossal disturbing factor that has overtaken the Democratic party in two score years and while all the leaders sense the injury to the party no one will place the responsibility for the disaster.

PROGRAM OUTLINED FOR SESSION TODAY

Convention called to order by Chairman Walsh at 9:30 a.m., eastern daylight saving time.

Prayer by Rev. John Roach Straton, Calvary Baptist Church, New York.

MAJORITY OF CONVENTION FOR ANTI-KLAN RESOLUTION, POLL TAKEN BY LEADERS INDICATES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, June 27.—A poll of delegations today by the anti-Klan leaders shows that, according to the present spirit of the delegates to the Democratic convention, the minority report of the Resolutions Committee condemning the Ku Klux Klan by name, will receive more than a majority of the votes in the convention. According to their figures, 589 of the 1063 delegates polled will vote in favor of denouncing the Klan by name while 474 will vote against the resolution. Thirty-five delegates were noncommittal or were absent.

ROW BREAKS ON LEAGUE PLANK

paragraph which was amended to read:

"Shall the United States become a member of the League of Nations upon such amendment to the covenant of the league as the President may propose and the Senate may ratify?"

Three planks with respect to the Ku Klux Klan were presented. That which omitted the name of the Invisible Empire was prepared by William Jennings Bryan. That naming the Klan constituted a composition of the anti-Klan forces in general. There was, however, an additional plank presented from Alabama, the home State of Oscar W. Underwood, one of the candidates for the Presidential nomination.

ANTI-KLAN PLANK

The composite plank of the opponents reads:

"We condemn political secret societies of all kinds as opposed to the exercise of free government and contrary to the spirit, if not the letter of the Constitution. No member of such society can justly claim to be a disciple of Thomas Jefferson. We therefore pledge the Democratic party to oppose the efforts of the Ku Klux Klan or any similar organization that interferes with political freedom or religious liberty, or which engenders racial prejudices."

The Bryan plank which leaves out any specific mention of the Klan reaffirms the devotion of the Democratic party to the fundamental principles contained in the Constitution providing for the free exercise of religion, freedom of speech, freedom of the press and the right of the people to free assembly.

It declares further that a religious test cannot be required for any office of trust in the government and that there shall be no effort to arouse a religious dissension.

BRYAN MAKES PLEA

The third, or so-called Alabama plank, is lengthy, reviewing the history of organizations of that character and making specific reference to the "Know-Nothing Party" of 1856. It declares that the Democratic party openly opposed the "Know-Nothings," and that there is no reason now why it should not specifically oppose the Ku Klux Klan.

Taking the floor under the same five-minute limitation rule on speakers that obtained when the league was under discussion, William Jennings Bryan made a stirring address in opposition to naming the invisible empire in the party declaration.

The great commoner declared that four years hence the Klan organization will have been forgotten and he pleaded with the committee to avoid any action that would divide the Democratic party. He said he could support no movement which would array one set of men against another.

Liquor Seizures Are Reported in Convention City

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, June 27.—Wayne Wheeler, attorney for the Anti-Saloon League, said tonight that 6700 quarts of whisky had been confiscated since the Democratic convention met in New York, and 300 barrels of beer also had been seized.

The policy of the drys has not been to make New York "bone dry," it is said, but to keep it from becoming too wet.

Militia Ordered to Stop Looting in Tornado Path

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MINNEAPOLIS, June 27.—A company of seventy picked National Guardsmen entrained today for Tracy and the area swept by the tornado in Southern Minnesota last Sunday under orders of Gov. Preus to halt the looting. The thievery threatens to ravage the district, the Governor said.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, June 27.—Transfer has been made from the State to the Federal Court of the case in which the city of Phoenix is seeking to void the franchise of the Phoenix Railway Company of Arizona for alleged violation of the terms of the franchise.

TAMMANY CLAW FELT BY WOMEN

Old-Time Party Workers Sidetracked for Favorite of the Braves

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, June 27.—Women attending the Democratic National Convention are learning some practical politics from Tammany leaders.

An outstanding lesson to which they awakened today was how the Tammany Braves took the vice-chairmanship of the convention right out of their hands and gave it to a local worker, Miss May Kennedy.

The widely-known women leaders were not consulted regarding the appointment. The first they knew of Miss Kennedy was one day last week when her name appeared on a local committee list. The next they heard of her was when her name was read from the convention platform as the recipient of the highest honor accorded to a woman in the convention.

Prominent Democratic women of the country began to ask each other "Who put her over?"

They found, according to leaders, that she had been a local worker in the Bronx and had done some very effective campaigning last fall for Senator Copeland.

If Senator Walsh should become incapacitated today, Miss Kennedy, newcomer in national politics, but the choice of well-schooled and very practical politicians, would step into his place and wield the gavel. Should such an exigency arise, of course, there might be wailing among the elder stateswomen who long have carried banners, arranged entertainments for visiting delegates, served on committees and raised funds for the party.

Other than the ripple which the Kennedy appointment has caused, everything appears to be lovely among the women. The flurry over whether Miss Emily Newell Blair of Joplin, Mo., the national vice-chairman of the national committee, will succeed herself, is passed, for the present at least.

BILL BRYAN LOSES HAT AND WATCH

Also Vest, but Manages to Keep His Head During Convention Flurry

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, June 27.—William J. Bryan is a Democratic National Convention veteran. Wherefore his growing habit of losing things cannot very well be attributed to forgetfulness born of excitement or nervousness.

But it developed yesterday that not only did the Commoner lose his hat and fall heir to a strange felt one in the platform committee meeting at the Waldorf-Astoria yesterday, but he also lost his waistcoat and watch.

Bryan's hat is still among the missing, but his gold watch and vest were restored to him today. It was very warm, and in the committee room he removed his vest, in a pocket of which reposed the timepiece, and in hunting for his hat he forgot the waistcoat and neglected to take it with him when he departed. He didn't miss it until late last night when he reported it to the hotel management. Vest and watch were returned to him this morning.

Midwest Grain Fields Invaded by Army Worm

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

AURORA (Ill.) June 27.—Army worms which by the million have been pushing a slow, devastating march across the farm lands of Northern Illinois reached Kane county today. As soon as their presence was discovered farmers began digging trenches about their fields, for this is the only known method by which the worms' forward movement can be stayed. The exceptionally wet season is said to be responsible for the avalanche of worms.

The moisture has made grain and garden truck tender and easy to destroy.

of words, have resorted to an exchange of blows—and the struggle is scarcely begun. A demonstration or two that has not been carefully rehearsed and staged may yet occur to send a genuine thrill through the 20,000 individuals in Madison Square Garden.

Aside from the three or four major issues on which apparently irreconcilable differences have developed, members of the resolutions committee say that the platform is in its final form for presentation to the convention.

Today's convention events were largely a repetition of the events of yesterday, except that the Smith faction, having successfully demonstrated that the "demon" portion of demonstration is a thing to be reckoned with, has caused all outbursts for other candidates to appear somewhat tame and mild in comparison with that given by the galleries to the New York Governor.

GLASS AND DAVIS

Both Carter Glass and John W. Davis today received ovations indicating, possibly, that either could be a compromise candidate in the event of a prolonged deadlock. Gov. Silzer of New Jersey received a respectable response when his name was placed in nomination, but much of the noise that followed was kept alive by artificial means.

It is probable that the men and women attending this convention will go away impressed with but two speeches of the many that were delivered, the first by former Assistant Secretary of the Navy Franklin D. Roosevelt in nominating Smith and the second by Mrs. Izetta Jewel Brown in seconding the nomination of John W. Davis. Each of these speakers escaped from the dry eulogy plastered upon most of the other candidates. Each spoke with a certain dignity of conviction and, if such a thing be possible under such conditions, each won the thoughtful attention of the delegates.

Otherwise, this orgy of words, this nauseating repetition of the "man who" and "the man I am about to name," this pitiless beating upon the suffering ears of a throng both preoccupied and hostile, has gone for nothing except as it has swelled the receipts of the telegraph companies and shown afresh the terrifying possibilities of unrestricted radio.

The millions who are said to be listening to the Democratic din were treated at least to one astounding phenomenon today when a rugged nominator, hurling defiance into the microphone, suddenly paused, assumed an anguished expression and then, helplessly and against heroic efforts at self-control, sneezed with such violence as to fairly deafen persons standing full within the range of the powerful amplifiers.

This may have been the first sneeze-by-radio on record. If so, it was a worthy pioneer.

RADIO OF SERVICE

Incidentally, the radio has accomplished quite a service for candidates and their advisors, as it permits those most interested in convention developments to remain constantly apprised of conditions while conducting, in conference rooms the strategy of their respective campaigns. McAdoo, in the Vanderbilt Hotel, has a receiving set that keeps him in touch with convention affairs; Smith has one; Ralston, on his farm in Indiana, has one. Probably each nominee has means for "listening in" both to the good things said of himself and of his many rivals. Henceforth, therefore, the astute politician, instead of placing an ear close to the cold and unresponsive ground, may discover from the air just what he seeks to know.

The demonstration for Former Gov. Cox of Ohio, who was the willing sacrifice offered by the Democrats four years ago, must have disappointed his friends. Poetry, biblical reference, historical facts and philosophy, all were combined in the speech nominating Gov. Bryan of Nebraska, but the Governor must have reflected with some regret upon the fact that "Bryan" is not now a name to evoke as once it did the thunders of Democratic fervor.

Prolonged and sincere cheers went up in tribute to the New Mexico and North Carolina delegations when their respective chairmen, with voices weighted by pride, announced that they propose neither to nominate nor to second the nomination of any candidate.

J. F. T. O'Connor of North Dakota, who made a good speech, astounded at least 90 per cent of the delegates and propably 100 per cent of the occupants of the galleries when he concluded a vigorous attack on the Ku Klux Klan by as vigorously seconding the nomination of McAdoo. The Smith rooters, taken unaware and thinking O'Connor would name their man, contributed to the McAdoo applause until their mistake became evident.

SECONDS FOUR

Pennsylvana showed a sweet impartially by seconding the nomination of four Presidential aspirants, Smith, Ritchie, Underwood and McAdoo, and the throng showed its resentment by groans, sighs en masse and other available means of protest. When a fifth Pennsylvanian began to tear the atmosphere to tatters his offering was received unsympathetically and he spoke, for the most part, in unison with several thousand voices that implored him in unflattering terms to desist.

He held up an appealing hand and, his auditors, evidently believing that he would conclude, quieted.

"The man I am about to name," shouted the speaker defiantly, 'is a man who—" but he concluded and retired under a storm of jeers, not an individual in the entire auditorium being able to hear for whom he had spoken. It was learned later that he had indorsed the candidacy of McAdoo.

Mrs. Brown, seconding the nomination of Former Ambassador Davis, delivered the outstanding speech of the day. Her inspiring presence, dramatic emphasis and eloquent expression aroused the tired delegates and brought forth one of the few genuine ovations of the convention. Whether this was a tribute to her own vivid personality or an expression of approval for her candidate may be determined in the balloting for a nominee.

McAdoo tonight predicted his nomination on "an early ballot." He appeared exceedingly cheerful. Those close to him likewise expressed entire confidence in the outcome. Careful questioning of various McAdoo leaders failed to show that the McAdoo people are discussing a second choice.

However, those who would agree to talk of a compromise candidate "merely for the purpose of conjecture" seemed to feel that the following of the former Secretary of the Treasury may go to Ralston, Glass or Davis in the order named. It is the opinion of McAdoo's friends that he will be able to hold a maximum of 400 delegates in the event of a deadlock, but this opinion is not shared generally by those who have checked up on the various delegations.

Balloting for nominees is expected to begin Monday. The most venturesome prophet in New York does not appear willing to hazard a guess as to the outcome. There has been thus far no serious consideration of a Vice-Presidential candidate by the convention as a whole.

McADOO MEN ACCUSED OF DELAYING PROGRAM

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, June 27.—Edmond H. Moore, National Committeeman from Ohio, charged today that the McAdoo forces were attempting to delay the report of the platform committee, in order, if possible, to try to have their candidate nominated for the Presidency before the adoption of a platform. Moore declared that if successful, McAdoo would then be in a strong position to dictate the platform.

"McAdoo forces on the resolutions committee," said Moore, "appear to be doing everything in their power to delay a report of that committee. Last night they insisted on talking about the less important phases of the platform, although there are only three planks in which the convention as a whole is particularly interested—Klan, prohibition and the League of Nations."

ists decorated, but every passenger on the steamer received the lei as an introduction to an ancient Hawaiian custom still observed.

STEAMER DOCKS

Newspaper cameramen boarded the vessel also, and the leaders of the Hawaiian and Angeleno delegations and large numbers of passengers were plentifully "shot."

The steamer moved into the harbor and drew up at a huge new wharf on which was a great crowd to give another welcome. The famous Honolulu Ad Club, which for years has never failed to pull off a "stunt" of some kind for visiting groups, made a lane of welcome for the visitors when they disembarked, and every visitor got a special handshake and a cheer.

From the steamer the Angelenos went directly to their hotels. The majority are stopping at the Moana Hotel on Waikiki Beach but a number are at the Alexander Young, downtown.

Auto tours around the city, swimming, visits to close-in points of interest, some shopping and some early business calls made up the informal program for the day. Many of the visitors met acquaintances and none had difficulty in filling in the time.

DANCE AT HOTEL

Tonight most of the Angelenos are guests at a dance at the Moana Hotel.

The return to the Hawaii run of the palatial steamer City of Los Angeles aroused quite as much interest as the coming of this third annual excursion party.

The appearance of the steamer received very favorable comment from those who had opportunity to go aboard her today. Her enlarged and refitted accommodations are appreciated by all who

PARKS ARE DORMITORIES FOR SUMMER THRONGS

Poverty and Heat Send Thousands to Public Refuge; Gunmen Spoil Pleasures

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1924, Public Ledger.]

NEW YORK, June 27.—Summer has come again to New York. At least there has been one sudatory day during which straw hats were perfectly safe, and brave hearts enough were found to deck themselves out in grain bonnets to the entire disregard of the passing spring.

Swallows enough to make a summer have appeared in the parks, and robins are singing their roundelays, while the sparrows have been twittering their little tit-willows for nearly a month in the hope that the hot weather would finally find permanent lodging along the sidewalks of New York. Last night the kiddies sang "London Bridge is Falling Down" until darkness fell, and the city of Al Smith was in perfect tune with the music of the spheres.

The first rose of summer has shed its fragrance on the air; June brides are in the offing, and the fire escapes on the East Side are being softened with mattresses and pillows for the night's repose of the little ones among the foreigners. In the white light district the cabarets are gay with evening clothes and jazz, where the padlocks haven't found lodgment in the keyholes; the Fifth-avenue busses are crowded with those careless of the dime, and Central Park swarms with the outpouring of all nations. Down on the little streets of the East Side and the West Side boys make little groups of troubadors, strumming the guitar and plunking the banjo, and sing on the corners the songs of old New York. Through the open windows come the strains of jazz from phonographs, Victrolas and steam pianos; and passersby linger to listen and it is a gay and happy time in old Gotham.

SWAINS IN EVIDENCE

Out in Central Park the lure of the boats in the big lake find hundreds of occupants, and the girl and the boy row, row to the splash of the waves and the distant music of the band in the mall. The side paths simmer with swains and the magic of summer love is in the air; and the budding flowers slumber in silence, giving nodding assent to the love-making going on in their groves. It is the time of the year for the fling of youth, and it is also the season of the hobo to slumber in the open.

The nights of sweet summer find the paths leading to the mall jammed with all kinds of humanity, the lovers of music, no matter what their station be in life. For in the bandstand in the mall the Goldman band discourses the latest selections in jazz and light opera, the classics and the tunes of musical comedy. The mall is in a sequestered part of Central Park, where the noise of traffic on Fifth avenue and Central Park West never penetrates. It is a flower-enveloped grotto, with benches and lounging places, and a fine-sounding board over the band stand, a perfect home for music.

This is the seventh season of the Goldman band, and its presence is made possible by Mr. and Mrs. Daniel and Mr. and Mrs. Murray Guggenheim, who have financed the flock to the mall. New York is the melting musical flow for the enjoyment of the people in general.

GOLDMAN HISTORY

Edward Franko Goldman came to New York at the age of 8 from Louisville, Ky., where he was born. His mother was Selma Franko, a pianist and violinist of note, and the boy inherited his mother's love and genius for music. Edwin played the cornet, and when Jules Levy, the celebrated cornetist, heard him, he accepted him as a free pupil. At 15 he was one of the prominent cornet soloists in the country, and two years later he played in the Metropolitan Operahouse orchestra, and remained with the famous musical organization up to fifteen years ago, when he branched out as a composer and conductor.

Last season in Central Park his band played to more than 1,000,000 auditors, and more than 2000 music lovers subscribed to the expense of the entertainment, and at the end of the season found themselves in debt. New York enjoys the reputation of being the greatest music-loving city in the world, as witness the extravagant prices they pay for grand opera, and yet they can't find ways and means to pay for music in public, notwithstanding the throngs which flock to the mall. New York is the melting pot for lovers of the "handout." They'll take anything they can get for nothing.

But the season this year is assured for twelve weeks through the generosity of the Guggenheims, the copper kings and queens. Conductor Goldman has nothing to worry about; nor has the public.

PARK IS DORMITORY

And when the band has finished and the great public has dispersed it is slumber time in Central Park. The hoboes and the hoi polloi join the sleeping flowers and the rest of nature and find the rest for the weary on the park benches. Time was when anybody could slumber in safety on the benches in the quiet of the park, and even now on the hot nights it is one of the greatest dormitories in New York. The people swarm over there from the Upper East Side, men, women and children, and make their beds on the benches, the grass and the paths, and are safe in numbers.

But of late years the great park has been infested with gunmen and rowdies of all kinds, and danger lurks where the exclusive benchers seek isolated spots, irrespective of the police that patrol the park. Be that as it may, a scream or a shot or a shout will bring a horde of fighting neighbors on the heels of the assailants and, if caught, they are lucky to escape with their lives, for to those benchers Central Park is their home and their castle, where punishment doesn't await the arrival of the police.

The park is only one of the lodging places on the hot summer nights. All parks are utilized and thousands swarm down to the benches to sleep on the sands.

AT BATTERY PARK

But before taking the elevated trains, the subways and the surface cars for Coney Island the sojourners in slumberland take a try at Battery Park, down at the south end of Manhattan Island, the snuggest corner on a hot night in little old New York. Battery Park in the summertime is ever green with its trees and grassy plots and gets the full sweep of the ocean breezes wafted in from the sea through the Narrows, and it lies full on the upper bay.

As early as 6 o'clock at night this grass hotel begins filling up with the night's lodgers. They come mostly from the lodging-houses at the lower end of New York and from the tenements adjoining. They are not the class of park benchers from whom O. Henry got his short-story inspirations. Doubtless all of them might make good copy for a novelist, for they all come from afar, mainly from the Balkan states—Turks, Armenians, Assyrians and whatnots—knowing nothing of the English language and less of the customs of America, but know how to get a bed when they haven't the price of a night's lodging.

By 8 o'clock the park is full and the only sounds coming out from the trees and flowers to disturb the fishes in the old aquarium on the seawall are the chorus of snores. But nobody disturbs these sleepers. Gunmen and petty thieves know that they are not worth while, and one is safer there for the night than he would be in his home, if he had a home. The trains of the "L" go clattering by and the rattle is music, bedtime music, to the snoring foreigners.

The bedclothing of the lodgers consists of newspapers, and every morning the members of the street department find occupation as chambermaids, for the park grass is littered with the papers containing the news of the day before. But the sleepers are on their way at the first break of dawn, presumably on their way to the bread line. Early to bed and early to rise is their motto.

Wife Seeks Spouse Whose Feet Bear His Initials in Tattoo Marks

DENVER, June 27.—"Wanted—A husband who has deserted his wife. Has an eagle and initials J.K.W. tattoed on his feet." This is James K. Wilkinson, 45 years of age, described by his wife, and Juvenile Officer Ruffner is trying to find him for her.

Mrs. Wilkinson does give a few additional details. She says her missing spouse weighs 185 pounds, is slender and has brown hair. But the decorations on his feet are expected to be the things which will bring him back to his wife.

"But," police have asked Ruffner, "how are we expected to catch him with his shoes off?"

Rules Syrians and Armenians Are Not Asiatics

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, June 27.—Under a decision in two test cases today, Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson has opened the gates for 51,000 Syrians and 36,600 Armenians, now in this country, to become citizens. It is held that they are Semitic, instead of Asiatic, and, therefore, come under the classification of "free white peoples."

In a similar case last month, Federal Judge George A. Carpenter ruled against admitting these people to citizenship. Fred J. Schlottfelt, chief naturalization officer, may appeal the ruling of Judge Wilkerson as he has a ruling at variance with the Wilkerson decision.

"I have considered this case carefully," said Judge Wilkerson. "A review of the history and ethnological origin of the Syrian and Armenian peoples convinces me that they cannot be classified with the Asiatic races."

Makes Good Gasoline

A GASOLINE that burns completely in your motor not only delivers full power to the pistons, but leaves no raw residue to leak into the crank case, disintegrate the oil and thus endanger proper lubrication.

Such is Scientific gasoline—Union—it burns completely.

Money, modern facilities and scientific experience—all three are necessary to its production.

Union Gasoline has the quality of non-detonation which means the elimination of "knocking" on hills, and in slow, heavy pulls, quicker acceleration, and a smoother, more vibrationless speed.

Union Gasoline is assurance of all these qualities, so it is worth while to say "Union" when you buy.

NAUGHTY GIRL DIES IN QUIET

Pneumonia Ends Turbulent Life of Bandit Queen

Was Given Her Nickname by Detroit Judge

Had Penchant for Holding Up Taxi Drivers

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DETROIT, June 27. — The "naughty little girl" is dead. Mrs. Helen Pisula, alias Blanche Long, alias Helen Kuehn, but better known as the bandit queen, whom Judge Jeffries dubbed the "naughty little girl," died in the Henry Ford Hospital, a victim of pneumonia. At the time of her death she was living with her mother.

It was back in 1919 that the "naughty little girl" occupied much space in the newspapers and more time of the police department and the courts. For the "naughty little girl" was really a naughty little girl, with an alarming penchant for holding up taxicab drivers and with a decided tendency toward stealing automobiles and driving them to other States.

She was not averse, if necessary, to flourishing two revolvers during her hold-ups and burglaries. She first came to the notice of the police in July, 1919, when they found her standing guard, armed with two pistols, near a garage on Fort street west, which had just been rifled of twenty automobile tires.

WAS RELEASED

When the police arrived the "naughty little girl" still stood guard and fired her automatic pistols to cover up the escape of her two male companions. She was charged with burglary and, when placed on trial before Judge Jeffries, was released.

Judge Jeffries did not believe the girl was guilty of what the police charged her with and ordered a verdict of not guilty. In discharging her the judge said that she was "probably an indiscreet and naughty girl," and so she gained her nickname.

Early in 1920 a woman put a revolver to the head of a taxicab driver, told him to drive to Michigan avenue and the Dearborn Road, where she forced him to get out and walk home, while the taxicab sped onward.

A few days later "the naughty little girl" was arrested in Sandusky, O., in the company of Victor Pisula of Detroit, whom she later married. She was brought to Detroit, identified by the taxicab driver and was held for trial.

TRICKS OFFICERS

While being held in the County Jail she alarmed attaches by calmly announcing that she had taken poison. When treated at the Receiving Hospital, however, it was found that the "poison" was a meat sauce she found in the medicine cabinet. When the case finally came to trial "the naughty little girl" was released upon request of a prosecuting attorney, since the prosecution could not produce one of the witnesses against her.

In the succeeding years she lived quietly until December 26, last year, when she accused her husband of participating in numerous hold-ups near Wyandotte. She said she "squealed" because her husband had beaten her.

Then, a few days ago, she was stricken with pneumonia and died shortly afterward, her career as a "naughty little girl" over forever.

CHILD-LABOR LAW WINS IN ARKANSAS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

LITTLE ROCK (Ark.) June 27. The Arkansas House of Representatives went on record today as the first legislative body to ratify the proposed child-labor amendment to the Constitution of the United States. The vote was 45 to 40. The resolution proposing ratification is expected to be taken up in the Senate late today or tomorrow.

HIGH COURT UPHOLDS SOLDIER BONUS LAW

MURDER EXPERT SEEKS CLIENTS

But Advertisement is Seen by Police and He Gets Jail Term

"If you want any murders done I do it and I guarantee my work."

A card bearing this inscription in bold print fell into the hands of police a few days ago. They sought out the unique advertiser. He proved to be Elmer Tolan, 35 years of age. In his possession they found a large quantity of obscene literature, they said. Yesterday Tolan was sentenced to ten months in jail by Police Judge Frederickson on a charge of distributing scurrilous literature. He was convicted by a jury.

Quiz Continued in Accusation of Dry Agents

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Burke yesterday said he was continuing the investigation into charges made by a number of Japanese that two dry agents of the District Attorney's office had forced several hundred dollars in "hush" money from them under threat that they would be arrested.

A number of Japanese, two of whom are said to have paid the dry agents considerable sums, were questioned by Mr. Burke during the day Among them was S. Hasegawa, known as the "California celery king;" H. Uyida and A. Kojima. Uyida stated that the agents obtained $175 from him and Kojima declared that his daughter had given them $100, in the presence of his wife.

Waterfront Fire Destroys Whole Bay City Block

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27.—Fire of undetermined origin tonight destroyed virtually a block of two-story buildings on the waterfront here between Mission and Howard streets. So far as police and firemen could learn, no lives were lost. The fire started about 11 o'clock and at midnight was menacing many other buildings in the vicinity.

Chinese Ku Klux at Shanghai in American Hands

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ARMY WORM GRIPS CROPS IN ILLINOIS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, June 27.—More than one-fourth of the counties in Illinois have been invaded by the army worm. A big percentage of young corn has been cut down level with the ground in many parts of the State. Truckers and farmers throughout the State are suffering heavy losses from the ravages of this pest, which is worse than it has been in many years, according to reports.

NEGROES HALT GOLF TAX

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ST. LOUIS, June 27.—A proposed ordinance providing for taxation of golfers on the municipal links has been shelved by an Aldermanic committee. The negro problem has caused delay in the passage of the bill. At present negroes are permitted to use the links until noontime on Mondays. An unrestricted tax would give them full privileges of the course. The bill provides for a tax of $10 yearly, or a charge of 30 cents for each round over the eighteen-hole course or 25 cents on the nine-hole course.

FIGHTS PAIR OF BANDITS AT HIS DOOR

Man Saves $300 in Wallet But He and His Wife Are Badly Beaten

When G. T. Bell, of 712 East Twenty-eighth street, resisted two armed bandits who had rung his door bell last night, he saved $300 he had in a wallet, but he and his wife suffered a severe beating and narrowly escaped death from bullets fired by the desperados.

Answering the door bell, Bell was confronted by two pistols in the hands of two determined-looking gunmen. The bandits seized Bell, who shouted to his wife. Mrs. Bell arrived and was greeted with a blow on the jaw. At the same time one of the bandits brought the butt of his gun down on Bell's head, causing severe lacerations. Four shots were fired in the scuffle.

Bell and his wife, although dazed by the blows, continued to fight the intruders. Finally the bandits got about $25 from one of Bell's pockets and escaped. They overlooked a wallet containing $300 in currency and checks.

UNION'S AID CLAIMED BY CANDIDATES

Smith and McAdoo in Tilt Over Which Has Support of Labor Bodies

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, June 27.—The rivalries of William G. McAdoo and Gov. Alfred E. Smith in the Democratic Presidential race tonight brought a dispute among union labor leaders as to which of the two best represented the interests of organized labor.

Six labor union chiefs, mostly representing railroad workers, issued a declaration that Mr. McAdoo must be nominated or organized labor would support the third-party movement expected to be inaugurated next week at Cleveland.

The declaration made in a formal statement issued through the McAdob headquarters, hardly had time to be distributed before James A. Holland, president of the New York State Federation of Labor came out with an assertion that between Mr. McAdoo and Gov. Smith, those labor men who knew the labor records of both, favored Gov. Smith.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CLEVELAND (O.) June 27.—Reports from New York, that if William G. McAdoo is nominated as the Presidential candidate, the candidacy of Robert La Follette will go dead, were characterized as "unfounded" tonight by leaders of the conference for progressive political action here arranging for its convention July 4.

Denial was made that any group of rail unions can control the convention, the leaders asserting that the convention will be absolutely open. They also declare their belief that Mr. La Follette will run regardless of what the Democrats do, and that they do not see in any of the Democratic possibilities anyone who can gain his supporters.

city of Phoenix, are exercising every effort to assist in the construction of said railroad and that we trust the citizens of El Paso will view the matter in a broad gauged way and that, while there may be certain temporary and minor losses resulting to El Paso therefrom, the great benefit, which will rebound to El Paso from the unbuilding of the Southwest as fostered by the construction of this railroad, will far more than offset.

"Be it further advised that the merchants and individuals of this entire section are steadfast in their purposes to assist the building of this railroad, and trust that no action will be taken by the people of El Paso which will cause an estrangement between our two communities."

HUNT WIRES VIEWS

The following telegram was received from Gov. Hunt of Arizona, and read to the meeting:

"There is considerable difference of opinion in Arizona on the merger of the Southern Pacific and El Paso and Southwestern railroads. The ambition of Phoenix and the Salt River Valley to be on a main line railroad may be satisfied by the proposed merger, but it does not eliminate other disqualifying features of the plan it is imperative that Arizona receive reduced freight rates.

"This does not seem possible if the proposed valuation of the El Paso and Southwestern is to be increased from $57,000,000 to $80,000,000, as a result of the merger. I am still in uncertain state of mind with reference to the matter, especially in the light of statements of J. S. Douglas, voicing his opposition of the plan.

"The Southwestern can ill afford to make a mistake in this important matter. I believe the statements of J. S. Douglas as outlined recently should receive careful consideration. I do not believe any hasty action should be taken on the matter until public opinion has had a chance to consider both sides of the question."

In a telegram received from J. S. Douglas, millionaire mining man and brother of Walter Douglas, president of the Phelps-Dodge Corporation, he stated that he was bitterly opposed to the merger, and believed that, including the Salt River Valley, the proposed merger is a bad thing for the people and the industries.

"I believe that if the people should decide that it prejudicial to public interest, and to the industries of this section of the country, the Intertate Commerce Commission will disapprove the merger," the telegram stated.

HALF MILLION ASKED IN ALIENATION SUIT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OAKLAND, June 27.—A suit for $500,000 damages for alleged alienation of the affections of her husband Lawrence Kelley, was filed in the Superior Court here today by Mrs. Jessie Schouler Kelley of Berkeley against her father-in-law, F. J. Kelley, wealthy Chicago wall paper manufacturer and his wife. The younger Kelley met the plaintiff in Honolulu two years ago and they were later married at San Jose, Cal., near which city the elder Kelley has a blooded stock farm, according to the complaint. An estrangement was brought about later by Kelley's parents, the plaintiff avers.

LAYS FALL TO LAST DRINK

Trusted Employee Charged With Gambling Away Company's Money Faces Prison Sentence

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DETROIT, June 27.—The designers of the gaming houses of France plan their palaces of chance with an eye for psychological as well as architectural effects. To leave the "casino" after quitting the gaming-room, one must pass through the "bar." The gambler has won or lost. He stops for a "peg" to drown his sorrow or celebrate his success. He gets renewed courage. He returns from another go at "the little horses" or the "red and black." And the law of gambling averages favoring the house, he usually goes home with less money than he came away with.

Perhaps the proprietor of a blind pig somewhere on Chene street, in laying out bar and card tables, did not reason with the psychological subtlety of a master gambler. Perhaps the arrangement came about by chance. And perhaps, as John Wosiura insists, it was not his taking a drink, but the nature of the drink he took that caused all his difficulties.

At any rate, when Wosiura left the blind pig he left some $600 behind him. And the $600 did not belong to him, but to the Detroit Steamship and Foreign Exchange Agency, 4670 Dubois street, of which, up to that date, he had been a trusted employee for years.

Now he is in the County Jail awaiting sentence after pleading guilty before Judge Bartlett to a charge of the larceny by conversion of $623.78 from his employers and trying to figure out how it all happened.

"It wasn't the money that went to my head," he reflected aloud. "I have carried much larger sums for my employers. "It was the drink my friend gave me. There were five fellows playing stud poker and they invited me to join. I refused. I knew I had to deposit that money and was on my way to do it. I had just dropped off on the way to get a drink. But there was something funny about that drink. It began to work on me the moment I left the place and by the time I reached the bank I just knew I'd have to go back and try my luck at the poker game."

Wosiura's memory is vague on what immediately followed. He turned to the blind pig. He at the poker game. He recollection that the companions were Dr Joe, Charley and Frank, one of them thrust his pocket as he was white men to observe were the returning under Robert Stuart, 1812 established a winter The Astorians re- camp here from De- 1812, until March

Gen. Ashley of St. a party of 100 men, started on a hunting and trapping expedition into the Rocky Mountains. Privations and dangers reduced the number of followers to forty before the foothills were reached, but these forty included some of the history makers of the West, among whom was Hiram Scott. Gen. Ashley later released his trappers and Scott became a "free trapper." In the mountains Scott met Narcisse Le Clerc, who was with the Astorians, and they organized the second Northwestern Fur Company, the first one having been merged into the Hudson Bay Company.

HOW SCOTT DIED

On their way to St. Louis in 1828, with their fellow-pioneers to formally launch their company and to dispose of their first collection of peltries, Scott was taken ill with mountain fever. Two companions, Roi, "the man of the desert," and Bissonette, "the squaw man," remained with him, the three planning to float down the North Platte River, joining the rest of the party at the bluff about 100 miles below. Their moose-hide boat was upset about twenty miles west of the point where Fort Laramie now stands; provisions, powder, and guns being lost, but the men reached shore.

At this spot Scott was deserted by his companions and left to die. Washington Irving in his "Adventures of Capt. Bonneville" tells that Scott crawled over hills, sagebrush, and gullies for about seventy miles only to die at the foot of the bluff where he expected to rejoin his party, who had moved, on having been informed by his companions that Scott had died. The following summer part of the same party visited the bluff and found Scott's skeleton. Thus the wild and picturesque bluffs in the neighborhood of his lonely grave have ever since borne his name." His grave has been entirely obliterated in the lapse of years.

After the naming of the bluff, came the pilgrimages of the missionaries, and then the thousands of people on their way to settle the Willamette Valley and Puget Sound region in Oregon and Washington, the vast concourse that trailed overland to the golden coast in California, and the numbers that were driven on by religious zeal to establish the Mormon colonies in Utah. Then came the pony express with its myriad dangers and Indian wars. During the summer months there were so many wagons along this trail that an average of one wagon every five minutes passed through Mitchell Pass in Scotts Bluff Monument. Father De Smet said the Indians wondered if there was a great void in the East, so many white people had gone West over the Great White Medicine Road. The filmization of Emerson Hough's great novel "The Covered Wagon" depicts the heroic adventures of those sturdy pioneers who crossed the old Oregon Trail.

INDIAN BATTLES

Michell Pass was the scene of many Indian battles, one, par- Gen. Harney was in charge of the western military. About 1847 or 1848 Fort Fontenelle was es- ticularly, with a convoy when tablished at the foot of Scotts Bluff. It was later rebuilt during the Indian wars and although named Camp Shuman by its builder, Eugene Ware, it is known in the archives of the War Department as Fort Mitchell, in honor of Gen. D. D. Mitchell.

Recently a tunnel penetrating part of the monument was completed by the Bureau of Reclamation. It carries the Fort Laramie Canal of the North Platte project which waters approximately 107,000 acres of irrigable farm land.

The National Monument is reached from the town of Gering on a branch of the Union Pacific System and from the city of Scotts Bluff on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad.

INTENDED JOKE FATAL TO FRENCH OFFICIAL

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, June 27.—M. Mureuillat, City Councilor at Esquiule, thought he would play a joke on a group of young bicyclists who were passing through the city, so he jumped into the middle of the street and waved his arms like a traffic officer for them to stop. One of the riders was unable to halt, lost control of his bicycle and crashed into the Councilor, who was knocked to the street and died later at a hospital.

USES MANY LANGUAGES TO WIN HER

Vice-Consul to Holland Weds Woman He Courted in Varied Tongues

DETROIT, June 27.—When Albert M. Doyle, Vice-Consul at the American Embassy in Amsterdam, Holland, was studying French in an American college several years ago he never dreamed that his linguistic ability was one day to win him a bride.

Yet it was through his fluency with Gallic verbs and participles that he was enabled to be of service to Mlle. Odette Lebrosse when she first arrived in Detroit, two years ago.

They were married in the Church of St. Theresa. Then they left on their honeymoon and in July, as a final step in their two-year-old romance they will sail for Amsterdam, where Mr. Doyle will resume his consular duties.

During the World War Mlle. Lebrosse left her home in Normandy and obtained a position as translater for the American army officials. She had studied English in school and had long cherished an ambition to visit the United States.

When the hostilities had ceased Mlle. Lebrosse came to Detroit, where she became associated with the F. F. Ingram Company as confidential secretary of Frederck F. Ingram, Sr. Shortly afterward the one-time translator became acquainted with Mr. Doyle. Their mutual ability to converse in several tongues drew them together, and their friendship continued, even when Doyle was called to Holland.

Returning to America a fortnight ago, on a two months' leave of absence, Mr. Doyle persuaded Mlle. Lebrosse to return to Europe with him. The wedding ceremony was simple, after the fashion of the Normandy townspeople. It was followed by a reception and breakfast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Fish of 8329 Lawton avenue, with whom Mrs. Doyle has made her home during her stay in Detroit.

DISCOVERIES LINK GIRL TO MAIL THEFT

Apartment Search Yields Plunder; $410,000 in Gold Certificates in Box

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, June 27.—Search today of the luxurious apartment in Kansas City of Dorothy Wagner, arrested in Tulsa, Okla., as a suspect in the $3,000,000 Rondout mail robbery, led the police to what they believe is a part of the plunder taken by the train bandits.

A safety deposit box rented by the Wagner girl in the Pioneer Trust Company, Kansas City, also was searched and revealed $410,000 in gold certificates.

A second box issued to Louise Brown, alias Louise Drafka, alias Louise Newton, now held prisoner here, will be searched as soon as the key arrives in Kansas City from Chicago.

Police believe Dorothy Wagner is the wife of Willie Newton, who was wounded in the hold-up of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul mail train.

Shippers From Three States Will Organize

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27.—Shippers and allied organizations of Arizona, Nevada and California will meet here July 11, Norman H. Sloane, manager of the California Delevopment Association, announced tonight. Production, markets, distribution and trade channels, analysis of transportation needs and anticipated car requirements will be studied by the shippers' regional advisory board, which will be organized at the July meeting. This board, Sloane's announcement states, will be the twelfth organized in the United States to promote informal settlements of all questions directly affecting shippers and carriers. The advisory boards, he stated, are designed to form a common meeting ground between shippers and carriers.

FOREIGN ORDERS AID CANADA LUMBERMEN

SLACK BUSINESS AVERED BY ENORMOUS DEMAND FROM ABROAD

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) June 27.—Lumber mills of British Columbia are rushed with orders and are running to capacity to fill ten boats before July 10. A few weeks ago the mills of this Province were faced with a shutdown for want of business. Today they are pleading with the buyers for more time.

An order for 5,000,000 feet was booked recently. New York yards are taking several million feet of small material. Port Sudan wants a shipload of ties. China has taken half a cargo of Neuchang cutting and half a cargo of Taku Bar ties. Australia has a cargo cutting here and Japan has an order on the books for 2,000,000 feet.

Nearly 20,000,000 feet of lumber business stands on the books of the local mills for foreign export.

A local order of 2,000,000 feet was placed today by the Pacific Construction company for the construction of a grain elevator jetty in the harbor. About 800,000 feet of this is in 12 by 12's.

A hydroelectric project now under consideration contemplates the sending of power by wire from Isle Maligne on the Saguenay River in Canada, a distance of 550 miles, into New York City.

SCIENCE FINDS GRIEF FOR BUGS

Colloid Chemists Discover Aids for Farmer

Poison Can be Made to Stick to Plant Leaves

Electricity Solves Problem in Laboratory

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MADISON (Wis.) June 27.—A plus or a minus sign on your Paris green determines whether it will stick to the potato plants or wash off during the first rain.

This true miracle tale which links the dirt farmer with the highly specialized and technical chemist is told by Prof. J. H. Mathews, head of the department of chemistry in the University of Wisconsin.

It is part of his attractive lure, it might as well be admitted at the start, to interest the public in a proposed laboratory for the study of colloid chemistry at the university. But it's a fair yarn, and the insect spray is a bright example of colloid chemistry's operation.

Colloid chemistry deals for finely divided substances in suspension, as distinguished from solutions. Smoke, for instance, is a suspension of carbon particles in vapor, and is a colloid. In the insect spray solid particles of poison are suspended in a liquid.

IT'S ELECTRICAL

"It is common knowledge that the surfaces of all substances carry charges of electricity," says Prof. Mathews, returning to the potato bug and caterpillar subject.

"The charge on green leaves is negative. The charge on lead arsenate as originally prepared for insect sprays also was negative. These like charges would repel one another, and the poison would be washed or blown off the leaves in a short time.

"A colloid chemist decided to give the poison particles a positive charge.

"The poison looked just the same as before, and it was equally deadly in either case. But the attraction between positive poison and negative leaf became as strong as the repulsion had been before.

"When the leaf withered in the fall there was still a fatal dose clinging on for any hungry insect. The disovery is worth millions to orchardists, gardeners and owners of fine shade trees."

SAVES CATTLE

Cattle dip in the Southwest was likewise improved. The original dipping solution had to be made so strong that it took the hair off the animals and blistered their skin.

A colloidal chemist found a way to make the dip stick faster to the animals treated, so weaker material could be used to the saving of the cattle, but the equal discomfort of the ticks.

Colloid chemistry also will determine the hardiness of wheat for winter. Formerly it was necessary to test by slow and patient planting. It was found, however, that hardiness comes from the presence in the sap of colloids which bind the water and prevent freezing. Such analysis in a laboratory will give the same result now as six months' observation of plants.

Colloids spell dollars to the farmer.

Medicine and industry will profit equally with agriculture from the development of colloid chemistry, according to Prof. Mathews. His sceme for a laboratory is that advocated by the committee on colloids of the National Research Council. The committee proposes to spend a million dollars for equipment and endowment, the laboratory to be located at some representative university and available to scientists from everywhere.

Wisconsin is the leading bidder for the location.

NOTICIAS MUNDIALES DE ULTIMA HORA

En obsequio a nuestros numerosos amigos de habla española, y para beneficio de los lectores americanos de "The Times" que estudien esa lengua, publicamos diariamente esta columna en castellano, con un extracto de las más importantes noticias de última hora.

Buena parte del futuro progreso de Los Angeles, que es la metrópoli de los Estados Unidos que más cercana se halla a territorio latino-americano, habrá de depender de las relaciones que logremos establecer con nuestras hermanas, las repúblicas del sur. Para que lleguen a ser enteramente cordiales, no hay nada tan importante como que nuestros ciudadanos se familiaricen con la lengua castellana. Tan se dan cuenta de este hecho nuestros habitantes, que hay al presente más de 25,000 personas que estudian español en Los Angeles. A ellas les conviene leer todos los días esta columna, en la que encontrarán español correcto y enteramente moderno.

NOTAS TELEGRAFICAS

El Programa Democrático Está Todavía en el Aire

NUEVA YORK, Junio 27.—Independientemente de la cuestión de quién salga designado, hay que convenir en que ha sufrido una grave descompostura la máquina de la campaña democrática. Cuando Forney Johnson, de Alabama, propuso a Oscar W. Underwood, arrojó al motor de dicha máquina la llave de tuercas de la lucha contra el Klan. Los mejores mecánicos del partido han estado trabajando día y noche en la comisión de resoluciones para ver de sacar la llave de tuercas, causando el menor daño posible. Todavía no tienen éxito en sus afanes, y, goteando sudor, y sucios por haber luchado contra la lesión más seria que se ha hecho al poder del partido en estos últimos cincuenta años, tal vez puedan presentar mañana en la mañana a la convención su dictamen acerca de la "plataforma".

Si esta comisión de peritos no pudiere hacer trabajar los cuatro cilindros del motor, entonces los delegados mismos atacarán desde la tribuna el problema del Klan. Hágese lo que se haga, el motor de los demócratas va a funcionar mal durante toda la campaña, y sólo tres de sus cilindros trabajarán simultáneamente.

Dos de las cláusulas, que se refieren al Klan, siguen todavía ante la comisión de resoluciones. Hasta que la convención se entere de los hechos concretos del dictamen, no se sabrá si la comisión informará sobre una o sobre ambas de esas cláusulas; presentando una de ellas como las conclusiones de la mayoría, y la otra como el mejor parecer de una minoría. Ocho miembros de la subcomisión se han empeñado, según se dice, en que no se mencione en la "plataforma" el nombre del Klan. Han concentrado su atención en solicitar libertad religiosa y política. Otros tres miembros exigen se ataque al Klan por su nombre, y en lenguaje terminante se le elimine para siempre, negándole el apoyo y la tolerancia democráticos.

Bill Bryan Pierde su Sombrero y su Reloj

NUEVA YORK, Junio 27.—William J. Bryan es un veterano de la Convención Nacional Democrática. Por lo tanto, su hábito creciente de perder sus cosas no puede atribuirse a olvidos provenientes de excitación o nerviosidad.

Pero ayer ocurrió que no sólo perdió el "Commoner" su sombrero, tocándole en suerte una extraña prenda de fieltro en el mitin que ayer celebró en el Waldorf-Astoria la comisión de "plataforma", sino que también perdió su chaleco y su reloj.

El sombrero de Bryan sigue aún entre los dispersos, pero hoy le fueron devueltos sus reloj de oro y su chaleco. Como estaba haciendo mucho calor, se quitó en la sala de la comisión el chaleco, en uno de cuyos bolsillos reposaba su cronómetro, y al ir en busca de su sombrero, se olvidó de las otras prendas, dando por resultado que las dejara abandonadas cuando se retiró. No las extrañó hasta anoche, en que dió cuenta de la pérdida al administrador del hotel. Chaleco y reloj le fueron devueltos esta mañana.

Honolulú Da la Bienvenida

HONOLULU, Junio 27.—"Aloha, Los Angeles!" "¡Hola, Hawaii!" "¡Sean otra vez bienvenidos!" "¡Cuánto gusto de ver de nuevo a estas buenas gentes de Honolulú!" Estas alegres salutaciones resonaban esta mañana en la forma más cordial y espontánea cuando el ufano vapor "City of Los Angeles", gallardo en su remozada belleza, entró majestuosamente en este puerto con una gran delegación de hombres de negocios de Los Angeles y sus familias a bordo.

Se trataba del encuentro de viejos amigos. Desde hace dos años en que les sirvió de lazo de unión la Compañía de Vapores de Los Angeles, sus relaciones sociales y de negocios se han ido robusteciendo. Así pues, cuando el "City of Los Angeles", después de haber pasado algunos meses en manos de hábiles operarios, volvió al servicio de Hawaii con la tercera excursión anual de la Cámara de Comercio de Los Angeles, se organizó una especie de fiesta del amor con adornos de las islas.

NOTAS LOCALES

Cerca de Balboa se Ha Confiscado un Cargamento de Licor

Los aduaneros de Los Angeles arrestaron a cinco individuos ayer temprano, después de haber sorprendido a una banda de matuteros de licor que acababa de desembarcar de una goleta un cargamento de bebidas embriagantes en la solitaria playa de Irvine Cove, a cinco millas al sur de Balboa. Los empleados aduanales confiscaron licor valuado en $12,000 y tres autos valorados en $11,000.

Dice el Capitán Robert F. Martin, quien con dos ayudantes dirigió el golpe, que la importante captura fue fruto de una semana de observación en un lugar aislado, al que sólo puede llegarse por veredas de montaña relativamente desconocidas.

Sigue diciendo el Capitán Martin que la aparición de un automóvil a la entrada del cañón donde estaban ocultos los aduaneros, fue la primera indicación de que venían ya los matuteros. Ese coche fue seguido por otros dos, y una hora más tarde ya se había traído a la playa el primer bote abarrotado de licor. Después de varias horas de trabajo, dice el Capitán Martin que pudieron los contrabandistas transportar desde la playa hasta los tres automóviles, 100 cajas de whisky y licores finos, y 104 galones de alcohol de grano.

En esos momentos, dice el Capitán Martin que él y sus ayudantes se dejaron ver y ordenaron a los cinco individuos que estaban en los autos, que se apearan. Después de desarmar a los presos, con la ayuda de dos tenientes sheriffs del condado de Orange, los funcionarios de aduanas pusieron a buen recaudo a los contrabandistas.

Wright ganó por tres tiros, logrando una anotación de 72 para los dieciseis agujeros, en tanto que su rival tuvo que contentarse con 75.

Tennis

WIMBLEDON, Junio 27.—Todos los americanos avanzaron hoy en la tarde en Wimbledon, excepto la señora Wightman, a quien le tocó ser la víctima en el diario sacrificio que ofrece Suzanne Lenglen a la galería y a la cancha. La señora Wightman sobrepujó a sus predecesoras en prolongar los momentos en que se rehacía; pero después de forzar las aperturas en ocasiones, perdió esas oportunidades de hacer disminuir los segurísimos tantos de Suzanne. Las anotaciones de hoy fueron 6-0, 6-0, y Suzanne no ha llegado a perder un solo juego.

JAPANESE BOAT WINS ENTRY RACE

Kasado Maru at Honolulu Before Exclusion Provision of Law Takes Effect

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

HONOLULU, June 27.—The Japanese steamship Kasado Maru won its race to enter territorial waters of the United States before the Japanese exclusion provision of the new immigration law becomes effective, July 1. It reached here today with 360 Japanese and eight Koreans aboard.

As this trip was a special one, the Kasado Maru will not continue on to the American mainland, but will return at once to Japan, sailing tomorrow. All of the passengers disembarked here.

Immigration officials here said today that most of the Japanese arriving on the ship were strangers to Hawaii. Very few old residents were on the passenger list, they said, while many Japanese brides were included.

About 100 of the 611 Japanese who reached here last Saturday will be required to face a special board of inquiry to establish their eligibility to enter territory of the United States, immigration officials stated today. The others, it was added, already have satisfied the officials of their right to admission.

Sorlie Defeats Gov. Nestos in North Dakota

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

FARGO (N. D.) June 27.—A. G. Sorlie, Nonpartisan League candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in Wednesday's primary election, swung into the lead over Gov. R. A. Nestos, when eighty-eight additional precincts had reported tonight. Nestos has conceded his defeat.

The latest figures gave Sorlie a lead of 168 over Nestos.

Returns from 2013 precincts out of 2108 in the State give Sorlie, 67,914; Nestos, 67,746; Moe, 5784.

ORDER AFFIRMED IN ACTOR EQUITY CASE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, June 27.—The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court today unanimously affirmed the order of Supreme Court Justice McCook denying an injunction to the Producing Managers' Association against the Actors' Equity Association and the Managers' Protective Association. The injunction was sought to restrain the defendants from carrying out a contract providing for the employment of at least 80 per cent of Equity members in theatrical casts presented by members of the Managers' Protective Association. The contract also provides for the same percentage of equity members for vaudeville performances.

OFFICERS KILL MANY PREDATORY ANIMALS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, June 27.—Losses to date among predatory animals as a result of the war of extermination which is being carried on in connection with the State campaign against the foot-and-mouth disease, are estimated by the State Department of Agriculture to total 3200 killed, with coyotes suffering heaviest in the slaughter.

Shotgun and poison squads of the State and Federal governments have actually accounted for 690 of the enemy. Over 2500 more are presumed to have fallen victim to 100,000 poison baits.

FIRST "PINCH" MADE BY MRS. MacARTHUR

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

MANILA, June 27.—Mrs. Douglas MacArthur, notable figure in Manila society, who recently was commissioned a policewoman, made her first arrest today. Mrs. MacArthur sought the appointment to enable her the better to carry on the work of prevention of cruelty to animals, in which he has been long interested. She took into custody the driver of a caromata, or native conveyance, charging him with abusing his horse. The man pleaded guilty and paid a fine in the municipal [illegible]

...national pact, adopted nine ...after the Greek occupation ...in 1919, was Turkey's ...of independence. Un-...pact was signed the Turk-...did not dare hope ...much. Mustafa Kemal ..., apparently despair-...gaining full independence for his country, sought an American mandate.

When the Harbord mission visited Turkey in 1919 to investigate the proposed American mandate for Armenia, they found the Turkish Nationalists already sufficiently organized to control the eastern provinces. Gen. Harbord met and talked with Mustafa Kemal Pasha, whom he described in his report as "a former general officer in the Turkish army, who commanded with distinction an army corps at the Dardanelles and who appears to be a young man of force and keen intelligence."

He added: "The aim of the Nationalist or National Defense party, as its adherents style it, as stated by Mustafa Kemal Pasha, its head, is the preservation of the territorial intergrity of the empire under a mandatory of a single disinterested power, preferably America."

HOPE IN AMERICA

On September 9, 1919, the Nationalist Congress, held in Sivas, appealed formally over the signature of its president, Mustafa Kemal, to the President and Senate of the United States to investigate and visit all the confines of the Ottoman Empire.

In a statement given out on October 15 of that year Mustafa Kemal said: "The Nationalist party recognized the necessity of the aid of an impartial foreign country. It is our aim to secure the development of Turkey as she stood at the armistice. We have no expansionist plans, but it is our conviction that Turkey can be made a rich and prosperous country if she can get a good government. Our government has become weakened through foreign interference and intrigues. After all of our experiences we are sure that America is the only country able to help us.

All this is taken from the manuscript of the Harbord report, which, I believe, is another of the important documents on the Near East which has never been published in full, with all its annexes. The Turkish Nationalist appeal was unheard and unanswered in America. The Harbord mission, however, adopted their viewpoint that the mandatory should control all the empire, at least as it stood at the armistice. But all interest in America was centered in the proposed mandate for a separate Armenia, which the report dismissed with the words: "There is no wisdom in now incorporating Turkish territory in a separate Armenia—no matter what the aspirations of the Armenians are."

ARMENIANS WEAK

It went on to say: "Even before the war the Armenians were far from being in the majority in the region claimed as Turnish Armenia, excepting in a few places. In the territory untouched by war from which Armenians were deported the ruined villages are undoubtedly due to Turkish deviltry, but where the Armenians advanced and retreated with the Russians their retaliatory cruelties unquestionably rivaled the Turks in their inhumanity. . . .

"From the standpoint of this mission the capacity of the Armenian to govern himself is something to be tested under supervision. With that still in doubt, the possibility of an Armenian minority being given authority over a Moslem majority against whom its hearts are filled with rancour for centuries of tyranny may well justify apprehension particularly since the unfortunate occurrence of Smyrna."

The Turks in 1919 were bitterly disappointed by the failure of America to respond to their appeal. Today they rejoice that we did not answer their invitation.

Indeed, in the pride of a victory beyond the dreams of anyone, there are Turks now who forget the situation in which they were five years ago. They sometimes chide as lacking patriotism those who were then weak and discouraged enough to seek Turkey's salvation in an American mandate. They forget or do not know that Mustafa Kemal Pasha himself was one of these.

COMPANY IN MOVE TO RECOVER ISLAND

STATE NOTIFIED ATTEMPT WILL BE MADE TO RESCIND DEED

SACRAMENTO, June 27.—Executive officers of the State government, including Gov. Richardson, the State Controller and members of the Board of Control, today were served with a notice by the Lauritzen Company that steps were being taken to rescind a deed by which the State several years ago acquired title to Wood Island, at Rio Vista, in connection with river improvement work in the delta.

The action of the company is the result of a dispute regarding the use of land on the island, and may lead to litigation in the courts. Members of the Board of Control state that the former owners of the land have been making use of it through sufferance, but recently were ordered to vacate the island when it was learned that residents of Rio Vista were being charged for bathing and other pleasure purposes.

BOUNDARY LINE NOT PERMANENT

Texas-Oklahoma Divided by Changing River Bank

Court Decision Brings Oil Wealth to Uncle Sam

Land Between Shore and Midstream is Federal

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 27.—The last act in the so-called "hundred-million-dollar" river-bed drama is to be staged in the Big Bend section of Red River on July 1, when Frederic A. Delano, United States Supreme Court Receiver, delivers into possession of the Secretary of the Interior all property in that portion of the bed of the stream that belongs to the United States. That property includes scores of producing oil wells, pipe lines, offices, equipment and that section of the stream for the entire 539 miles of its course that lies between the middle of the river and the south bank, the latter being the boundary between Oklahoma and Texas and between United States property and Texas property, and last, but not least, between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 that is the net proceeds from the sale of oil on government property.

It would appear, under the court's order, that possession might not be held perpetually by the government of some oil wells that are near the boundary. Indeed, it may be that some fine morning Uncle Sam will awaken and find that one or more of his oil wells has been shifted within the territory and jurisdiction of Texas.

The court, in upholding the report of the commission that established both the medial line and the south bank of the river in the Big Bend area, said that "the boundary between the two States is not an unswerving line, but a river bank; and where, through the natural and gradual process of erosion or accretion the bank is changed, the boundary follows the change. We said so in the opinion and decree which were to guide the commissioners."

In another order of the same date, June 9, 1924, the court said: "It is further adjudged, ordered and decreed that the line delineated and set forth in the report and on the maps accompanying the same and referred to therein be established and declared to be the true boundary between the States of Texas and Oklahoma along the part of the Red River designated in such report; subject, however, to such changes as may hereafter be wrought by the natural and gradual processes known as erosion and accretion."

The accounts of the receiver are being audited, and if the Secretary of the Interior, is ready on July 1 to receive the property the receiver will be discharged. Net disbursements are to be made to owners of property in Texas decreed to them under the boundary decision. Thereafter, disbursements and settlements with claimants are to be made by the Secretary of the Interior. These will include awards to placer-mining claimants under the Watson Act, which President Coolidge recently sought to have repealed.

REPAYS AID BY PUSH TO CAR TRACKS

Youth Hurls Benefactor in Train's Path; Woman Severely Injured

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, June 27.—Vincent Miguraio, youthful clothing maker, who repaid a woman's charity in paying his subway fare by snatching her pocketbook and pushing her to the tracks in front of a train coming southward into the B.M.T. station at Forty-ninth street, was held without bail in West Side Court. His examination was postponed by Magistrate Brough, as the prisoner said he wished to communicate with his family.

His victim was Mrs. Marie Wooster of 40 West Forty-sixth street. She is in Bellevue with a fractured left knee and probable internal injuries. The train was within fifty feet of her when Miguraio's push, as he snatched her purse, sent her to the tracks. She was struck and thrown parallel with the rails and thus escaped being ground to death.

Miguraio had stopped her at the fare booth, told her he was penniless and wanted to get to Brooklyn. Thereupon she put his fare in the turnstile and both went upon the platform. A moment later at the platform edge he was seen to put his hand on her shoulder and push her grabbing at her pocketbook. He missed it, but she fell to the tracks with a scream.

Miguario is 18 years of age.

DEPORTATION SAVES MONEY FOR STATE

NONRESIDENT INMATES OF INSTITUTIONS SENT TO THEIR HOMES

SACRAMENTO, June 27.—Walter G. Wagner, director of the State department of institutions, in a report filed today in the office of Gov. Richardson, claims a saving to the State in a year of approximately $316,000 through the department's program of deporting to their home States and foreign countries nonresident inmates of the hospitals for the insane and the reform schools.

The report shows the number of persons deported was 551. The amount of saving claimed is based upon the average cost of maintaining inmates in the hospitals and reform schools and the average length of time they remain as wards of the State.

Your Part

During the Shortage of Electricity

Save Current all You Can and Enable Our Farmers to Maintain Production

A serious shortage of electric power now exists in Southern California.

The Power Administrator, appointed during the emergency by the State, has ordered an immediate reduction of 25 per cent in the use of electric energy for all purposes.

Southern California agriculture depends to a large extent on electric power to pump water essential for irrigation. A cut of 25 per cent in the use of this power cannot be made by agriculture without serious damage to orchards and loss of crops through lack of water.

Electricity is essential to our agriculture. Electrically operated pumping stations furnish most of the water used for irrigation.

Because of light winter rains, there is little moisture stored in the soil this year and more than the usual amount of water is therefore needed. Water drawn direct by gravity from our mountain watersheds is also scarce, necessitating more pumping. As a result the below-the-surface level of water has dropped so that our wells must go deeper and therefore require more electricity for pumping.

The Southern California Edison Company, which supplies most of the agriculture of Southern California, has a contract with the City of Los Angeles to supply any current that may be needed by the City in excess of that produced by its own municipal plants. Due to the shortage of current from the City plants, the Edison Company is delivering extra current, not ordinarily required, to the City in an amount that equals or exceeds the 25 per cent cut that it has been compelled to make in the current that it is delivering to agriculture.

Farm production in Southern California with an annual valuation of one hundred and eighty million dollars is in grave danger if this electric current essential for pumping irrigation water cannot be supplied.

The undersigned Growers Associations representing 14,000 families appeal to the public-spirited citizens of Los Angeles to practice every possible economy in the use of electricity so that the power vital to agricultural production may be supplied. Your co-operation is needed.

Ways You Can Save Electricity In Your Home

1. Remove all bulbs from lighting fixtures not absolutely needed.
2. Use smaller bulbs wherever possible.
3. Unscrew unnecessary bulbs in chandeliers and group lights.
4. Turn off lights when not needed (listen to your radio in the dark.)
5. Arrange so two or more persons can read from same lamp.
6. Use porch, hall, garage and basement lights only when immediately required.
7. Put away your electric irons, toasters, percolaters, waffle irons, etc.—use kitchen range.
8. Enlist the aid of servants and all members of your family to save electricity.

Practice These Savings In Your Business

1. Discontinue all local sign and display lighting.
2. Discontinue all flood lighting.
3. Use only half the usual lighting in show windows.
4. Reduce interior lighting by removing at least one fourth the lamps.

MIDDLE WEST NEWS IN BRIEF

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DENVER, June 27.—After a five-foot fall of snow and three snow slides, the automobile road over Milner Pass on the Fall River Road has been opened at last. A ribbon defile, just wide enough to allow the passage of cars, has been cut through a giant snow drift that is as much as twenty-four feet thick and more than 1000 feet long. The untimely snow held up tourists who had come to Colorado as a result of the advertising campaign of railroads, at a total expenditure of nearly $570,000 and efforts of the National Park service men to clear the road were defeated by three snowslides in succession.

The heroic equestrian statue of Buffalo Bill, recently completed by Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, has been started from New York for Cody, Wyo., where it will rest upon a great stone pedestal overlooking the Shoshone River. It will be unveiled July 4 by delegations from the Buffalo Bill American Association.

LOUISVILLE

LOUISVILLE, June 27.—The Vedder Oil Company, Pittsburg, brought in a gusher on Fanny's Creek, Cumberland county, yesterday at 385 feet. The well is good for 100 barrels daily. After flowing several hours the well was capped. This is an important test well in an old pool and it offers a wider drilling range. It is about ten miles east of Burkesville.

INDIANAPOLIS

INDIANAPOLIS, June 27.—One of the worst windstorms of the season visited Portland and Jay counties early yesterday, leaving damage in its wake estimated in thousands of dollars. Streets in business and residence districts of the city were impassable in many places, being blocked with large uprooted trees, telegraph poles and large limbs.

Terre Haute yesterday laid the cornerstone of its municipal stadium on the site of the old fair grounds and famous four-cornered race track. The stadium, which is intended to accommodate all athletic events of the city, will be completed by Thanksgiving Day, according to present plans and will cost $400,000 when finished.

A new auto bus line has been inaugurated at Shoals, which gives direct connection with Indianapolis, Louisville and other points. The bus runs from Shoals to Bedford by way of Trinity Springs and Williams. There it connects with other bus lines.

KANSAS CITY

KANSAS CITY, June 27.—Kansas City has had twenty-one rains in the last thirty days, for a total of 6.37 inches. Rainfall this month is above normal, but considering the last three months it is below normal.

Senator James A. Reed had a setback yesterday. The inflammation, which has caused him much discomfort, spread to his right hip and he again had a temperature. It was added, however that while the patient was in pain and uncomfortable, his condition was not considered dangerous.

Harvest hands continued to leave Kansas City yesterday for the Kansas wheat belt. In all, about 3500 men have gone into the wheat fields from Kansas City.

At St. Joseph twenty persons were injured, eight of them seriously enough to be taken to hospitals, and a dozen small residences near the northeast edge of the town were demolished by a windstorm late yesterday.

ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, June 27.—Mr. and Mrs. Ingram F. Boyd and their son, Ingram, Jr., expect to depart July 4 for Southern California for a two months' stay.

DES MOINES

DES MOINES, June 27.—There was heavy rainfall throughout this part of the Missouri Valley again this morning. The total in Sioux City for June to date, is nearly five inches, a full inch more than normal for the month. At Norfolk, Neb., there was a fall of two inches this morning, bringing the total for the month to thirteen inches. Lowlands, ordinarily choicest corn and small grain land, are like swamps and weeds have grown so that corn fields resemble meadows.

Thousands of acres of valuable farm lands in Woodbury and Monona counties in Iowa and in Union, Clay, and Yankton counties in South Dakota, are being ruined by the ever-restless Missouri River, which has been more restless than ever during the last two weeks of rainy weather. The greatest damage is near Yankton, where several ranches are inundated. Houses and barns were floated away. At one place a new channel is being cut in the river and an island of several thousand acres being formed.

ST. PAUL

ST. PAUL, June 27.—Dr. Walter Courtney of Brainerd, for twenty-five years chief surgeon of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railroads, died at the Northern Pacific Hospital here after an operation for an intestinal obstruction. He came here ten days ago for the operation.

MILWAUKEE

MILWAUKEE, June 27.—The villa of Oscar Greenwald, vice-president of Gimbel Brothers, and general manager of their local store, was badly damaged by fire last night. The villa is on Beloit Road, in the town of Greenfield. The Greenwald family is in Europe.

John M. Teeling, former proprietor of the Hotel Miller, also at one time proprietor of the Hotel Whiting, Stevens Point, now a resident of Los Angeles, was sued for a divorce yesterday by his wife, Amanda, who charges cruelty, nonsupport and desertion. Mr. Teeling deserted his wife May 19, 1923, she charges.

AKRON

AKRON (O.) June 27.—Jack Weaver has resigned as Summit County Engineer, and his resignation, effective July 3, has been accepted by the Board of County Commissioners, it was announced by Commissioner Chairman Dan P. Stein. Weaver has been under fire since he was indicted by the alleged faulty paving of Portage Lake Drive.

A campaign to close moving-picture theaters on Sunday, which it is believed, will include Akron and its surrounding cities, has been launched in Kenmore. An affidavit for the closing of picture shows was filed with Mayor H. V. Johnson of Kenmore by Frank A. Niles, secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance. Mayor Johnson and Chief of Police William Poalson immediately notified the owners of the two Kenmore picture houses that the shows must be closed next Sunday or prosecution will follow.

MINNEAPOLIS

MINNEAPOLIS, June 27.—Crop conditions in the territory served by the Milwaukee Railroad in Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota are excellent, with prospects of bumper crops virtually certain, Charles L. Kennedy, assistant general freight agent of the road, said yesterday after a two weeks swing over the Northwest. "Never have I seen crops of all kinds look so well and I have been making surveys every summer for ten years," Mr. Kennedy said.

Lauren Upson Eliminated in Golf Tourney

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

GREENWICH (Ct.) June 27.—Most of the wind was taken out of the sails of the 1924 intercollegiate golf championship this afternoon when Lauren Upson, the rangy, rosy-cheeked westerner, who came all the way from the University of California, was eliminated in the semifinal round. Upson's conqueror was H. W. Taft, a Dartmouth College senior from Montclair, N. J., who won the margin of 2 and 1 and thereby upset a somewhat premeditated plan for an intersectional final.

The other survivor for the 1924 honors which will be fought out on the Greenwich Country Club course tomorrow was Dexter Cummings of Yale, the defending champion and a brother of the present holder of the women's national golf title. The sturdy son of old Eli defeated J. J. Mapes of Harvard in the other semifinal match winning an impressive victory by a margin of 4 and 3. Cummings will enter tomorrow's final round a heavy favorite.

AMERICANS ADVANCE AT WIMBLEDON

Helen Wills is Easy Victor as Are Suzanne Lenglen and Richards

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, June 17.—All the Americans advanced this afternoon at Wimbledon except Mrs. Wightman, who proved Suzanne Lenglen's daily sacrifice to the gallery and the court. Mrs. Wightman excelled her predecessors in prolonging rallies, but after occasionally forcing the openings lost these opportunities to break through Suzanne's unmarred record. Today's scores were 6-0, 6-0, and Suzanne has not yet lost a single game.

The American challenger, Miss Helen Wills, also won a handy victory, beating Mrs. Edgerton, 6-2, 6-2. The latter's persistent deceptive chop has numbered famous victims, but today Helen pleased her friends by her ability to win against the European's steady type of play. Whether she can later regain American control of fast shots is still a question. With the games of the first set 1-2 against her, Miss Wills took eight straight, running up 3-0 lead in the second set.

Miss Elizabeth Ryan beat Mrs. Phyllis Covell, 6-4, 7-5.

Playing rather too indolently, Vincent Richards took an unsatisfactory match from D. M. Grieg, a second-rate young Englishman, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2, 7-5. Richards's first service was going very poorly, while Grieg's was very effective. Aided also by the low cross-court volleys the latter won a well-merited set.

R. Norris Williams beat A. N. W. Dudley readily in straight sets. Wallis Meyer favors him to win the singles title, which places the American captain under a grave handicap, since the dean of English experts always has been unlucky in selections and bets.

Give Schedule for Valley Elk Golf Matches

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VISALIA, June 27.—The schedule of play for the Valley Elk golf matches, to be participated in by Elks of Modesto, Merced, Fresno, Visalia, Hanford, Tulare, Porterville and Bakersfield, has been announced by the committee. Visalia will play Fresno, Tulare will play Hanford, Porterville will play Bakersfield and Merced will play Modesto during July, dates to be fixed later.

Play will be thirty-six holes, eighteen on each course. Winners in the first match will play off in August and finals will be staged in September. A beautiful silver trophy cup won by Visalia last year is the prize.

The Visalia team will comprise the following players: M. S. Blois, Orval Overall, Harvey V. E. Gilmer, J. N. Young, E. J. Genereux, Carl Kathe, Harry C. Seipel, R. K. Morey, James Richardson, F. W. Hunter, with Frank Carson and Dr. F. G. Kellenberg as alternates.

Drivers Try Out Cars for Speed Event

Some thirty-four drivers are scheduled to try out their mounts tomorrow on the Culver City Speedway in preparation for the 100-mile free-for-all race to be staged on the Fourth of July.

According to W. A. Reid, who is managing the event, the race will be the longest ever held on a dirt track in the West. To allow only the fastest cars to compete, elimination trials are scheduled for Wednesday, at which time the entry list will be reduced to sixteen. Some of the most prominent dirt-track drivers in America have entered for competition.

A purse of more than $2500 is to be distributed among the winners. A shorter event of ten miles will precede the main race. This one will be for small cars.

The track has just been oiled and many dirt-track records up to 100 miles may be broken.

FRED WRIGHT OFF FOR EAST

Fred Wright, who finished up his preparation for the national amateur golf championship by defeating George Von Elm in a play-off at the California Country Club yesterday, leaves at 11:15 this morning for the East. In addition to the national golf event, Wright is planning to enter several other important tournaments. He will return in about three months.

REGAINS BRITISH TITLE

Walter Hagen, spectacular American professional, yesterday won the British open golf championship from a brilliant field of entries. Hagen finished with a grand total of 301 strokes for 72 holes, one ahead of E. R. Whitcombe, English star, who took second. In 1922 Hagen won the title, but last year Arthur Havers grabbed first honors.

SILVA-RIVERS IN DRAW

Fast Banties Put Up Whale of Bout in Holly Main Event—James J. Corbett Honored

Teddy Silva and George Rivers milled their way to a draw decision in the main event at the Holly boxing stadium last night. A big house witnessed the bouts. The judges, who seemed to be at variance with each other's views nearly all evening, disagreed in their verdict, one giving it to Silva and the other calling it a draw. It was then that the boxing Solomon, George Blake, came to the rescue and declared the fracas upsticks.

The first round was all Rivers, who fought with the viciousness of a famished tiger. He was all over Silva and floored him with a hard left to the jaw. Teddy stayed down for the count of three. The second was even. In the third Teddy came back like a forest fire and knocked Rivers down for the count of six with a right to the jaw. Both lads fought hammer-and-tongs in the final round, with honors about even. The decision was well received.

HONOR CORBETT

Just before the main event James Corbett, at one time champion heavyweight of the world, was introduced by that popular screen actor, Lionel Bellmore. Corbett was then presented with a wrist watch as a token of the esteem in which he is held by the Hollywood American Legion post. Jess Willard was also introduced and got a great reception. Among others introduced were Tommy Ryan, Ad Wolgast, Joe Rivers, Spike Robinson, Billy Papke and Tom McCarey (Uncle Tom) the grandest Roman of them all.

Johnny Jordan grabbed the verdict over Al Grunan. Al started out like a world beater and had the first round. In the second however, Johnny appeared to gauge about all Grunan had in his toppiece and arms and from that time until the end of the fourth, it was all Jordan. He kept up a machine-gun fire of lefts and rights to Al's classic features, landing two blows to Grunan's one. Near the end of the last round, Al swung a belated rally but the pardon came too late.

Harry Ritzer triumphed (oh, gosh) over Sailor Vincent. The sailor got into a favoring breeze in the first round and did well, but in the second Ritzer landed a cruel left in the commissary department that made the sailor feel as if he had run into a squall with full sail on. After that it was the doldrums for Vincent. The sailor was there with his usual fifty-seven varieties of windmills from the knees and almost from the floor at times. The judges thought they were at the Democratic convention and just simply couldn't gibe. Then Referee Blake, the good old soul that he is, jumped into the breach and raised Ritzer's hand.

JOE OUTCLASSED

Frankie Osner carried too many guns for Joe Medina—therefore Joe was on the short end at the finish of the fourth round. Frankie outsmarted Joe at all stages of the journey. He also smeared Medina with mittfuls of rights and lefts to the face but Joe stood the onslaught with rare gameness. In short—Frankie was just too high-class for Joe. Ce cela.

Pico Ramies, hors de combat through an injured mitt, gave place to George Edcell, who gained a de-

BENGALS CLEAN UP ON BEAVERS

Vernon Routs Portland by Score of 17 to 3

"Papa" Shellenback Twirls Tigers to Victory

Leverenz and Keefe Biffed for Twenty-one Hits

BY ROBERT E. RAY

Vinegar Bill Essick's Bengals went on a batting rampage yesterday and before the afternoon was over had chalked up a 17-to-3 victory over the Portland Beavers after one of the gosh-awfulest game of baseball ever perpetrated on the long-suffering public.

Frank Shellenback was the winning hurler and was presented with a baby buggy by his mates when he came to bat in the second inning, but not for being the winning pitcher. Shellenback recently became a papa which accounts for yesterday's gift.

Walter Leverenz and Dave Keefe were on the mound for the Ducks, we do not say pitched, and both were treated in a manner more befitting a football than a pitcher. The way the Tigers kicked Leverenz and Keefe around was something scandalous. Keefe, who pitched the last three innings, was socked for ten runs, seven coming in the eighth.

ALL HIT WELL

All of the Tigers were hitting the ball, every one of them getting at least one base hit, while Chadbourne, Hannah, Griffin and Shellenback got three each. Jim Poole made three hits for the Beavers, but his work around first base was nothing to write home about.

The Ducks got their first two men on base in the second when Poole singled and Brazill followed with a double against the right-field fence, but Shellenback pitched his way out of the hole without allowing a run to score. A great stop and throw to the plate by Slade prevented Poole from counting.

Vernon came back in its half of the second with two runs on three hits and a walk. In the third the Bengals collected two more off Leverenz, who was as wild as a Borneo flapper, with four safe swats.

Portland broke into the scoring in the fourth when Cox singled infield and went to second on Shellenback's wild throw. Poole's swat to center scored Cox and singles by Wolfer and Cochrane brought Poole home. The final Beaver marker was scored in the sixth when Poole, Brazill and High singled in succession. After that Shellenback was tighter with his hits than a Scotch clam, striking Poole, Brazill and High out in order in the eighth.

The Bengals finished up in a blaze of scoring, making three off Leverenz in the fifth, and ten off Keefe, who took up the hurling duties in the sixth, after Benton went in to bat for Leverenz. The eighth was a wild affair, eleven Tigers coming to bat. Rod Murphy was up twice in the horrible frame, delivering a double for his first effort and improving it with a triple on his second appearance of the inning.

There will be another today with Winters or Eckert due to hurl for the Beavers against Leon Cadore. The score:

FIRPO, WILLS TO MIX AUGUST 30

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

TRENTON (N. J.) June 27.—August 30, was announced today as a tentative date for the Firpo-Wills fight at Boyle's Thirty Acres, Jersey City. The announcement came from State Boxing Commissioner Newton A. Bugbe. Although the date is subject to the approval of Tex Rickard, promoter, and the two principals, it is believed that they will offer no objection.

JACK NEVILLE DEFEATED BY HAROLD THOMPSON

Former State Champ Is Eliminated by High School Golfer; Wright Wins by Three Strokes

BY CHARLES WEST

There was plenty of excitement at the California Country Club's invitation tournament yesterday. In the first place, Fred Wright won the play-off with George Von Elm for low medal honors, scoring a par 72 against a 75 for the Rancho star, and was awarded a handsome four-pint loving cup for his efforts. In the second place Jack Neville, many times holder of the State championship, was eliminated, 4 and 3, by Harold Thompson, a Glendale High School youngster playing from the Oakmont Country Club, and in the third place Allen Moser, youthful Wilshire wonder, disposed of Arthur Thompson of Flintridge, 5 and 4.

Today the semifinal rounds are to be played, Moser and Thompson scrapping for the right to meet the winner of the Harlow Hurley-Jack Tarrant match, Hurley having defeated Gordon Williams, 6 and 5, yesterday, while Tarrant was disposing of J. R. McKinnie, 4 and 3.

THEORY SMASHED

The more or less prevalent belief that Fred Wright is a fair-weather golfer was exploded yesterday when he displayed his grit in fighting an up-hill battle until the fourteenth hole, battling desperately to overcome a four-stroke lead Von Elm piled up on the first three holes. He accomplished the task by sensational putting, sinking three twenty-footers, and one thirty-footer, and taking only twenty-eight putts during the entire round.

The play-off was particularly interesting to the hundreds of fans who surged around the course behind the two players because of the fact that both Wright and Von Elm were frequently in trouble, but almost invariably pulled out with sensational shots. Traps, rough, and bad lies meant little to these luminaries of the links, who kept the gallery applauding all the way around.

Wright started badly by hooking a ball out of bounds, and pushing his iron shot wide of the green, holding out a 6 while Von Elm scored a par 4. On the second Wright played his approach too enthusiastically, and took a 5 to Von Elm's 4. The third hole was a repetition, with Von Elm getting his par 3 while Wright took a 4, and the Rancho star had a lead of four strokes.

DROPS LONG ONE

The fourth and fifth were halved, and Wright got started on the sixth by sinking a thirty-foot putt for a birdie, and picked up a stroke on Von Elm, whose beautiful second shot made up for a sliced drive. The seventh also went to Wright with a par 3, while Von Elm got in trouble behind an adjacent house, and in spite of a remarkable pitch to the green had to be content with a 4.

Birdies on the eighth and ninth by Wright evened things up at the turn, each going out in 37. On the ninth Von Elm holed out a forty-foot chip shot for a par, after losing two strokes in the trap to the right of the apron.

Wright's tee shot was short on the tenth, while Von Elm pulled his ball into the rough, but made a beautiful run-up shot and holed out a 3, gaining an advantage of one stroke. Wright squared things on the eleventh when Von Elm obligingly took three putts and, after halving the twelfth and thirteenth, took the lead for the first time in the play-off with a twenty-foot putt on the fourteenth. He matched this with another on the fifteenth, and still another on the sixteenth, the last two lengthy putts scoring birdies. When Von Elm took a 6 on the sixteenth it was obvious that nothing could save the day for him, as Wright was four strokes ahead with only two holes to play. Von Elm cut this advantage to three on the seventeenth, profiting by Wright's

What Is Buick Going To Do?

Many Rumors Are Afloat Concerning Buick's Next Step in the Automotive World

WHAT is Buick going to do?

This question has been on the lips of everyone for the last few days. Always a subject of speculation among motorists and members of the industry alike, the plans of the Buick Motor Company for its 1925 year [illegible] come a topic of [illegible] everywhere since the [illegible] become current that [illegible] is [illegible] to be [illegible] special [illegible].

After [illegible] announcement of last year [illegible] the entire Buick line [illegible] was redesigned along entirely different lines, the public [illegible] ready to expect something equally startling [illegible] the [illegible] program. The introduction of four-wheel brakes on all Buick [illegible] in 1924, which [illegible] as [illegible] distinct surprise, [illegible] achievement for Buick that [illegible] itself into increased sales and into additional prestige for the Buick name. In fact, Buick's adoption of four-wheel brakes was the signal for a general shift throughout the industry to this kind of equipment. Indications are that practically every model brought forward during the current season will include this safety factor.

Having created such a focus of attention to its plans by the announcements of other years and the steps forward that Buick has made with the production of each new model, the public again looks to Buick to provide the season's greatest achievement in [illegible] motor[illegible].

[illegible] is [illegible] that [illegible] radical [illegible] the appearance [illegible] models. The overwhelming indorsement of the beauty and grace of the present design makes it seem almost certain that Buick will continue the general character [illegible] appearance which [illegible] 1924 models.

Of course, it is expected that there will be important refinements and improvements both outside and under the hood. In fact, Buick's policy of building automobiles has been so thorough in every phase that each new contribution [illegible] its line has been characterized by definite advances in better mechanical operation, riding qualities, economy and other features of internal design, as well as in the improvement of the external appearance and appointments.

Meanwhile, the entire Buick organization continues to remain silent. There is, however, a hint in this silence that presages something for the near future.

TODAY'S GAMES

First game, Lounsberry & Harris vs. Hollywood Sash & Door.

Second game, South Hollywood Merchants vs. Motion-Picture Players' Association.

Two games will be played this afternoon at Allen Hancock Park, Hollywood, which should attract a large crowd of Movie City fans. In the first, a Twilight League tilt, the Lounsberry & Harris outfit hooks up with the Hollywood Sash and Door crew in a battle that will be for second place, while the South Hollywood Merchants face the Motion-Picture Players' Association nine in the second struggle.

Much interest is being evinced in the first tilt, which brings together two teams that are tied for second place in the Twilight League standings.

The Welker Cochran nine recently dropped out of the league, but Clarke and Nicholson Realty Company immediately entered a team to fill the vacant spot. The Clarke & Nicholson team will take the same standing of the Cochran outfit.

The new team will play its first game a week from Monday against the Peck Realtors. Braven Dyer, star reporter and doggrel verse writer, has been signed to pitch for the Clarke & Nicholson team, which automatically makes them pennant contenders.

OBSERVATIONS by the INNOCENT BYSTANDER

W.M.H.

Young Stribling's chances against Harry Greb in their bout which is scheduled for the Fourth of July at Michigan City, don't look any too good after his showing against Tommy Loughran the other night in the Milk Fund fights. While Stribling was mussing around and winning a most unpopular decision over Loughran who never was any thing but a very ordinary battler, Greb was very decisively beating Moore, the British middleweight champion, who is said to be one of the best British scrappers to come to this country in many years.

Stribling will have a fair advantage in weight over Greb, but not much. He is fairly fast, fairly clever and a fair puncher. He doesn't stand out as unusually good in any line of fistic endeavor. Greb, on the other hand, is an experienced fighter, who is a regular windmill in action. He is extremely fast and fairly good as a hitter.

Greb has made most of his reputation against scrappers who couldn't hit. He won a decision over Tommy Gibbons, clever as Tommy is, because Tom couldn't hit hard enough to slow him down. Greb never did succeed in doing any damage to Tommy, but Tommy didn't do anything to Harry. Harry's constant effort to force the fighting won the verdict. He's very likely to repeat against Stribling and might stop the Georgia youngster.

One after another the European champions seem to bite the dust when they reach this country. Erminio Spalla is the latest. This individual, it may be remembered, not only walloped the tar out of all the heavyweights in Europe, but also succeeded in sticking fourteen rounds with Mr. Firpo, the justly celebrated Bull of the Pampas. He had Firpo on the floor a couple of times and claims that Firpo never really knocked him out.

Well, anyway, here is Gene Tunney, weighing some twenty-five pounds less than Firpo, beating Spalla so unmercifully that they have to stop the mess in the seventh round. That gives a pretty good line on the ability of Mr. Firpo. The next fighter to angle with Dempsey and have any chance of doing anything with the heavyweight champion, will have to be an American and will probably be one of our light heavies.

It is quite evident that the fair Suzanne can play tennis. Her latest victim is Mrs. George Wightman of Boston, better known as Hazel Hotchkiss of years gone by. Mrs. Wightman doesn't claim to be the greatest singles player in the world, she is no spring chicken, and went to Europe as a doubles player, taking part in the singles merely for the purpose of helping her doubles game, but Mrs. Wightman is far from being a dub in singles just the same.

And here comes Suzanne and disposes of Mrs. Wightman, 6-0, 6-0. We haven't had any reports on the subject, but we'll bet a dime that Helen Wills can't beat Mrs. Wightman a love set if you give her all week in which to do it. It looks very much as though the fair Suzanne is hitting the ball right on the nose and is a very likely winner over Miss Wills, painful though it is to admit it.

The final decision that Joie Ray will not take part in the 1500-meter run at Paris deprives the games of a feature contest that held promise of being the prize race of the Olympics. Ever since the Finn wonder, Nurmi, broke loose and began chopping off large sections of time from numerous world's records, folks have been anxious to see if he was really good enough to beat Joie Ray, whose record of running fast miles has never been approached.

Perhaps it is all for the best as Ray has not been in the best of shape this year, apparently having injured his legs with too much indoor running and it would have been a shame to see him swamped by Nurmi if he wasn't in shape. However, there are several mighty good runners in the 1500 meters for this country. Ray Watson and Ray Buker, both mid-West runners, have beaten Ray and have made remarkable time. Watson has been running the 800-meter event and has greatly improved his speed. He is likely to be the Olympic 1500 dark horse.

RIFLEMEN TO HOLD JULY FOURTH SHOOT

The Los Angeles Rifle and Revolver Club will hold a Fourth of July shoot at its Schuetzen Park range on Monterey Road, near Huntington Drive, the line of march including events for everything in the shape of a rifle, including the famous Schweitzercase musket of Bill Murphy.

The events scheduled will include a small bore prone match, a big bore prone match open to anything that can be taken out to the range, wheels on the gun not barred; a kneeling match, and a "practical match" for sporting rifles, five shots slow fire offhand and five shots rapid fire.

COLIMA AND ROCKSON TOP CARD AT VERNON

With Bert Colima and Mickey Rockson heading the card at Doyle's Vernon arena next Tuesday night, patrons of the mitt-slinging art are sure of some action. Rockson is a boy who is constantly tearing in and while doped to lose this fight, will carry plenty of support from the fans by reason of his aggressiveness.

Young Datto and Babe Herman in the semi-wind-up promise much action and Frankie Grandetta and Ernie Hood will oblige in the special event. Other bouts are:

Young Farrell vs. Ruby Levine, 122.
Walter Hall vs. Bud Shelby, 128.
Manny Kaplan vs. Jimmy Banks, 160.
Young Letty vs. Johnny Jarvis, 133½.

OLYMPIC GYMNAST IN POLY ALUMNI VODEVIL

Former Poly Athlete to Appear at Philharmonic Monday Night

Paul Krempel in One of His Favorite Gymnastic Stunts

PAUL KREMPEL, who won the Olympic ring and bar championship while competing for the United States at Antwerp in 1920 and nationally known gymnast, will be featured in one of the ten big acts that will take place at the Philharmonic Auditorium Monday night when the Poly alumni will put on a show to raise funds to purchase a $25,000 pipe organ for their alma mater.

Krempel, who was developed in the Poly gym club, is now a member of the Turn Verein School of Physical Training and the Los Angeles Athletic Club. For many years he has been recognized as the champion all-around gymnast of the Pacific Coast.

Aside from Krempel, eight other locally famous gymnasts will appear in the big act, which will be the best of its kind ever staged in Los Angeles.

Frank Merrill, J. Duncan Gleason, Herman Glass and Fauster Madariaga will appear with Krempel in performances on the Roman rings, while J. Duncan Gleason and Walter Scheckles will put on a hand-balancing act. George Wackerbarth, Elza Klinker and Dr. Henry Barsha, all former Poly students, also appear in a tumbling act.

Ben Price is coaching the team of gymnasts and announces that all the men have been practicing daily and predicts they will put over their act in fine style.

KLEPPER FULL OF DENIALS

Portland Boss is Peeved Over Article Appearing in Local Paper

Bill Klepper, genial owner of the Portland Beavers, appeared out at Washington Park yesterday all warm under the collar and the warmth in the general vicinity of his Adam's apple was not caused by the warm weather, either.

Klepper was running around with a clipping from a local paper which stated that he would lose $50,000 on his club this year, that he was discouraged and ready to sell the club, that Dick Cox was going to jump the Beavers this week, that Rube Yarrison had not signed his contract and that there was dissension among the Beavers, and frothing at the mouth like a soap dog with the rabies and spouting denials like an excited volcano.

"As for the Portland club losing $50,000 this season," Klepper said, "we expect to come nearer to cleaning up $50,000 than we do to losing that amount. Also there is no dissension on the club and both Cox and Yarrison are well satisfied."

Concerning the rumor that Klepper was ready to sell the Beavers, the Portland owner said that he was too much of a business man to pass up a chance to sell anything he owned if he was offered his price, but that so far no one had approached him with any lucrative offers for the Portland club.

After unloading this flock of denials from his system Klepper found a seat in the shade and tried to cool off while the Tigers were mauling the daylights out of his Portland prides.

Arizona Polo Squad Forced to Come Home

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TUCSON (Ariz.) June 27.—The eastern tour of the Wildcat polo team of the University of Arizona was cut short by orders received by its manager, Col. Ralph M. Parker, to return to Arizona to prepare for camps he will command at Fort Huachuca of reserve officers and citizens. Any lack of success in the game fight put up by the Arizonians in the eastern contests is charged by the colonel mainly to inferiority of several of the team mounts.

Next season, he says, there must be a material betterment and plans are on foot to purchase eight or nine high-class ponies. If Col. Parker could have remained, games would have been played with Harvard, Yale, West Point and with an officers' team in New Orleans, with the odds in favor of the Arizonians in all but the Yale contest. Notable hospitality was shown the Arizonians at every point visited, especially by Walter Douglas and other former Arizona residents in New York.

NEW COUNTRY CLUB PLANNED AT YUMA

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

YUMA (Ariz.) June 27.—The Yuma Country Club is pushing plans for expenditure of $10,000 on a clubhouse and grounds on the Yuma mesa, near the city. A 9-hole golf course is to be provided, as well as tennis courts and a large swimming pool.

PRESCOTT TO STAGE GUN SHOOT JULY 4

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) June 27.—In connection with the Frontier Days' celebration, July 4, 5 and 6, the Prescott Gun Club has secured sanction of the American Trap Shooting Association for a gun shoot of nine events, for which substantial prizes have been offered.

ANGELS OPEN AT SEATTLE TUESDAY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SEATTLE (Wash.) June 27.—The opening game of a series between the Los Angeles and Seattle Pacific Coast League baseball clubs will start at 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon instead of 2:30 o'clock Wednesday. Wednesday opening games have been the rule when teams arrive here too late Tuesday for 2:30 starting time.

cision over Joe Burns. George flashed a topknot as white as Old Baldy, yet under that frost work he toted a bunch of fistic knowledge that was too much for Burns. He had a clever left which he pushed into Joey's face very often and the old bird was there with the parry and block stuff. The crowd was with the old-timer.

SCOTTY SLEEPS

Red Williams put Scotty Diest where the cuckoos chirp and did it in the second round. At the beginning of this round, Red glimpsed Scotty's dining-car in rather a flabby state and immediately sank his left fin into it clear up to the wrist. Diest took the old dreaded count to its fullest extent and hated to be disturbed when his seconds pulled the pillow from under his head.

Joe Blanda won the decision over Jack Hester. As was expected this was a ripsnorting clash. The judges disagreed in their decision, which threw the brunt of the battle on Referee Larry McGrather, formerly the Tipton Slasher, who swung for Hester. Blanda had a tantalizing left that butted into Hester's chops quite frequently and this was what gave Joe the verdict.

Willie Hunter Reaches Final at Vancouver

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) June 27.—Willie Hunter of the Rancho Club of Los Angeles, British amateur champion of 1922, and Dr. O. F. Willing of the Waverley Country Club of Portland, will meet tomorrow in a thirty-six-hole match at the Shaughnessy Heights Club to settle the amateur championship of the Pacific Northwest for 1924.

Hunter earned his way into the finals by defeating Harold Neimeyer of Seattle, 7 up and 6 to play, in their thirty-six-hole semi-final today.

The finalists for the women's title will be Miss Frances Halloran of Salt Lalek, who today squeezed through to a single-hole victory over Mrs. Angus McAllister of Vancouver, on the eighteenth green, and Mrs. E. O. Young of Seattle, who upset the dope for the second time in two days by defeating Mrs. C. C. Cary, Seattle city title-holder, 2 up. The final match tomorrow will be a thirty-six holes.

YANKEE FENCERS STILL IN RUNNING

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, June 27.—The United States, Argentina, Hungary and France remain in the running after the first day's Olympic fencing foils competition, while Spain and Holland have been eliminated. Both the United States and Argentina defeated Holland while Spain lost to both France and Hungary. The United States won by ten matches to six.

The first passenger elevator in London was put in use in the Albert Hall, and was called "the moving room."

RACE BUGS HOLD SWAY TOMORROW

Many Noted Auto Pilots to Perform on Dirt Track at Bakersfield

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, June 27.—Many noted automobile drivers will participate in a speed carnival to be held at the fair grounds here on Sunday afternoon. Leon Duray, Jack Petticord, Steve Elmore, Frank Lockhart, Eddie Meyer, Cliff Bergere and other Ascot speeders are entered. The "999" car which Henry Ford built in 1902 for Barney Oldfield will also be shown. Four auto races and two motor-bike events are carded.

Local speed fans have adopted the slogan "bring the world's track record back to Bakersfield." For years the one-mile dirt track record was held by Oldfield, which he made here in the front-drive Christie car. Bob Burman also made many records here with his Peugeot.

Duray will drive the "1925 Miller supercharger with which he defeated Ralph De Palma at Ascot and which experts say is the fastest car in the world. Duray will go for the one-mile world's record. Sunday's events will mark the return of big-league racing drivers to Bakersfield after a lapse of several years.

KID SAVAGE FACES CLISBY TOMORROW

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICALI (Baja California) June 27.—There is a battling, rough-house box fighter down in this neck of the woods called Kid Savage, who claims and is perhaps entitled to the title of champion of Mexico. So far he has managed to win most of his fights, but Manager Joe Flores has selected Neil Clisby, a giant negro fighter of San Bernardino, to go against him next Sunday in a twenty-round bout. If Clisby wins he can own the town and all that is in it.

In the semifinal of eight rounds Young Dixon and Fred Lugo of Los Angeles tangle, and a six-round special event is to be fought by battling Paul of San Diego and Sailor Waltman of San Bernardino. Two four-round preliminaries start the show.

ANGELS SMITE BEES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SALT LAKE, June 27.—The Angels scored six runs in the sixth inning here today and with what they made in the fourth and ninth sessions trimmed the Bees, 8 to 3, thus evening up the series. George Payne, Seraph twirler, allowed eleven hits, but was as tight as a clam in the pinches. The score:

TODAY IN COAST LEAGUE CIRCLES

1923—Billy Orr was the only player to do much hitting in the Vernon-Portland pitching duel between Jake May and Vean Gregg, which the former won when a run scored in the ninth inning, 2 to 1. [illegible]

1923—Bill James of Los Angeles blanked Sacramento, 2 to 0, allowing five hits, three of which were made by Catcher Koehler.

1922—Pitcher Bryan, now with San Francisco, shut out the Seals while toiling for Seattle, and allowed but three hits, two of which were made by Ellison, now his teammate. Seattle won 3 to 0.

1922—With each team making but five hits, Vernon and Salt Lake scored in only one inning each, the Tigers winning by putting over four runs in the seventh. [illegible] Walter Betts.

1921—[illegible]

1921—Walter Leverenz pitched Salt Lake to a shut-out victory over Sacramento, allowing seven hits, while his teammates gathered [illegible].

1919—Tying the score with Oakland in the sixth inning, Seattle scored again in the tenth to win, 5 to 4.

TEE, FAIRWAY AND GREEN BY CHARLES "CHICK" EVANS

KEEP ROLL OUT OF WRISTS

On the upstroke the hands should go out a little farther at the back and your feet should be kept still. At the end of the stiff first quarter, break your wrists quickly and straight back rather than rolling. Often you will find that you have not allowed your hands to go far enough back. They should go back until they reach a good hitting position; visualize it most particularly for the spoon. Of course, the club itself leans toward you at the end of the back stroke. After the first two and one-half or three feet of stiffness, try to get a more bent condition without a wiggle. In other words, the action of the wrists should come in. If you break your wrists properly at the end of the back stroke, you are likely to swing far enough back. It is important that the left arm almost straighten out at the end of the back stroke; it should not be stiff, however. If you do not get this effect, you will get an uncertain wiggly movement back there. This means uneven flight and an imperfect right angle at the ball. The right arm comes in a little toward the body and the upper parts of both elbows hug the body for a minute in order to form a sort of a take-off and give you an opportunity to gather yourself so that you can throw all your force into the shot after the flying clubhead.

The arms should act rather independent, and freely from the body, although the stroke should not be an all-arm stroke. You will find if you follow my advice that my back stroke tends to make my left shoulder droop. Regulate this so that it does not get in the way. Keep it back there, and still until it comes behind the hit. Do not lunge with the right shoulder; that frequently means hitting the ball on the toe. You must, however, get the whole right side and shoulder behind the shot.

The golfer must use all his strength and weight. I do not favor much moving or turning of the body. When the little tug is felt at the left shoulder socket the wrists bend the clubhead straight backward instead of rounding it toward the body. The action of the clubhead at the halfway mark of the back stroke should give a feeling of weight, and you should not think of digging your strength into the shot before the clubhead hits the ball. The break of the wrists at the top of the stroke is very important; you should get just enough of it. Never be in such a rush that you cannot wait for this break which you must not confuse with a quick jerk. It is a bit of relaxation. You should feel it, and be leisurely about it. The wrists sort of dip-bend the clubhead in toward the angle formed by your right shoulder and head, but not enough to get you off your balance. It, this break, should be coming in or dropping in from the backmost point. There are those who find a slight pause as the back gives rhythm. What you want is something back there which will give you more of a hit, so that the ball does not stay on the clubhead after meeting it. That something should be a comfortable, confident position where the clubhead is kept way back until the proper time to let it fly downward. Perhaps if you think of hitting with the ways of a flicked clubhead you will get it.

MEXICO WARS ON "GAME HOG"

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TUCSON (Ariz.) June 27. Ben Tinker, big game hunter and official game warden of Northwestern Mexico, has returned from a three months' tour of his district. He states that the day of the American "game hog" has gone in Mexico and that the natives will be curbed in their indiscriminate shooting for the market, a practice that has placed venison on the bill of fare south of the line regardless of season or sex of the slain animals. This fall few Americans will be able to secure shooting licenses south of the line. Few are visiting Sonora just now, for the climate hardly favors.

ROLLER SKATERS PERFORM

Nash Zavaterro, Pacific Coast roller skating champion, and Leo Glasbrenner, ex-champion, are all ready to do battle in the ten-mile skate race to be held in Hollywood, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30. Zavaterro took the crown from Glasbrenner by default several months ago, and Leo is going to show the California Skating Association that he really belongs to the crown.

More than forty entries have already been turned in to the entry committee from all points from San Francisco to San Diego. A silver cup and several medals will be given to the winners.

The course of the race will be Vermont avenue and Sunset Boulevard to Fountain avenue; west on Fountain to Berendo, north on Berendo to Sunset, and east on Sunset to the starting point. This is one lap. The entire distance calls for seventeen such. There is no admission price to hamper the public from seeing the race. The complete entry list is as follows:

WEISSMULLER'S RIVALS

BY FEG MURRAY

These two swimmers are going to try to take a lot of glory away from Johnny Weissmuller, and incidentally take a lot of points away from Uncle Sam in the Olympic swimming contests. "Boy" Charlton of Manly, New South Wales, is only 16 years old, and in the last eighteen months has come from an unknown youth to a place among the world's greatest swimmers. He is 6 feet tall, weighs 175 pounds, and has already broken several world's swimming records and beaten the Swedish prodigy, Arne Borg.

I met Arne Borg in Sweden eight years ago, when he was first learning to paddle around. Now I saw him again as he passed through this country en route from Australia to the Olympic Games. He seemed to be having a great time and was not in the least worried about how Weissmuller, Howell, and others were making out in the tryouts at Indianapolis. Borg has clipped about ten seconds from the world's record for the half mile, and he is credited with a mile in 22m. 24s. Charlton beat Borg in Australia last winter, swimming 880 yards in 10.51⅘. There is no half-mile swim in the Olympic program but these two will probably give Weissmuller a great race in the 400-meter free style. It doesn't look as though any American would have a chance with them in the 1500 meters.

SEA BECKONS FISHERMEN

Santa Monica Bay District Enjoys Great Run of Finny Tribe; Big Luck Awaits Anglers

With fishing at its best along the coast, especially in the Santa Monica Bay district, where large catches of mackerel, halibut and some yellowtail are being made daily, this week-end is expected to find more anglers enjoying sea angling than at any time this season.

The pier at Santa Monica and the fishing boats being run by the Capt. Morris company have been crowded every day this week so far. Pier fishing has been exceptionally good, while the fishermen on the boats come back with good catches.

Splendid fishing is reported by Billy Ball from the huge deep-sea barge, anchored off Venice. The Venice barge is one of the best plans yet for the salt-water angler to get in a day of real sport.

In word received at the B. H. Dyas Company from A. E. Eaton at Avalon, Catalina Island, fishing for the last week has not been as good as expected, due to the foggy weather. For tuna fishing from one to six fish daily are being caught, but the fish are all large ones, weighing from 100 pounds to 149 pounds.

Three swordfish were sighted off the island this week, also. The first marlin swordfish of the season was seen about a week ago.

Information was received by the Dyas company officials from the Pines, Bass Lake, stating that fishing conditions were back to a May basis, many limits of fine bass having been caught, while trout fishing in the streams has improved. Future fishing indications are all for the best.

COAST AVERAGES

Kenneth Penner of Vernon has added another win to his long string of victories. He has won fourteen games this season, more than any other twirler. Oliver Mitchell of San Francisco tops all pitchers in the percentage column.

Gregg, Seattle, and Canfield, Sacramento, are next in line. Crandall, Los Angeles; Shellenback, Vernon, and Singleton have won nine games and lost four for a mark of .692.

AIR OFFICERS ASSIGNED

Orders issued from headquarters of the Ninth Corps Area assign local air service reserve officers as follows: First Lieut. Frank H. Barber, 1300 North Main street, and Roy Harding, Box 106, to A flight, Four Hundred and Eighty-seventh Pursuit Squadron, Third Army; First Lieut. Harry C. Claiborne, 724 South Spring street, to B flight of the same organization.

The gull family consists of nearly 115 species.

Diaz and Novey in Main Go at Lyceum Arena

Dick Donald will turn the main event at the Lyceum tonight to two of the lightest boxers who have had that honor for months. Benny Diaz, Mexican flash, and that tough boy, Frankie Novey, will throw the gloves at 115 pounds.

A rattling good scrap is promised by the pair of banties. Diaz has always been a great favorite at the Lyceum. Novey has captured the hearts of Hollywood and Vernon spectators time and again by his willingness to mix with the most dangerous boys.

Kid Louie wrangles with Sammy Waltz in the semi-wind-up. Both boys are clever and carry the old wallop in their trained mitts. Phil Virges will try his skill against that good boxer, Young Vinet.

The rest of the card follows: Bud Carlos vs. Kid Morey, 135 pounds; Alex Arriola vs. Kid Suppy, 120 pounds; K. O. Wadhams vs. Young Kennedy, 118 pounds.

How is an effective quick wind-up accomplished, one which will keep base runners near the bases?

Answered by

HERMAN PILLETTE

Pitcher, Detroit Tigers: Led the American League in 1922 for games won.

If you are going to be a good pitcher you can't use any wind-up when there are men on the bases, as any wind-up gives the base runners a decided advantage if they wish to steal. For this reason I advise that a man use any wind-up he pleases as long as the bases are free and no wind-up whatsoever when there are men on bases. It is really not at all difficult to pitch without a wind-up, after a little practice, and it will keep base runners a great deal nearer the bases than pitching when a wind-up is used.

The upsets of the dope were not confined to the California flight, as Harley Moore and I. A. Thorson, two strong players, were eliminated in the second flight, Bill Carrigan trimming Moore 6 and 5, while Thorson bowed to E. Everett, Jr. In defeating Jack Neville, Thompson kept right around par all the way, and the pace was just a little too hot for the former champion.

Semifinals in all flights, including defeated eights, will be played today, all matches to take place on the links of the California Country Club. Defeated eights will tee off immediately after the winners in each flight.

Yesterday's results follow:

CALIFORNIA FLIGHT

Public Links Championship Is Up Today

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DAYTON (O.) June 27.—Henry Decker of Kansas City and Joe Coble of Philadelphia will battle tomorrow for the national public links championship over thirty-six holes following their victories in the semifinal rounds today.

Decker defeated R. S. Delury of Boston, 3 and 2, while Coble sent Frank Dolp, the Portland (Ore.) youngster, to a 6-and-5 defeat.

Both finalists had battles during the morning round and played consistent and steady golf to win. Dolp proved easy for Coble in the afternoon, the Oregon player appearing to have succumbed to a week's strain of golf under a blazing sun. Dolp lost his putting touch early in the semifinals and after being 2 down at the turn, went to pieces and lost the next four holes.

In the morning round Decker defeated Earl McAleer of Washington, D. C., 7 and 5, but to accomplish this he shot birdies on the second, eighth and twelfth holes.

In the semifinal Decker was one down at the turn after shooting spotty golf for the first nine, but found his stride on the tenth and captured the next four holes and then halved the next three for a victory.

In the morning Coble defeated Art Behm, Cleveland, 3 and 2.

BISBEE (Ariz.) June 27.—State Representative Arthur E. Curlee has been married here to Mrs. Rome Weber of Phoenix. They will make their home in Douglas.

The Affair at Othman's

BY WILL PAYNE

SYNOPSIS

Frederick Othman, Turk and mysterious, wealthy, lives with a retinue of servants in a mansion whose glory is Daphne, a priceless Titian nude, filling one wall of a room. Nelson Barlow, fashionable ne'er-do-well, employee of a company controlled by Othman, stole $147,000 of its funds. Othman learns of the theft. He is secretly planning to marry Flora Marsden, society girl. Hearing Barlow has "something on" Stamford Marsden, her father, Othman promises Barlow immunity for his assistance to the Turk's marital designs. Barlow agrees and reveals clandestine affair of years past of Stamford Marsden, a subnormal child born of the affair residing in Maine. Marsden becomes financially involved. Othman extends his financial assistance. Othman gains entree to the social circle of the Marsdens. Philip Kendall, a newspaper reporter, a rival for Flora's affections, tells her of Othman's rumored past. Othman controls the paper on which Kendall works. Kendall is assigned to investigate Marsden's clandestine affair under Othman's direction.

INSTALLMENT IV

Meeting the Terms

"Nevertheless offices are great whispering galleries. I'm going to pull Mr. Marsden through, but it takes some watching out. A month or so ago I told Mr. Murray that if he heard anything about Stamford Marsden I'd like him to let me know it. What I had in mind was something affecting his business, you understand. There was a certain situation at that time. I wanted to know if any gossip was afloat. So I spoke to Mr. Murray about a month ago. Well, yesterday Mr. Murray brought me a letter. You may as well read it."

He opened a drawer and took out a large stout yellow envelope that looked familiar to Kendall because its upper left-hand corner bore the sprawling red return card of the Evening Forum. From that envelope he took another, of ordinary letter size, which he handed across the desk. It had been opened, but Kendall examined its exterior a moment; an ordinary, cheap, white envelope, such as one can buy anywhere at ten cents a package. The cancellation of the two-cent postage stamp showed it had been mailed in New York. It was addressed "care the Evening Forum of New York, New York City, N. Y." In the lower left-hand corner "Confidential" was typed in capital letters and underscored with a heavy line of red ink.

It struck Kendall that the typing had been done by an inexperienced hand. The periods were driven half through the paper, as though by a clumsy touch. He drew out the enclosure—a single sheet of cheap white paper, with a message in the same typewriting:

"Editor of The Form: I see by your society column today Frederic Othman entertained Mr. and Mrs. Stamford Marsden 'and daughter,' as though he had only one daughter. He has another daughter, born in lawful wedlock which a marriage certificate will show. He committed bigamy and abandoned his lawful daughter.

"None are so Blind as those who Will Not See. Do not you be blind, Mr. Editor. Mrs. Josephine Smith, 166 Forty-fifth street, third floor back, is in possession of facts.

"Your Sins Shall Find You Out.

"A MAN WHO KNOWS."

Kendall's eyes clung to the paper a moment after he had finished reading; he then looked blankly up at the man behind the desk.

"What do you make of it?" Othman inquired.

"Blackmail, I suppose," Kendall answered. "Probably written by this woman whose address is given."

"Exactly," said Othman, as though the answer pleased him. "I thought so, and so did Mr. Murray. But there's a question. A blackmailer would hardly begin by writing an anonymous letter to a newspaper. As I see it, if this woman wrote the letter, she's already been after Mr. Marsden, and Marsden has told her to go to the devil—or, at any rate, he hasn't satisfied her. So she writes this letter, supposing Murray will send a reporter to see Marsden about it and that will frighten Marsden. Yet it seems to me that would be a risky thing for a blackmailer to do—letting a newspaper in on it. Doesn't it strike you that a blackmailer would hesitate to do that?"

"Well—it would be unusual," Kendall admtited.

"It looks so to me," Othman seemed perplexed. "And then that biblical quotation—bunk—for effect, maybe. On the other hand, it may be a crank—somebody who's cracked and has got hold of some gossip and built up a theory, as cracked people do." He thought it over a moment.

"Well, there are the facts, Mr. Kendall. When I mentioned Stamford Marsden to Mr. Murray, I didn't think of anything like this. But here it is. Naturally I want to handle it carefully. I wouldn't hand this over to the police or to a detective agency. I know nothing about Stamford Madsden's younger days. Maybe they were like the younger days of plenty of other men who are born to a fortune and social position and so on. Being born with a gold spoon in your mouth is apt to make you careless. For all I know, there may have been something—back in those younger days—that would give a handle to a thing like that. In that case, putting this letter into hands that were more or less slippery would just get another blackmailer on his track. Some private detectives are trustworthy and some are not. I wouldn't take the chance. I wanted a man who could be depended on. You see what's in my mind. I want you to go to this woman with the letter, find out what you can. I don't need to caution you how careful we must be—careful of Stamford Marsden and his family. Report to me, please. If you telephone here or to my house you can get an appointment almost any time. I will make whatever report is necessary to Mr. Murray."

Riding up to Grand Central station in the subway Kendall was forced to make the reluctant admission that, while Frederic Othman might be a swine in certain respects, there were other respects in which he gave a good imitation of an honorable man. He had spoken quietly and courageously enough—but that heavy jaw and a certain undefined air of force! Having seen Frederic Othman face to face he hated him more cordially than ever. But what could lie behind this letter?

The first thing that lay behind it was a dingy brick residence which had been converted into a building of little two and three-room flats, with a second-hand book shop on the ground floor. An oak door with a small, square panel of glass in the upper part gave on to a tiny vestibule in which a row of letter boxes showed that seven tenants were nested somewhere upstairs between the narrow walls. A plain printed card stuck in one of the boxes read "Mrs. Josephine Smith." He pressed the button above that card and soon heard the answering click of the electrical mechanism, operated from upstairs, which unlocked the inner door. Opening the door, he climbed two long, narrow flights and went to the end of the hall. Mrs. Smith's card, companion to the one in the vestibule, was pinned to the doorjamb. He knocked.

A tall, thin woman opened the door, swinging it wide with a certain boldness, as though to advertise that the occupant of this small rear flat had nothing to hide and defied the world to imply the contrary. Her dark, lusterless hair was drawn severely back from her full brow in a style that comported with the austerity of her plain black dress. Were her eyes gray? At any rate, she seemed an intelligent woman of a high-strung, nervous temperament, her long, thin hands indicating that. He had vaguely expected to find a slinking, slippery, frowsy person. Mrs. Smith was quite the opposite. She looked him full in the eye, and his first impression was that, at any rate, she was not in the least afraid.

"Kendall is my name," he began; "a reporter from the Forum. The editor received a letter that gave your name and address." He proffered the letter.

Mrs. Smith drew it from the envelope, glanced at it, looked him full in the face again, frankly taking stock of him, and said, "Come in."

He stepped into a little sitting-room. Behind it there would be a cubby of a bedroom, or perhaps two such cubbies, a tiny bath, a tinier kitchenette. The furniture had no particular character beyond a certain decency; but two touches distinguished the habitation from 1000, or 10,000 others in the city. There was a large, black framed steel engraving with the title "Ecce Homo," and there was a framed text, worked in cardboard with red worsted yarn, "Vengeance is mine, I will repay." So much he took in as he stepped over to the armchair which his hostess indicated, and they sat down. Mrs. Smith began the conversation, very much to the point:

"What did Stamford Marsden say?"

"He hasn't said anything," Kendall replied. "Nobody's been to see him yet. We wanted, first, to find out what the letter means. It says you have some proof." The woman's assurance rather got on his nerves. At any rate, she was evidently a person with whom one need not be over-reticent; so he asked plumply, "Didn't you write the letter yourself?"

Perfectly unabashed, she considered it a moment, studying his face, and replied, "Yes, I wrote it."

The boldness of the reply startled him. Already he was secretly bristling with antagonism as he got a fuller impression of this woman. That full brow, with the dark hair combed severely back, with the sallow, unhandsome, but striking face above an austerely black dress—there was something in it vaguely reminiscent of the Inquisition. If the dress were a black robe, one could imagine her supervising the application of thumbscrews. He saw she had once been—not pretty, certainly, nor even handsome, but a striking looking woman and would be a striking-looking woman still if dressed to advantage.

"What are the proofs?" he asked.

"Do you know Stamford Marsden by sight?"

She arose, silently stepped over to a door, and disappeared, closing the door behind her—something grim and portentous about it. He was fairly prepared to see her return with a black robe and hood on. What she did return with, however, was a photograph in a narrow silver frame which she handed to him, standing over him as he examined it. The photograph was faded and had evidently been taken many years before. It showed the bust and head of a smiling young man. The mustache was smaller and silkier, the face, with its generous nose and strongly carved chin, was much younger than now; but Kendall recognized it beyond a doubt.

"Is that Stamford Marsden?" she challenged.

Pastors Refuse to Accept Job as Dry Official

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, June 27.—Two Presbyterian clergymen are reported to have received and to have declined proffers by Senator R. H. Cameron of the office of prohibition director for the Arizona district, in succession to M. E. Cassidy, whose resignation becomes effective the 30th inst. The two are Rev. Dirk Lay of Sacaton, and Rev. Victor A. Rule.

The former is missionary to the Pima Indians at Sacaton and lately returned from successful work in Washington in behalf of the San Carlos dam. He wants to continue with his task and to help the Indians become successful farmers when water for irrigation is delivered to them.

Mr. Rule, whose salary is more than that of the prohibition director, says he came to Phoenix to build a church and that he is going to do it.

Bay Rum Gets Defiant Park Loafers in Bad

BOSTON, June 27.—The wily coppers whose duty it is to see that Boston Common is kept clear of the gentry who mistake it for a hotel are not unversed in the ancient laws of the commonwealth.

Recently they came upon three of the gentry who warm the benches in the common, day and night and requested them to seek other spots for meditation. The three men insisted they were within the law and refused to move on.

The police then discovered that each of the youths carried a bottle of bay rum. They recalled an old statute in which it is expressly forbidden to carry onto the common any liquor which has alcohol in it.

The labels on the bay rum bottles admitted an alcoholic content of 60 per cent.

Thus the three youths were arraigned before Judge Dowd today, not charged with vagrancy, but with a violation of the musty old statute, and they were fined $10 each.

NEWLY-WED ARIZONA PAIR TOURING COAST

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, June 27.—Miss Margaret Tait, daughter of a Salt River pioneer farmer, has been married to Henry G. Boice, president of the Arizona Cattle Growers' Association and first vice-president of the Arizona Industrial Congress. The bride is a 1924 graduate of the University of Arizona. The couple now are on a Coast honeymoon trip. Mr. Boice is a graduate of Occidental College, Los Angeles, from which a younger brother was graduated this year, and is a present trustee of the college.

AUSTRALIA TO BUILD TWO BATTLESHIPS

(BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

MELBOURNE (Australia) June 27.—Prime Minister Bruce in an address before the House of Representatives today announced that the Australian government proposes the construction of two 10,000-ton cruisers. He explained the project by saying that Australia's position is perilous now that Great Britain's naval power has been weakened.

MEETING BY IHLDER

John Ihlder, manager of the civic development department of the United States Chamber of Commerce, will conduct a meeting at the local Chamber of Commerce on July 14. This meeting will be one of a series he will conduct in the western division.

Ex-Ball Player Held in Attack Upon Policeman

NEW YORK, June 27.—Tim Jordan, a few years ago an idol of Brooklyn baseball fans, is in the Bronx County Jail today in default of bail of $1000 as the result of a charge that he struck a policeman over the head with a chair shortly after 6 o'clock this morning. The policeman was John Brennan of 235 East Thirty-ninth street, who is attached to the Simpson-street Station, the Bronx.

Jordan is employed as caretaker at the Bronx Oval, Westchester and Elder avenues, the Bronx, and lives at 1213 Elder avenue. This morning he and Policeman Brennan engaged in an altercation, the nature of which was not divulged by Policeman Foley, also of the Simpson-street Station, who made the arrest. Jordan was arraigned on a short affidavit before Magistrate Vitale. He is forty-five years of age.

MURDERER TO DIE

FLORENCE (Ariz.) June 27.—William E. Acker has been transferred from Prescott to murderers' row in the State penitentiary, sentenced to hang August 8 next. He was convicted of the murder of Iver Enge near Prescott, July 12, 1922. Enge was stabbed and left for dead, his assailants, Acker and W. Burge, escaping in Enge's auto. Acker was arrested later in Los Angeles. Burge was released, but is understood to have died later in New Orleans.

It's easy enough to see dirt on your clothes—but you can't tell whether your gasoline is dirty or not until your motor begins to protest.

THE GASOLINE LAUNDRY
ALEMITE GAS-CO-LATOR

is built expressly to take the dirt out of your gas.

It does this by "laundering" the fuel through chamois before it reaches the vacuum tank and carburetor.

CHARGES COME THICK AND FAST

Man Arrested in Fresno is Wanted Elsewhere

Must Face Courts Over Series of Bad Checks

Law Makes It Hard to Get Convictions

FRESNO, June 27.—Jack Davis, returned here several days ago to face a charge of issuing checks without sufficient funds after he had been freed on a similar charge in San Francisco, was returned to Los Angeles last night by Detective Lieutenant J. E. Davis of that city to stand trial there on a check charge. The charge against Davis here was dismissed after he had made restitution of the amount of the check to the complaining witness.

Los Angeles, Lieutenant Davis said, is being hit with another variety of the check swindler's game. They are escaping justice there, he said, after putting over forged, fictitious and insufficient fund checks, because of a provision of law.

Checks on banks in other States, the officer said, are being passed there in great quantities, with the result that the bad checks are totaling more than $10,000 a month. In order to convict in such cases, Lieutenant Davis added, it is necessary to have a representative of the bank on which the check was written in court. And there is the snag, he continued.

Under the law, it is impossible to extradite a witness. Subpoenas have no standing outside of the State, and unless the bank is willing to part with the services of one of its staff for the trip to Los Angeles and back, the case is dismissed because of insufficiency of the evidence.

Los Angeles authorities, however, he added, have been compelling complaining witnesses to testify even though the prisoner does make restitution for a bad check. As a result, he said, it is unlikely that the case against Davis will be dismissed there. However, he concluded, if it is, two other California cities already have placed bids with the Los Angeles department for the prisoner's presence on the same kind of a charge.

DON TYLER GETS D. A. R. TRIBUTE

Presented With Large Silk American Flag

Features Meeting of Highland Park Association

Oratorical Champion Tells of His Trip in East

A large silk American flag was presented to Don Tyler, winner of the National Oratorical Contest, by the Tierra Altar Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution last night in the auditorium of Franklin High School.

The presentation was made at a meeting held under the auspices of the Greater Highland Park Association following a short talk by Tyler in which he told of his experiences in Washington and his meeting with the President and Mrs. Coolidge.

THE PRESENTATION

Charles B. Moore, principal of Franklin High School, from which Tyler graduated Thursday evening, presented him the flag on behalf of the twenty-five members of the Tierra Altar Chapter of the D.A.R., who attended the meeting in a body. Mr. Moore pointed out that the national contest won by Tyler was held in the Memorial Continental Hall at Washington, built by the national organization of the D.A.R.

Leland Davis, president of the Greater Highland Park Association, opened the meeting. Tyler was introduced by Judge Frank S. Forbes, who declared him to be the product of a race of loyal Americans, three generations of whom he had known personally, recalling his friendship many years ago with Tyler's grandfather, Capt. Ben Tyler.

D. H. JONES SPEAKS

Daniel H. Jones, general manager of the General Securities Corporation and promoter of the Los Angeles Forward Movement, having for its object a campaign of home building, also addressed the meeting. He was followed by Mr. Moore, who told of the history of Franklin High School and the place of the high school in the community.

J. A. Lewis, director of the Arroyo Seco Community Chorus, directed a singing program and more music was furnished by Dr. E. M. Hiner and his brass quartet and Anna Hiner, dramatic soprano.

Between 600 and 700 attended the meeting.

Elks Will Leave for Convention on Special Train

An Elk special train carrying 125 Los Angeles members of the B.P.O.E. will leave the Southern Pacific station today at 8:35 p.m., en route to Boston, where the order's Grand Lodge reunion will be held July 7 to 12. James A. Apffel will be in charge of the local delegation.

The special train will go direct to San Francisco, where north State delegates to the reunion will complete the California group. Michael F. Shannon, Grand Trustee, and Dr. Ralph Hagan, Norman A. Bailie and Ingall W. Bull, prominent local Elks, will attend the reunion.

From the Golden Gate city, the special will travel to Chicago and thence to Niagara Falls and Montreal, where a two-day stop will be made before proceeding to Boston.

CHILDREN'S CONCERTS SCHEDULED AT BOWL

PROGRAMS ON ALTERNATE WEDNESDAYS WILL BE FREE OF CHARGE

Free afternoon concerts for the school children of Los Angeles, such as were played last year so successfully, will be given this year by the Hollywood Bowl summer concert orchestra, it was announced yesterday by Alfred Hertz, conductor. The first will be on July 16 and others will follow on alternate Wednesdays throughout the season, which ends on August 30.

Jennie L. Jones of the orchestra department of the Los Angeles city school district, has sent out a bulletin to every school, urging the principals and teachers to help bring the children to hear the programs of music.

Grown-up friends and relatives of the young folks may come with the children free of charge also, while older persons coming alone will be admitted for 25 cents. Children's concerts will start at 3 o'clock.

ANN LUTHER WILL LATER AIR CHARGES

Ann Luther must wait until August 4 before she can meet Jack F. White, mining man motion-picture producer, on the legal battlefield. Such was the decision of Superior Judge Valentine after counsel for Miss Luther and White had argued for a few minutes for a continuance of the case yesterday morning.

Miss Luther, actress and the wife of Ed Gallagher of Gallagher and Shean fame, is suing White for $100,000 for asserted breach of contract and when the case comes to trial, she has promised she will make revelations that will shock the theatrical and motion-picture world. In her complaint Miss Luther declared that White had agreed to feature her in four pictures at a cost of $100,000 or more and that he failed to carry out the terms of the contract after he had spent only $10,000 on the venture. White, in his answer, charges that Miss Luther misrepresented her character and reputation to him and he asks the recovery of $16,000 which he declares he advanced her at various times.

Miss Luther flitted into court bright and early yesterday morning. White was not present. Miss Luther asked, "Can you imagine his attorneys wanting to postpone this thing until January 1? I want this trial to take place as soon as possible. The quicker, the better."

POSTPONE GRAPE DAY FESTIVAL

Annual Event at Fresno to be Made Part of County Fair Scheduled for Oct. 20

FRESNO, June 27.—California's delayed 1924 raisin festival, originally scheduled for April 24, will be held on October 3, in connection with the Fresno district fair, it was decided at a special meeting of the California Raisin Festival Association yesterday in the Hotel Fresno.

Unanimous indorsement to hold the festival with the fair as recommended by the Fresno County Chamber of Commerce, Fresno district fair board and Fresno County Association of Chambers of Commerce was given by twenty association members present at the session.

Committees that had practically completed plans for the April event will be reorganized immediately and work resumed. It was pointed out that there is little left to be done in whipping plans into shape due to the fact that many floats are ready now and work on others is well under way.

The festival program will be virtually the same as was planned for the April fiesta, with the feature events being the pageant in the morning and the 150-mile automobile race in the afternoon. Several noted race drivers have already signed contracts for participation.

E. N. Palmer of Sanger was appointed on the executive committee to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of R. J. Senior of Sanger. Henry Avila of Fresno was appointed chairman of the reception and entertainment committee.

MOVE HOME BUT KITCHEN LEFT BEHIND

Man Protests as Culinary Department is on One Lot, House on Another

The grand and glorious sensation of going to a barbecue some miles distant from home is excellent fun on special Mexican occasions, Senor Teadoro Amerias admitted yesterday and smiled.

But when Senor Amerias, Senora Amerias and minor Ameriases to the number of sixteen must trudge a dusty three and a half blocks three times a day for their meals as a part of their home life, it becomes a burden, the senor attested, and he seemed weary.

But so it is. Senor Amerias has been in much trouble. Recently he built a home on the Villa Tract in Pasadena—but built it on the wrong lot. The agent who sold Amerias the land was ordered to move the house to its right location and the agent complied to the extent of relocating half the house.

Last Saturday night the Amerias family slept half indoors and half out, and the agent, taking compassion, moved the remainder of the house—except the kitchen. It was built, the agent told the State Department of Housing and Immigration yesterday, after Senor Amerias had been told that he was on the wrong lot. It was not his responsibility now, the agent said.

The Rosehill Taxpayers' Association also have taken an interest in the disjointed home of Amerias. A report to the commission yesterday said that, while the kitchen has no roof and the one side where the house once stood is covered with canvas, the conditions are good for the health of the sixteen Amerias children.

WOMAN RUN DOWN

Traffic Victim May Die as Result of Skull Fracture

Mrs. Nell Knox, 31 years of age, suffered injuries which may prove fatal in a traffic accident yesterday at the intersection of Sixth street and Fremont avenue. She was run down by a motor car driven by William C. Warfield of 2300 Baxter street and at Receiving Hospital physicians said she is suffering from a possible basal skull fracture, concussion and other injuries. Later she was removed to the Clara Barton Hospital. Her condition is critical. She lives at 934 West Sixth street.

PUGILIST IS ACCUSED AS HOLD-UP MAN

K. O. Kelley and Two Others Charged With Being Part of Bandit Ring

Complaints charging robbery were issued yesterday by the District Attorney's office against Donald Kartangan, known in the prize ring as K. O. Kelley; Jack Pluss and Charles J. Cooper. The three suspects are declared by authorities to be members of a bandit ring which perpetrated a number of spectacular robberies here within recent months. Kartangan is charged specifically with holding up and robbing Police Commissioner Birnbaum on the night of the 4th inst. of a billfold valued at $25. Police Judge Crawford was with Mr. Birnbaum at the time of the robbery.

Pluss and Cooper are asserted to be the two bandits who held up and robbed S. D. Nelson of a watch valued at $60 and $110 in cash on the night of the 13th inst. They were arraigned in justice court and held under heavy bail for preliminary hearing.

Camille Avagado, slain in a gun duel by Deputy Sheriff Dewar recently, is declared by the authorities to have been a member of the same band. Avagado was identified by Anna Ennis as the bandit who shot and killed her escort, M. V. Grooms, while they were seated in an automobile.

NEW LIQUOR RECIPE

Chickens and Ducks Get Drunk on Fig-Barley Mash

A brand new recipe for making liquor was discovered by prohibition agents under Agent Shoop yesterday when they raided the chicken ranch of Raphael Dell'Osso at Bellflower and captured Dell'Osso and a fifty-gallon still, they report.

When they came to investigate some fifteen barrels of mash, they say they found concealed in various chicken houses, they discovered it was figs and barley, instead of the customary brown sugar and corn. They poured out, they said, about 150 gallons of liquor and all the chickens and ducks on the ranch celebrated by getting drunk.

Dell'Osso was lodged in the County Jail awaiting a hearing before Commissioner Long, today.

The subtle air of refinement about the Gaylord is associated only with the homes of those who have attained a recognized place in the community. Even to the casual observer, the character of this apartment building bears the unmistakable impress of something above the usual and commonplace.

To hold residence in the Gaylord, immediately identifies one as being able to appreciate the substantial and the genuine.

In an opinion given to the Lilly-Fletcher Co. by Loeb, Walker and Loeb, Attorneys, Mr. Loeb stated "the corporate method adopted by you is the best that has been devised for such co-operative projects"

When the late PRESIDENT HARDING was in Alaska he witnessed "The Chechahcos" in the making. He requested the first showing be for official Washington, making it a command performance.

A few days ago—under the auspices of the Dept. of the Interior, the premiere was held for distinguished American and Foreign officials.

"TORNADO" PLAYER WRITES ALL ABOUT WILD IDAHO

By Grace Kingsley

The tourists and picture fans all over the country are getting a treat these days, since the picture companies are sending their actors hither and yon in search of authentic backgrounds and new scenery.

From Ruth Clifford comes an entertaining letter concerning the trip of the House Peters company to St. Maries, Idaho, in search of atmosphere for "The Tornado." Miss Clifford is playing the feminine lead opposite Peters.

"We saw twenty or thirty historic points along the route, and stopped for a few minutes in Oregon City, first town in Oregon, where the Oregon half of the covered wagon expedition ended their trek, and Barlow, Or., where the home of Barlow, the man who opened the Barlow trail over the mountains, still stands.

"Instead of taking the train to St. Maries we drove to Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, and then took one of the picturesque river steamboats to St. Maries. St. Maries is on the St. Joe River, which widens out into a few lakes thirty or forty miles below this town, and then is called the Spokane. You never saw such a lot of beautiful rivers and lakes. But some of the scenery, especially back in Oregon, is so beautiful that it positively makes you sad. Everybody, of course, is terribly enthusiastic about the scenery here for film work, because it is virgin territory, 180 miles from where a camera has ever been.

"The rule with us when leaving for location in the morning is to take a trunk or box along well stocked with lines and poles. When the sun shines actors may be seen all along the banks. When the clouds have their inning, nothing but fisherman are to be seen. Fish story No. 433221-B probably will lose its glory when the Universal outfit leaves the St. Joe, Marble Creek, Boulder Creek, the St. Maries River, Mirror Lake, the Lac and Benewah Lake. The majority of the fish are native trout, but there are some eastern brook trout and rainbow trout.

"I never saw so much work crowded into twenty-four hours in my life! And a lot of it has nothing to do with a camera. To go to Marble Creek, the hardest location, where ve day's work will be done providing the light is good enough to allow it to be completed in that time, the troupe gets up at 4 o'clock in the morning, packs, catches the 5 o'clock train for Marble Creek Station, eats breakfast in a tiny counter restaurant for lumberjacks at the Marble Creek Station, then hikes seven miles over the hills on a terrible trail to where Boulder Creek flows into Marble and the logs are sent down off the hills on a long chute into the churning mountain waters. It is really a thrilling sight.

"Our three livest hosts here, who rush us around and show us everything, are H. V. South, proprietor of the Kootenai Inn, company headquarters, George O'Dwyer, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and H. L. Alcorn, druggist, who is the father of the beautiful Olive Ann Alcorn.

"Next week, 'Human Hearts,' a two-year-old picture made by Baggot, starring House Peters, will be shipped here and shown. Strangely enough, like the street car conductor who spends his days off riding the other fellows' cars, and film people who go to picture shows in the evenings, the best screen attractions here are lumberjack stories! This town is 3300 population and has just one show, which is packed for two and sometimes three shows a night."

Estelle Taylor Unbobs

Hardly had Estelle Taylor bobbed, than she decided to unbob again. From far-off Banff, where she is playing in "The Alaskan," comes the palpitating news that Miss Taylor is letting her hair grow out.

By the time she returns to Hollywood, Miss Taylor will be ready to join the ranks of Dorothy Mackaill, Virginia Valli, Corinne Griffith and others who are upholding the good old days, and whose slogan concerning their hair is, "Long may it marcel wave!"

LOUISE BLUSHES AT THOUGHT OF TIGHTS

Louise Fazenda has no trouble in recalling her most embarrassing moment.

When they describe the role of "Undine, Diving Venus," in which she is now appearing in "Galloping Fish," at Grauman's Rialto, it didn't sound much like the role she had played in other comedies where a gingham dress and big shoes failed to expose her trim ankles.

But the part was so good that Louise consented to take a test in tights. She thought she could fool them and wear a skirt over the abbreviated costume. "Take that skirt off," thundered a voice as she faced the camera. Louise dutifully obeyed. Thus she registered her most trying moment.

Black tights, insists Miss Fazenda, are more "intimate" than any other kind.

PANTAGES TO SHOW DEMPSEY PICTURES

A deal involving a large sum of money and considered to be one of the quickest consummated in many a day, has been completed between Alexander Pantages and Carl Laemmle of the Universal Film Corporation, whereby the Jack Dempsey series of motion pictures will have its world premiere at the local Pantages Theater starting Monday afternoon.

The entire contract was completed via long distance telephone between Mr. Laemmle in New York and Mr. Pantages who is now in San Diego.

Dempsey promises a lightning-like series of fights, and amusing adventures in his "Fight and Win" pictures. The stories, comedies written by Gerald Beaumont, writer of sport fiction, are crammed with thrills. The champion, it is claimed, is seen in action in spectacular ring battles; he does a thrilling rescue of a boy from a railroad trestle, a sensational dive into a raging torrent, and many other novel feats, while his supporting cast headed by Carmelita Geraghty gives him exceptional assistance in putting over his first screen effort.

Unbobbed Hair Has an Inning at Criterion

Bobbd-hair beauties have been having pretty much their own way since the shingled style hit young heads and old. But now the Criterion Theater is rooting for the girl who has stayed away from the tonsorial artist.

When "The Sea Hawk" opens at the Seventh and Grand theater Wednesday patrons will be greeted with usherettes with long hair. A complete new corps of girl ushers is to grace the opening of the picture.

Manager Milton Brunn of the theater believes that detail plays just as important a part in the presentation of a picture as it does in its production. No bobbed-haired misses roamed around when the Sea Hawk was the terror of the seas. Therefore no bobbed-hair ushers will seat the patrons who witness the picture exploiting that character's adventures.

FRITZI RIDGEWAY BACK HOME AGAIN

Fritzi Ridgeway, who has spent considerable of her career as a motion-picture actress in Los Angeles, returned home yesterday after having appeared in her own sketch on the big-time vaudeville circuits throughout the East.

The actress will open her local vaudeville engagement at the Orpheum next week. She was met at the Santa Fe station by a large group of screen friends and vaudeville coworkers, among whom were Ruth Stonehouse and several artists appearing at the Orpheum this week.

PRINTZLAU DRAMA TO PLAY IN HOLLYWOOD

So successful has "Manna" proven in its initial performances at the Potboiler Theater that arrangements have been made for additional presentations in Hollywood and Sawtelle this week. This is the new play by Olga Printzlau, local dramatist.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights the play will be given at the American Legion hall, Hollywood, and on Friday evening it will be repeated for the benefit of 1200 veterans at the Sawtelle Soldiers' Home. The original cast will take part in each of these performances.

PLAYER COMBINATION TO RESUME ACTIVITY

Ben Wilson and Neva Gerber have resumed their cofeaturing activities in "Vic Dyson Pays," from William E. Wing's typewriter. Several years ago Wilson and Miss Gerber concluded their combined screen appearances in the comedy, "Let's Fight," also written by Wing.

A series of four specials in which these two players will appear is to be made this season, according to reports from the Wilson studio. Mr. Wing is to write them all.

LOCAL LAUGHS

Each week The Times produces a film entitled "Local Laughs," consisting of the fifteen best jokes submitted by local people. Weekly prizes are paid of $5, $4, $3, and twelve of $1 each. A list of theaters showing the film, together with rules for submitting jokes are given daily in a coupon in The Times. Prize-winning jokes, and names and addresses of winners, appear only on the screen. Jokes receiving honorable mention will be given a place of honor on The Times' comic page each week-day, and each of these contributors will receive a souvenir of acknowledgement.

PRODUCE MARKET

DAILY MARKET REPORT

Trading yesterday was active with liberal receipts in most lines. Cantaloupes are weaker with much poor stock on the market. Fancy tomatoes are higher but ripe stock is draggy. Cherries are about steady. Asparagus is nearly cleaned up for the season. Apricots and plums are in heavy supply with most demand for large sized fruit.

Actual prices obtained yesterday by Los Angeles jobbers from their sales to retailers, peddlers, hotels, restaurants, cafeterias, etc., as compiled by the United States Bureau of Markets, are:

APPLES—No carlot arrivals, no cars on track. Watsonville, Yellow Newtowns, fancy, [illegible] [illegible]

APRICOTS—Northern and local, all varieties, [illegible]

ASPARAGUS—[illegible] cars California arrived; 1 unbroken and 1 broken car on track. Northern, green, mostly [illegible]; fcy, 14 per pound.

BANANAS—Central American, [illegible] per pound.

BEANS—San Pedros, Carlsbad, Kentucky Wonders, [illegible]

BUNCHED VEGETABLES—Per dozen bunches: Beets, turnips, [illegible]; carrots, [illegible]; spinach, [illegible]; radishes, [illegible]

WOOL MEN LOOK FOR RISE IN PRICE LIST

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BOSTON, June 27.—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow:

"The wool market still is unsettled and prices in the seaboard markets are no higher than they were a week ago, but there seems to be a growing feeling of optimism concerning the future, which has resulted in a reaction in the West to slightly higher levels than obtained a week ago; in fact, it is the opinion of many in the trade that the bottom level of prices has been closely approximated.

"The opening of the London colonial sales next Tuesday will be awaited with no little interest although no very marked change is expected especially as regards the finer qualities. Medium to low cross-breeds may decline 5 to 10 per cent. The goods market is slow, though not greatly depressed through the New York strike of clothing workers. Tops and yarns are slow of sale and unsettled in price.

"Mohair is rather on the quiet side but generally steady."

The Bulletin will publish the following wool quotations:

Scoured basis: California—Northern, 1.15@1.20; middle counties, 1.05@1.10; southern, 1.00@1.05.

Oregon—Eastern, No. 1 staple, 1.25; fine and F. M. combing, 1.17@1.20; eastern clothing, 1.05@1.10.

DAILY MARKET LETTER OF THE NEW YORK COMMERCIAL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, June 27.—Advances by the peach and fig growers in peaches announced today was wholly unexpected despite announcements that it might be necessary. Beginning with choice yellows, which were advanced 3-4 of a cent, the advances were 1 cent on fancy and 1⅛ cents on extra fancy, while in Muirs the advances ranged from ½ cent on standards to 1 cent on both fancy and extra fancy. Prices on 1923 pack are also revised. The spot market showed no special development. There was a fair demand in evidence and prices were fairly maintained.

New apricots are being taken in a more intensive way against new crop offerings, which were today revised by independents to conform more closely with the quotations of the prune and apricot association. The spot market is sparsely supplied, particularly in fancy and extra fancy grades. Standards and choice form the bulk of the holdings.

There was a purely routine movement on California prunes, demand being largely concentrated in 40s with a limited and scattering business in larger sizes and a fair demand in cartons. Oregon lines had a very fair call in 40s and up to 60s, and prices were firmly maintained in sympathy with the firmer situation at sources.

RAISINS ADVANCE

The raisin market showed evidences of greater activity today, the movement being more or less general, though shortages in seeded varieties, directed special attention of the trade to them. Package Thompsons were in good demand with stocks not more than sufficient to meet the current requirement. Bulk raisins continued to show gains. The fact that prices are maintained on an even basis by Sun-Maid, which is in control of the situation, at the source gives the market a real buoyancy and its development proceeds in an orderly way.

Withdrawals of quotations on both spot and future salmon by Alaska packers are the first effects of new regulations announced on Wednesday by Secretary of Commerce Hoover under the Alaska Fisheries Act. These regulations impose far-reaching and drastic curtailments in salmon fishing and packing operations and packers appear to have taken the attitude that the enforcement will mean a reduction in the pack of 50 per cent or more, and consequent advances in prices. Several packers have already withdrawn from the market. The regulations become effective immediately, but are subject to such revisions as may seem necessary. Other canned fish had a fair call. Tuna was in active demand on future contracts. California sardines were held firm on shortages but Maine sardines showed further irregularity.

OTHER FRUITS

There is a generally freer forward buying in California fruits of the new pack, reports of packing conditions and the higher prices of fresh fruits serving to stimulate action on the part of buyers. Standard peaches are especially well taken and there is a broader market for standard apricots. Choice gradings are not taken in a big way, although there is a more active demand in evidence because of shortage in standards. Pears are admittedly scarce and desirable lots are held at premiums. Pineapple is a good seller and there is an increase in the demand for fruit salad. Northwestern offerings of frits and berries on future contracts are in fair call.

Spot trading in canned vegetables continues in good volume, more attention being given to tomatoes for spot delivery, because of the developing uncertainties of the future packing in Delaware and Maryland; where extensive damage has already been wrought by weather conditions. Pears are being taken in a more liberal way from southern packing centers, the local market and western packing centers being virtually out of supplies of 1923 packs of all wanted grades. Corn is a fairly extensive seller. String and stringless beans are leaders in the minor lines, while succotash, beets and spinach are free sellers. Asparagus is in good demand, new applies being traded in more extensively against shipment.

SUGAR UNSTEADY

Raw sugar sold today at 3 5-8 cents, or 1-16 cent above the last previous sale, but the advance had no steadying effect upon the market—in fact, future sugar sold off a few points after the announcement. The reason of the failure to sustain the market with higher priced actual sugar is laid to the fact that the sugar in question was purchased by the Cuban house Czarnikow-Rionda for the McCahan refinery, which they control, and that following the sale Cuban interest, presumably the same, hedged by selling the September option. The situation was weakened further by heavy offerings of Cuban sugar, said to be as much as 300,000 bags at the same price without finding a buyer.

New business in refined continues light, but the outward movement on contracts is moderately heavy. There is, however, a strong disposition on the part of the consuming and distributing trades to hold off. The only price change announced was an advance of 5 points by Atkins refinery to the basis of 6.85 cents for bulk and 6.90 cents for assorted sugars.

Raw sugar futures closed at 4 points, advance to 1 point decline from yesterday. Europe was a seller and Cuban interests are credited with having bought and sold. March closed at 3.35; July, 3.53; September, 3.68, and December, 3.56.

COFFEE ACTIVE

Coffee futures advanced sharply on higher exchange and Brazilian news, but the chief reason was aggressive buying by operators to cover short sales. Brazilian cables announced an advance of 265 and 200 reis, respectively, for June and September, and 1-8d in London exchange. The dollar rate at the same time declined 25 reis.

March closed at 12.72; May, 12.50; July, 14.15; September, 13.45; October, 13.30; November, 13.16, and December, 13.02.

No new features developed in tea today. The market remains firm, with an advancing tendency and within the past two days a fair business has been done in the local market at future prices.

The position of rice remains unchanged. The consuming trade is buying in small parcels as their needs materialize. In the aggregate a fair volume is moving with consumption, and the light stocks held here are gradually growing lighter.

Trading in beans is almost at a standstill.

BUTTER AND EGGS

Despite increased butter arrivals, a firmer tone was noted in selling circles, but prices on table grades were not disturbed. From present indications prices showed upward tendency. Call sales, 50, 50, 50, 116 tubs creamery extras, all at 41½ cents for spot delivery. In futures sales were 200 tubs June extras at 41¾, and 100 tubs do. at 42 cents per pound.

Weakness became pronounced in eggs at the opening prices on nearly all descriptions of brown eggs showing a decline of ½ cent per dozen. Arrivals are running far beyond the demand. Pacific Coast white eggs are in fair supply and weak. Ten cars December firsts went at 33¼ cents.

The copper market was much stronger due to the rally in London. Most producers and sellers quoting at 12⅝ cents for electrolytic raised the price to 12½ and we now quote a range of these two prices, although many thought that the market had definitely climbed to the upper price. London cables standard spot as advancing 12s 6d to £61 5s, futures 15s to £62 5s; electrolyitc spot, 15s to £66 15s, and futures 10s to £66.

LEAD UNCHANGED

Prices of lead are unchanged at 7 cents New York, and 6¾ St. Louis. London reported an advance of 5s in spot, which closed at £33 2s 6d, and a gain of 12s 6d for futures, which closed at £29 12s 6d.

Zinc is still quoted at 5⅝ cents a pound St. Louis, and 6.10 New York for prompt shipment, while futures command premiums of a few points. London prices advanced 5s, with spot closing at £32 5s and futures £31 15s.

Prices of tin advanced a little further in London today, but the advance on this side was checked. All deliveries and positions of Straits and Straits shipments closed here unchanged at 43¾. London cables an advance of 7s 6d for the entire list, with standard spot closing at £224 12s 6d; futures £224 15s, and straits £227 2s 6d. The far eastern market registered a gain of £ with Straits in Singapore closing at £226 5s c.i.f. London.

There has been some increase in the demand for gasoline in the past two or three days, and the market firmed up to this a little, although no price changes have so far been recorded. New navy in single tank cars delivered is still selling at 13½ cents a gallon, and although export buyers are showing some interest, they are still looking for lower quotations and not placing any orders to speak of. Bunker and Diesel oil are quiet. There is a better demand for kerosene.

Trading in bonds expanded further due to the desire on the part of many to discount the July 1 reinvestment demand, which is expected to be large, and which will probably be placed in high-grade bonds. Several Liberties moved forward to new highs for all time, while others equaled their previous record highs. The speculative rails again were in demand, the St. Pauls, Katy, International and Great Northern adjustment 6s, the Frisco income 6s and the New Haven all registered good gains. Foreign governments were higher with the Brazilian and Serbian issues recording the best advances.

BUSINESS IGNORES PRICE QUESTIONS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, June 27.—Dun's tomorrow will say:

"The price situation in some of the primary markets continues a smaller faction in business. In some departments of trade some concessions are still made in quotations, but there is little disposition noted to force operations. This applies, in the main, to the great industrial lines, which are practically all awaiting developments. In wholesale dry goods and allied lines, dealers are making every effort to dispose of accumulations, much of which should have gone to consumption during the past two months and as a consequence in these particular goods, values are for the time being very irregular. The movement during the past week in such articles, both at wholesale and retail has been greatly diminished and in all sections of the country special sales are the order of the day. The great iron industry is far from being at a standstill and some additional activity in certain divisions of the trade are noted this week, although at some slight concessions in prices. Weekly bank clearings, $7,268,549,000."

NEW APRICOT PRICES NAMED BY GROWERS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN JOSE, June 27.—The 1924 opening prices on dried apricots were announced today by the California Prune and Apricot Growers' Association. They are:

Standard, 9 cents a pound; slabs, 9½ cents; choice, 12⅝ cents; extra choice, 14⅝ cents; fancy, 16 cents; extra fancy, 21 cents.

These quotations will be raised by ½ cent each tomorrow, the association announced.

The prices cover 90 per cent of the dried apricot output in the State, which this year is 75 per cent of normal.

LOS ANGELES CLOSE

CATTLE—Hardly enough cattle arrived to really test market conditions. Four loads common and medium steers cashed from 6.00@6.75. Load medium cows made 4.85 with odd lots commons downward to 3.75. Canners and cutters largely 1.75@3.00 with bologna bulls mostly 3.00@4.00.

CALVES—Small receipts of calves were cleared up readily at steady prices. Bulk 170 to 235-pound calves cashed from 7.25@8.25.

HOGS—No good or choice desirable weight butchers were offered. One load medium California butchers made 7.50. Market was quotable nominally steady.

SHEEP—Practically no outlet existed for the common and medium lambs held over from yesterday. Holdovers were 1204 head with no fresh arrivals today. Common and medium lambs are quotable weak to unevenly lower with good and choice grades holding steady.

Outside Markets

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27.—Hogs, steady; few loads good graded 160 to 170-pound Californias 8.75; medium weight butchers 7.75@8.25; other loads medium 170-pound Californias 8.50.

Cattle steers slow; steady on best grades which are not good enough; weak on under 1000-pound steers; little interest; medium and common grades liberal offerings; two loads northern California 1050 pounds 8.50; four loads medium 1000-pound south California 7.75; several loads common 900 pounds, 5.00@5.50; good cows steady; few 1000 pounds 5.00@5.25; medium and common plentiful; weak; on commission; calves good and choice, steady; few loads good 280 pounds 7.50; good tone at close.

Receipts: Flour, 9400 quarter sacks; wheat, 3200 ctls.; corn, 2400 ctls.; potatoes, 3735 sacks; onions 1556 sacks; hay none; hides none; lemons and oranges, 2050 boxes; live stock, 471 head; barley, feed, 1.93@2.05, shipping unchanged; hay unchanged.

Flaxseed

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DULUTH (Minn.) June 27.—Traders in the flaxseed market here today were mostly bearish and crushers only took a small amount of the spot offerings on the low spots. The spot month was weak to 1½ cents lower. Close: July, 2.40½; September, 2.17½; October, 2.11½; track, 2.40½@2.45½; arrive, 2.40½.

Minneapolis flaxseed demand good; No. 1 seed on spot, 2.43½@2.49½; to arrive, 2.43½@2.47½; receipts, seven cars.

MONKEY BESTS CIRCUS CREW

Causes Near-Riot in Making Escape; Finally Hoisted by Elephant's Trunk

MAHANOY CITY (Pa.) June 27.—Tired of tage life, a monkey made his exit from a circus playing at Yatesville, near here.

The "monk" scampered out, sailor-like scaled a guy rope to the pinnacle of the tent, came down the other side, and hurdled his way through the crowd.

Men and women were bowled over as canvasmen and boys gave chase. One of the canvasmen flung a piece of slag at the Simian to halt his escape. The monkey returned the fire, knocking out the canvasman.

Finally the monkey was run to bay in the cellar of Andrew Goris's home.

An elephant was brought to the scene, and the monkey was "trunked" back to his lair.

CRUDE RUBBER MARKET

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, June 27.—Although dullness continued today on the local rubber market there was a decided feeling of encouragement among importers and dealers over the prospects of the formation of an agency to accomplish much that the Stevenson act has failed to do. This new feature is the British growers' agency, the function of which will be to stabilize prices. There was very little buying interest today, also a lack of noticeable inquiry. Prices managed to increase somewhat, due to the operations of speculators. Spot ribbed smoked sheet was quoted at 18⅝c per pound; brown crepe in thin clean sheets at 17⅝c, and amber No. 1 was selling for 18⅝c; fine upriver Para picked up at ½c to 18c.

METAL MARKETS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CLEVELAND (O.) June 27.—Daily Metal Trade today says: "Important oil companies are placing line pipe and tank steel orders from southwest with steel mills. Pig iron sales by Buffalo furnaces continue to assure good operation next quarter, while sales of iron at Chicago continue at a high rate, although new inquiry and sales diminish in volume. Connellsville coke output declines at slower rate and fewer ovens go out, with quotations practically level with last week. Copper stronger at New York at 12½ cents. Zinc firmer at 5⅝ cents, but lead easier at 6.70 St. Louis. Tin higher at 43⅝@43¾c.

BANKRUPTCY PETITIONS

Voluntary petitions in bankruptcy were filed with the United States District Court yesterday as follows:

Stanley B. Koontz and Clarence J. Gerblick, doing business as the Koontz-Gerblick Paint and Hardware Company, Hawthorne; debts, $12,380; assets, $9451.

Norman Neilson, chiropractor, Fresno; debts, $1352; assets, $100.

WOOL MARKET

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BOSTON, June 27.—The new crop of Texas wool is beginning to show activity on the local market. Twelve months' stock is quoted at 1.25 to 1.30 per scoured pound. Some choice wools of this grade have changed hands within the range and well above the lower figure named. The total amount was not large, but was considered of exceptional quality.

BOY SHOOTS WOMAN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BISBEE (Ariz.) June 27.—A deputy sheriff heard a shot and a wild cry recently in upper Lowell. He saw Mrs. Lucia Galabra drop to the street with a bullet in her thigh. Investigation showed that the shooter was Billy Gohren, 14 years of age, who had fired at a stray cat. The woman's wound is declared not serious.

PHILADELPHIANS NOW GET SLEEP

Police Crusade on Noises of Night Effective

Raucous Sounds of Trucks Are Heard No More

Hoofs of Milkman's Horse Only Break in Silence

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHILADELPHIA, June 27.—In the days when the American doughboys were awaiting their discharge papers they used to pass their time by singing a little song that ran something like this:

Oh, boy! The minute the war is over,
Oh, boy! The minute the foe is dead,
I'll pack my uniform away
And move to Philadelph-ay-a,
And spend the rest of my life in bed.

But now comes the startling information that Philadelphia has been about the poorest spot in the world for a quiet stretch in bed.

It has the reputation of being a most boisterous place between the hours of midnight and breakfast time, and all because of traffic.

But that hectic condition has ended.

ARRESTS THREATENED

Cloaked with orders to lock up, after a warning, all those nocturnal disturbers who shatter pleasant dreams with the raucous blast of the motor horn or those who delight in doing speedway acts with milk trucks, 200 members of the "soft-pedal squad" went lullabying.

And when citizens awoke today they did so to the tune of the alarm clock instead of a symphony of jangling milk cans while some dairy chaffeur crossed a series of railways tracks on "high." In fact, it took several good rings from the alarm clock to awaken many from their sound sleep. The "hush-a-bye boys" of the traffic department had done a good night's work.

Lieut. George W. Fritz, appealed to by several harassed citizens of the central part of that city, issued orders recently that all unnecessary noise after midnight must cease. All foot and motorized police were instructed. For two nights they were active.

Becoming curious, a skeptic tanked up his machine, opened the cutout, turned on the lights and went fourth in search of silence. With a roar he shot down Walnut street to Fifteenth. The traffic police were just winding up their shift. The skeptic turned down Fifteenth at Locust. Then down Broad street went the sputtering motor. Suddenly a motorcycle policeman became aware of the open cutout.

"Celebrating the Fourth early?" he rasped. "Shut up that cutout and save the fireworks for some other time. Folks are sleeping, or were until you came along." The cutout was closed.

"Better put your lights on, kid," advised a foot-traffic policeman. When at Sixteenth and Locust the motorist set the walls echoing with a hearty series of toots on the horn. "Go easy on that horn, too," the policeman added.

A taxi driver at 2 a.m., uninformed of the reign of silence, hailed a fellow-driver.

"Hey, there, you, where have you—"

"That's enough of the long-distance oratory," announced a bluecoat, appearing from behind a corner as the cab slowed to the curb.

Thus all through the early morning hours.

BIG CHANGE NOTED

"Besides stopping noise, we watch the lights, keep an eye on unlicensed car watchers, the chaps who collect a quarter to mind your car while you are in a theater, and halt yelling among drivers," said another motorcycle policeman, whose beat extends up and down South Broad street. "After only two nights of it we notice a big difference."

The watch is being centered around the area bounded by South Broad street to Pine, west as far as Twenty-second and north to Market. Largely a dwelling section, it is here that most of the complaints have arisen and here that the "soft-pedal" activity is being enforced first.

By 3 or 4 a.m. this section is enjoying cemetery silence. Only the occasional taxi toot sends its sound down the rows of dwellings. Wharf-bound trucks proceed as well-behaved trucks should, instead of emulating a sport-model speedster. Even Penn Square takes on a convent-like aspect, the conservative "put-put-put" of an occasional truck being all that ruffles the calm of the dawn.

SHORTAGES REPORTED IN COUNTY OFFICES

SPOKANE (Wash.) June 27.—Shortages of several thousand dollars in the offices of the County Treasurer, County Auditor and County Clerk of Whitman county were reported by W. L. La Follette, Jr., Prosecuting Attorney, in a statement to the Spokane Chronicle today.

Mr. La Follette was quoted as saying that the shortage, disclosed by the State examiners, had been made up by the former officers, who denied responsibility. He said that others had had access to the funds and that prosecutions were contemplated.

HARRY K. THAW BUYS KENILWORTH ESTATE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WINCHESTER (Va.) June 27.—Harry K. Thaw has made the first payment on Kenilworth, an estate five miles from Winchester, where he told friends he would retire to devote himself to fruit growing. A New York architect has been engaged to determine improvements on the old mansion and the farm of 104 acres.

OFFICER'S SON KILLED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FORT HUACHUCA (Ariz.) June 27.—Theodore B. Meyer, son of Lieut.-Col. Henry Meyer, U.S.A., retired, was killed near this post when an automobile in which he was riding overturned. He was a member of the officers' reserve and was a student from the New Mexico Military Academy.

BY HOWARD C. KEGLEY

The Shell Company yesterday completed negotiations which have been pending for several weeks, and definitely took over the Fortuna Oil Company's lease and well in the El Segundo district, according to authentic reports from the field.

A Shell drilling crew is reported to have taken charge of the well and is cleaning out the hole preparatory to running casing, it is asserted. Details of the transaction by which the Shell Company acquires the property are not forthcoming, but it is understood that the deal includes the transfer of the entire eighty-acre lease, south of El Segundo avenue and east of Arizona Drive, and directly east of the Standard Oil Company's tank farm.

The hole was drilled by the Fortuna interests to 4552 feet with encouraging showings. Surface casing was set at about 600 feet, the remainder of the hole being open. It is reported that the Fortuna was preparing to set casing when financial difficulties caused a suspension of operations.

According to field reports the Pacific-Southwest well of the Pan-American Petroleum Company, in the northern outskirts of El Segundo, is drilling in a hard formation which, it is believed, may be caprock. Favorable sand showings have been found in this hole below 3600 feet, field scouts say.

The Standard Oil Company's wildcat well, over one mile north, and slightly west of the town, has found no showings of any kind, according to field reports, although it is down 4170 feet. Casing was set at 4100 feet.

To Resume Drilling

The Burbank Oil Company will resume drilling in its wildcat well in the Bandini district, northwest of Santa Fe Springs immediately, according to drillers. The well was down 4900 feet, and was said to have penetrated more than fifty feet of oil-bearing formation when the shut-down was ordered.

Start Two Wells

The Monarch Development Company is building two new rigs in the Newport Beach field, just north of the town of Newport Beach. One well is located east of the Monarch No. 1, and the second is one location west of Fulkerson No. 2.

Officials of the Monarch organization report that Monarch No. 1, which was brought in two weeks ago, is pumping around 200 barrels per day. Tanks are being built and a railway siding is being constructed. The oil is of too heavy gravity to flow in pipe lines without heating, and will be transported in tank cars to the refinery of the Gilmore Oil Company. The Gilmore organization is one of the leading manufacturers and distributors of road oil in the State, and the Newport Beach product is said to make an excellent grade of road oil.

Flow Increases

The Shell Company's Reyes No. 4, which came in last Monday in the Dominguez field with an initial flow of around 1500 barrels per day, has cleaned up, and is flowing 1950 barrels per day, according to officials of the company.

Reyes No. 5 is expected to be the next Shell producer in this field. Eight-inch casing was set and cemented at 3752 feet, and yesterday the crew was drilling out the plug for a water shut-off test.

Near Completion

The Dolores No. 1 of the Shell Company in the extreme southern part of the Torrance field, south of Wilmington, was expected to start swabbing for a production test late yesterday. An eight-inch liner was run to the bottom at 3670 feet, after the well had been drilled through more than 200 feet of oil-bearing formation. Officials of the Shell Company are reported to be optimistic over the prospects for a good producer. The well is located on the 500-acre tract, formerly known as the Watson lease.

Report No Showing

The Loomis Community wildcat well east of Bell is drilling leisurely ahead past 3500 feet. No showings of importance have been found so far, according to officials of the Shell Company.

Increasing Capacity.

The Petroleum Midway Company, which is the operating subsidiary of the California Petroleum Corporation, has completed plans for erecting a 7500-barrel topping plant at its harbor terminal in Watson Junction, not far from its harbor loading station.

This plant will be a big addition to its old topping plant, which has a capacity of 4500 barrels of crude per day. The old plant cost $100,000, and the new plant is expected to cost approximately $350,000. Together the plants will give the company a topping capacity of 12,000 barrels per day.

The new plant will place the company in a position to manufacture tops, fuel oil and navy gasoline. It is understood that the new plant will be so constructed that the company, at some future time, can change it over as a unit of a regular refinery by the expenditure of a small sum.

According to field reports the Petroleum Midway, which turns all of its crude over to California Petroleum for marketing, now has a daily output amounting to about 40,000 barrels per day. About one year ago California Petroleum entered into a contract with the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey for the delivery of 36,000,000 barrels of crude within three years.

Down 5800 Feet

The White No. 1 in the northern part of the Dominguez field is still drilling below 5800 feet, according to field reports. This well is the only active project of the General Petroleum Corporation in this field, the Austin No. 1, the White No. 2 and the Gardena No. 2 having been shut down awaiting the outcome of the White No. 1.

East End Prospects

The Standard Oil Company next week will bring in its first well in the eastern extension of the Torrance field, south of Redondo Road. The 100 acres which Standard leased from the Sentinel Oil Company is adjacent to the Superior Oil Company's Joughin property where wells are yielding more than 1000 barrels a day.

When Standard's Sentinel-Joughin No. 1 is brought in next week, it will be followed in a few days by three other Standard completions on the same lease.

Hole Grows Deep

Francis No. 1, wildcat of the Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company near Western avenue, north of Torrance, is being drilled ahead at 4300 feet. No substantial showings have been found, according to field reports.

DAILY TRADE TALK

Taking Account of Stock; Business Shock Absorbers Efficient; Our Economic Position

BY CHAPIN HALL

As the month draws to an end and the year swings into its second half it is proper to take account of stock. This process is under way throughout the business world and in the interim comes a period of comparative calm.

Southern California is bearing up manfully under some unusual handicaps, and totals continue to reveal a condition of economic solidity which is both refreshing and encouraging as evidenced in bank clearings, building, trade turnover and other indices which point the direction of the wind.

Closely following the foot-and-mouth epidemic comes a serious power shortage, a direct result of two dry years. This is bound to have some effect upon business, because it arbitararily slows down production and develops conservative tendencies. It is to be expected that the regulations cutting down the use of electricity and water will become more stringent as the season advances, but it is equally certain that the public will meet them in the same spirit of cheerful acquiescence as it did the war-time regulations. It is a condition which cannot be helped, and the basic conditions are so good and our economic foundation so sturdy that the temporary inconvenience entailed will be absorbed without too great a hardship. In the meantime it will be possible to lay a fresh course and be ready for the big things which are to come.

DAYLIGHT SAVING

The daylight savers will probably be given an opportunity to test their theory a year or two in advance of normal probability, for it is agreed that no better way of conserving power can be adopted than that of adding an hour of daylight to that end of the day where it will be the most effective in saving the precious power.

This will be good news to the wire traders in eastern centers, who are now compelled to begin their day at 6 a.m. to conform to the New York daylight saving schedule. The order establishing the saving in California is expected to issue soon, and will be Statewide, so that the few communities, notably Santa Barbara, which have tried to play a lone hand, will have their difficulties ironed out automatically. The Los Angeles City Council was given an opportunity a few weeks ago to pioneer this movement, but did not see fit to take so progressive a stand.

While the streets at night have lost some of their brilliancy by reason of the "dousing of the glims," business is generally reported fair, with employment well sustained and collections just a shade below normal. The promised opening of the Second-street tunnel within a few days should stimulate business in the north end of the shopping district. Both stock and bond markets show signs of renewed and continued activity, and the undertaking of large public works insures a considerable volume of work during the balance of the summer. Managers of amusement houses complain of bad business, but the retail stores are enjoying average summer trade, wholesalers are booking orders for early fall delivery, and the chief troubles of the manufacturer lie in the power situation.

EVIDENCE OF SOUNDNESS

The financial situation is strong. Next week a new national bank, the Seaboard, is to be launched under favorable auspices in a handsome new home, and this morning the Commercial National moves its Vermont agency from temporary quarter at Vermont and Francis avenues into a beautiful permanent home at Eighth and Vermont, at the same time opening a new agency at Westlake avenue and Seventh street, where a full service equipment, safe deposit, escrow and trust service will be offered. Harry W. Parker is manager of the new agency and J. Miller, former assistant manager of the Hollywood agency, will be in charge at Eighth and Vermont. At the Westlake agency a reception will be held throughout the day. This bank expansion is hightly significant to those following and interested in the present wholesome business conditions. New banks and old-bank expansion are a sure sign of stability and inherent soundness.

Bradstreet's view of local business conditions indicates that, while these remain quiet, several lines have shown some improvement during the week. The larger retail clothiers, for instance, report an increase over May. Wholesale grocers report an increase of 10 per cent over May, but a canvas of furniture manufacturers shows a 40 per cent decrease in some instances, and in all a more-than-seasonal decline. Collections in this line are only fair.

Dairy supply houses report the demand fairly good, with an improvement in collections. Hay is in demand at good prices. The grape crop is beginning to reach the market. The size of the crop is larger than last year. Pears will run at least 40 per cent better, as will plums. Pears, peaches and plums will be smaller in size, due to dry weather.

OUTLOOK ENCOURAGING

At large the Brookmire Economic Service says that better business is in prospect and is advising clients to plan for reviving business in the fall and to prepare to accumulate raw materials in a few months. "Some dullness is to be expected during the normally slack summer season," this authority states, "but fundamentals are favorable. The trend of commodity prices this fall will me upward."

A consistently confident note runs through the trade journals and reviews. Chain-store merchandising shows an increase over last year, in some instances as great as 18 per cent, and while recent carloadings returns do not indicate that any definite turn in the business tide has taken place, they do show that there is a substantial backbone of commerce throughout the country, despite the severity of the depression in particular industries. The political situation appears to be having very little effect, although public listlessness in the stock market may be in part attributable to a desire to await the result of the New York convention.

There is much interest in the crop situation and Trade Talk has nowhere seen a more succint summary than that provided in a recent issue of Edwin Evans Mentzer's Economic Service. Mr. Mentzer says:

CROP SITUATION

"Apparently there will be little cotton carried into the new season, beginning July 31. That is bullish. But consumption of cotton is so poor that the textile industry, practically speaking, is prostrated. That is bearish. The carry-over into 1922-23 was about 2,898,000 bales, into 1923-24 1,630,000 bales, and now it is estimated by authority that the supply is between 1,700,000 and 2,200,000 bales—not much if business revives, and the carry-over may be nil. The world needs 13,000,000 bales from America. The average estimate of growing condition is 65.6 per cent, the lowest for years, except 1920, compared with 71 per cent in 1923, and ten-year average of 72.8. The average estimate of yield is 11,100,000 bales. There is freer use of fertilizer this year, and more zealous fighting of the boll weevil, but the outlook is bullish, particularly if business revives.

"Wheat, too, seems cheap. The estimated domestic yield is 693,000,000 bushels from 53,318,000 acres, and the condition is 82.3 per cent. Deducting duramen, the bread wheat crop may be 650,000,000 bushels, about domestic requirement, while the Canadian crop may be 100,000,000 bushels less than last year. The yield of oats may be 1,232,000,000 bushels, barley 160,000,000, rye 62,500,000. So higher prices for grain, even corn, too early yet to predict, are expected. Sugar has been deceiving. The output is larger than expected, chiefly because the cane sugar content in Cuba was exceedingly high. Prices declined further than expected because of hand-to-mouth buying, unemployment, liquidated holdings and increased supply. But sugar should advance shortly.

"The agricultural position of California seems to be one of shorter crops but higher prices, which may yield more money to farmers than last year. The average condition of thirteen leading crops is 73.4 per cent, compared with 86.4 in 1923, and an average for half-dozen years of 80. Foot-and-mouth disease is controlled, embargoes on shipments being raised, pessimism, which flattened business in May, turned to hope. Some wage reductions are reported; some suspended building operations are to be revived. You better not sell California short if you have regard for your pocketbook."

OUR MENTAL ATTITUDE

J. H. Tregoe, secretary-treasurer of the National Association of Credit Men, in a letter to members holds that a critical study of the business cycle reveals that the upward and downward movements as registered in the cycle are influenced by mental attitudes rather than material considerations. It reveals the gregariousness of human nature, how easy it is to create a panic when the cry of "wolf" is raised, how difficult it is for people to hold their heads and keep their feet when all around them others are running pell mell.

"It is a wise thing," says Mr. Tregoe, "for the business and credit executive to recognize this gregarious tendency when it presents itself. The ancient mariner cried for water with the sea all about him, and the skipper of the ship, according to the story, cried for water when his casks were empty at the mouth of the Amazon and all about him was water fit to drink.

"This thing of blowing hot and blowing cold is a human tendency that ought to be carefully reflected upon when we are getting into upward or downward strides. The forward thinking executive will test the water roundabout him and gauge the reality of conditions before joining in crowd movements.

STRAIGHT THINKING

"The mental attitude deserves careful reflection just now when business is hesitant, production and marketing falling off in face of the fact that we have never before enjoyed so much wealth. When fear gets into a crowd, when confidence diminishes, mass movement is accentuated. We ought not be led around by the nose or carried away by the furor of the crowd. We should think for ourselves, particularly should credit executives do so, for upon the manner of their thinking much rests. If they are able to stop within a little circle, the tendency of the crowd, if they can replace fear with confidence and move forward when others are tretreating, they will not have worked in vain and shall reap the benefits of clear thinking.

"The shrewd financier who bought securities when other people were selling and sold when other people were buying had the right idea. We cannot run over the annals of our business cycle without recognizing that just when stocks were being sacrificed and credits were suffering there should have been a firm movement resisting the tendency and a holding fast till the corner, generally not far off, was reached."

Wheat Prices Crumble Under Heavy Selling

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, June 27.—A temporary collapse hit the grain trade in the last fifteen minutes of the day, after an early bulge for July and September corn to the high point of the previous day and the high point on Thursday for December wheat. The break was the most severe since the upward movement in grain prices started and lasted but a few minutes. July corn dropped 6¼ cents, and at the close showed a loss of 2¾ cents for the day at 93¾@93½. September broke 4 cents in nearly as many minutes and made an almost complete recovery with a net loss of 1¾ cents for the day. White September lost only ¾ cent for the day. Net declines on wheat were 1⅛@1⅝c; oats, ⅛@½c, while rye finished 1⅛@1⅝c higher, after touching the best price of the season.

The break in wheat started on reports of late rains in the Northwest and the grain list ran into stop-loss selling in the last fifteen minutes of trading, which was too rapid to keep track of. The break was checked by buying on resting orders.

These wild markets show the need of the stabilizing influence of privileges. Were the latter permitted it is held there would be no such sodden advances and declines late in the day as have been recorded within the last week. They act as a balance wheel for the market, and it is generally believed the Capper-Tincher law should be changed so that privilege business can be renewed.

Higher cash prices were paid by mills here and in the Northwest, with No. 1 dark northern wheat at Minneapolis at 32 cents over the July, and shipping sales here of 45,000 bushels and export business at the seaboard 250,000 bushels Manitobas. July touched 1.16½ and finished 2 cents under that figure, while September was up to 1.18¼, with a finish of 1.16@1.16⅛.

Corn crop conditions were not improved and brought in a big wave of speculative buying that carried July to 96¾ and September to 95¾. All the bulge was lost in the late trading, the market apparently becoming overbought and prices reached a level where traders are more disposed to take profits. Farmers are selling but little corn, despite the high prices, and the cash market was 1 cent lower to 1 cent higher and the loss being on the lower grades, while No. 3 yellow sold at 1.00 and No. 3 white at 99½ cents. There were sales of 25,000 bushels to go to Memphis at 99¾ cents f.o.b. here and 75,000 bushels were known to have been bought by eastern distributors, while local sales were 75,000 bushels. Receipts, fifty-one cars.

A nervous market was on in oats, with a bulge around mid-day and a break at the last with July 53¾ at the close. Cash oats were scarce and ¼ cent higher, with No. 2 white at 58¾ and receipts of twenty-four cars.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Apparently the weakness in Julian Petroleum was fully discounted by the break on Thursday for the stock held satisfactorily in the trading yesterday on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange. The preferred even managed to crawl upward 1-2 point to 24½ after selling down to 23 1-4, while the common was not so fortunate, dropping 1-4 to 14 3-4.

Union Oil of California displayed considerable strength on a small volume of sales, rising 1 1-4 points to 129 1-4. Union Oil Associates climbed 1-4 to 56 5-8. United Oil was unchanged at 26 3-8 and United States Royalties advanced 1 cent to 11. Los Angeles Investment broke through 3.50, and finished at 3.48 for a net loss of 2 cents for the day.

In the mining list, Richmond Consolidated was the strong spot. Opening at 8 cents, the stock finished at 10, where it was up 2½ cents over the previous day. United Eastern sold at 48, Virginia Louise at 3½ and Tom Reed at 33 cents.

Petroleum bonds were popular. Associated Oil 6s of 1935 sold up 1-4 to 100 3-8, an advance which was duplicated by Union of California 6s of 1925 at 100 3-4. General Petroleum 7s of 1931 sold at 105.

FEAR SCHOONER LOST

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27.—Concern is felt here for the safety of the four-masted schooner Sir Thomas J. Lipton, which has not been spoken since she left Iquique, Chile, March 31, for the Columbia River. The voyage ordinarily requires sixty-five days. The Lipton has been out eighty-eight days. The schooner was in ballast to load lumber.

JULY CONTRACTS SINK UNDER SELLING WAVE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, June 27.—Heavy selling of July cotton contracts featured today's trading in futures on the local cotton exchange. Other options were depressed by the action of July on offerings by a prominent South Carolina spot house, which were believed to confirm reports of a private settlement arranged with the short interest in July. That position was carried about $3 a bale net lower before prominent spot interests stopped circulation of notices for 24,000 bales of cotton. Thereupon the market developed a better tone and rallied substantially, July recovering all but 20 points of its loss before the close and other months finishing 15 to 22 points net lower.

Spot cotton closed 25 points net lower at 30.25.

MARKET REVIEW

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, June 27.—The outstanding movement on today's financial markets was the accelerated decline in money rates, which brought the general rate for commercial paper fairly to the level of the 3 1-2 per cent reserve bank rediscount rate. This readjustment has been unusually rapid; the rate for merchants' paper was above the then existing rediscount charge when the bank rate came down from 4 1-2 to 4 per cent on April 30 and from 4 to 3 1-2 on the 11th inst. With Wall street time loans and bankers' acceptances now well below the present bank rate, it is not unnatural that discussion of a still lower rediscount figure should have begun.

The reserve banks are likely to move circumspectly in the matter, and it is still an open question whether a change in rediscount rate has any positive effect on the money situation. What the market shows is the extent to which the open market, under the peculiar existing circumstances, has broken away from the reserve bank's influence. It is not now primarily a question of reserve ratios or of reserve bank loans, but of an overflowing reserve in the member banks, created much as it used to be in prewar gold import movements of large proportions.

It was again the bond market which made the quickest response to these signs of still greater ease of money. Three of the Liberty loans, including the Fourth 4 1-4 per cent, went above the previous high price of their history and even the 3 1-2s, though not reaching a "high record" returned to the highest of the present year. Many home company bonds advanced again today, but the upward movement was again impressive in the foreign securities.

It is difficult to doubt that the present money market and the present bond market, if their existing movement continues, are setting the stage for important operations in new securities. The German loan will presumably be one of them, when the Dawes committee's plan is duly ratified. Whether the situation points to ultimate refunding operations in United States government bonds depends on the duration of present conditions. The essential point is that the existing position of bank reserves, money rates and American investment capital, extraordinary as it may appear to the casual observer, is absolutely in line with the logic of the economic situation and the international movement of capital and gold. It was the movement of 1923 away from world investment which was economically illogical.

On the stock market there was less uniformity of action today, with a fair proportion of declines. But many advances of a point or more occurred both in railway and industrial shares, and on the average prices ended measurably higher.

Prices Seek Higher Level

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

	Twenty industrials.	Twenty railroads.
Friday	94.84	86.70
Thursday	94.43	86.72
Week ago	93.67	85.33
High, 1924	101.24	86.72
Low, 1924	90.27	81.00

Total sales, 872,400 shares.

Stock prices continued to seek higher levels today despite profit-taking in the standard shares, which reached sufficient proportions in the late trading to give closing quotations an irregular appearance. Trading was again on a comprehensive scale with more than a dozen issues selling at new peak prices for the year, and total sales falling about 125,000 shares short of the 1,000,000 mark.

United States Steel common crossed par for the first time in six weeks despite widely published reports that operations of the corporation's plants were only about 50 per cent of capacity and those of the independents at about 40 per cent, but it cancelled its gain in the late realizing and closed unchanged at 99 3-4.

American Can dropped to 109 3-4 and then rallied to 112 1-4, a new high on the movement and a net gain of 2 points. Baldwin closed slightly higher at 114 3-4, while Studebaker showed a nominal loss at 33 3-4. The continued rise in railroad shares was construed as reflecting not only a large investment demand, but the withdrawal of large blocks of stocks from the market with a resultant decrease in floating supply. Among the carriers to sell at their best prices of the year were Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, Nickel Plate, Lehigh Valley and Chicago and Northwestern. New Haven, Southern Pacific, Reading and Great Northern preferred yielded moderately on profit-taking.

Savage Arms, American Express, International Harvester, Brooklyn Union Gas, General Electric, Schulte Stores, Interborough Rapid Transit and Burns Brothers Coal, all attained new 1024 top prices.

Trade news was again rather colorless in character.

Call money continued to rule at 2 per cent, although loans as low as 1½ were reported in the outside market. Time money showed signs of weakening with borrowers being unwilling to bid over 2½ per cent for loans up to two months and a few transactions were recorded at that figure, although the bulk of the shorter maturities moved at 2 3-4. Prime commercial paper ruled at 3 3-4 per cent.

Foreign exchange rates turned reactionary after a quiet and steady opening. The weakness originated in London and soon spread to this market, demand sterling falling more than a cent to around $4.32 and French francs ruling just above 5 1-4 cents. Brazilian exchange showed independent strength.

There are 5000 cacoa estates in Venezuela.

Oil Spouts Over Derrick of New Santa Fe Well

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FARMINGTON (N. M.) June 27. The Santa Fe Company brought in well No. 4 on the Rattlesnake structure yesterday afternoon and when the sand was penetrated the oil shot over the derrick. Preparations had been made to control the flow and confine it to the tanks. While no test has been made it is asserted that the No. 4 is fully as good as well No. 3, which now flows whenever the cocks are opened. The intention of the company is to go on down in this oil sand, a thing that has not been done in the other producing wells on this structure.

It is now known that pipe-line construction into Farmington from this structure will be made as soon as definite arrangements for connections at Hogback Dome can be made.

Live Stock in Arizona Waits on California

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, June 27. — The fat stock market of the Salt River Valley is far from active, mainly because of lack of a Coast market. Coast demands are being supplied by California cattle, to a degree forced on the market for immediate slaughter. Local feeders are waiting, impatiently, with a large supply of good stock, expected to be in keen demand within a month. Holding is expensive. Pasturage is around $3 a month per head and hay in the stack is held at $10 or more a ton. The latest sales of prime beefers were at $8 and $8.50, while cows have sold at $5 and $5.50 f.o.b. Arizona packers and outside town butchers have been handling much range beef, which is to be had in good condition. At Yuma practically all available cattle and sheep have been cleared from the fields, mainly shipped to Coast cities.

With hot weather has come suspension of shipments of range stock from Central and Southern Arizona. The last shipments were from Cochise and Gila county points to Colorado, Kansas and Montana. The last prices quoted were $23, $29, and $34 for 1, 2 and 3-year-olds.

What Has a Bond House to Sell?

Far more important than the securities themselves which a bond house sells its clients is the investment service that goes with the securities. The investor can buy practically the same bonds from any reputable bond house, but unless his purchase is accompanied by a service lasting until the maturity of the bonds, he is not getting all to which he is entitled.

Our service department has kept pace with the growth of our business and we are equipped to render an unexcelled investment service.

MATTEOTTI HONORED BY SILENT WORKERS

ITALIANS HALT DUTIES IN TRIBUTE TO MURDERED DEPUTY

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

ROME, June 27.—All workmen in Italy, irrespective of the parties to which they belong, including the Fascisti workers, stopped work from 10 o'clock to 10:20 this morning, remaining in perfect silence for that period as a tribute to the murdered Deputy Matteotti, and as a manifestation of protest against the crime.

The demonstration was not observable outside the factories and workshops, as the public utilities, such as the street cars, taxicabs and the like were kept in operation.

Simultaneously, groups of the parliamentary opposition, meeting separately in the Chamber of Deputies, definitely agreed on a resolution to be adopted at a plenary sitting of the opposition faction this afternoon. These groups observed silence for ten minutes as their tribute and protest.

The police and military took measures on a large scale so as to be able to cope with any disturbances.

SCIENTISTS SELECT GRUNSKY AS HEAD

BAY CITY ENGINEER IS ELECTED PRESIDENT OF PACIFIC DIVISION

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PALO ALTO, June 27. — C. E. Grunsky, San Francisco engineer, was today elected president of the Pacific division of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, which is holding its annual meeting at Stanford University. Dr. Joel H. Hildebrand, professor of chemistry at the University of California, was named vice-president, and Dr. Barton Warren Evermann, director of the Academy of Sciences in San Francisco, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Bernard Benfield, San Francisco, and Dr. Ernest G. Martin, Stanford University, were named to the executive committee.

The next meeting will be held in Oregon, either at the State University at Eugene or at Reed College, Portland. The exact place will be decided later. There are 355 scientists in attendance at the meeting.

AMERICAN TOURISTS VISIT GERMANY AGAIN

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

COBLENZ, June 27.—After leaving Germany out of their itineraries for a long time Americans are again putting in an appearance and the hotel registers now not infrequently show American names. Californians are among the number. Prices are still too high for the majority of people who do not have imperative business to call them here, but it is reported that there are bookings at the watering resorts and the season will not go by without some Americans, as was feared for awhile. However, the business situation in Germany is bad.

HEADS ORGANIZATION

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

WINS TITLE TO CITRUS RANCH

Law Suit Results in Large Verdict for Plaintiff

Tulare County Plums Demand Record Prices

Equipment for National Guard Company Arrives

WOODLAKE, June 27.—Judgment for $25,000 plus costs, attorney's fees, interest and title searching, amounting to a grand total of $26,976.39, was given J. E. Clifford, the "Cream of Wheat King," in the Superior Court of Judge W. B. Wallace at Visalia, against the Minnehaha Orchards Company, north of Woodlake. Mr. Clifford thus recovers title to 1000 acres of rich citrus lands which were partially brought into development under his ownership.

FREE MAIL DELIVERY

EXETER, June 27.—Arrangements have been made for starting delivery of mail in this city Tuesday morning, July 1. Only those residents who have taken the trouble to put numbers on their houses and to put up the required mail boxes will receive their mail at their homes.

PROFITABLE PLUMS

EXETER, June 27.—Reports from early plums shipped from Exeter indicate that this fruit, which is of a very high quality, is receiving a good price in the eastern markets. A car of Beauty plums, packed and shipped by the Rocky Hill Packing Company, sold in Chicago for $3025, average price per crate being $2.50. After all charges have been deducted this will net the grower about $120 per ton, which is an improvement on any price received by the growers for several years.

The crop in the State is reported to be small and quality of the local fruit is far above average, so these prices are expected to hold up.

FIRST OPEN FORUM

TULARE, June 27.—Indications point to a heavy attendance at the initial open forum meeting of the Tulare Board of Trade tonight. A number of members have signified their intention of being present, pointing to success of the venture. This meeting is open to the entire membership of more than 600.

Matters of vital interest to the community will form the basis for open discussion and opportunity will be given for suggestions.

TO ATTEND CONVENTION

VISALIA, June 27.—Fifteen members of the First Presbyterian Church Endeavor Society will represent Visalia at the State Christian Endeavor convention at San Jose. The party from here includes: Misses Anita Ralston, Viva King, Velma Keener, Melba Elder, Dorothy Hurst, Carrie Mollenhauer, Opal Watts and Ermine Martin, and Messrs. Robert Campbell, Carlyle Nelson, James Holmes, Norval Dice, Cal Noffsinger and Allan Chambers; Mrs. A. Watts, Rev. H. W. Tweedie and A. E. Mollenhauer.

EQUIPMENT FOR GUARD

VISALIA, June 27.—The first consignment of equipment for Company M, One Hundred and Eighty-fourth Infantry, California National Guard, has reached Visalia and the rest of the $40,000 worth of supplies is expected any day, according to Capt. Guy V. Buckmaster. This equipment includes mounted guns, medical stores and engineering supplies, according to invoices of the quartermaster in Fort Mason, San Francisco, who consigned the supplies to Visalia.

Uniforms, pistols and machine guns, with special accoutrements are expected to follow the original consignment.

The company will not undertake any study of the machine guns until following the summer encampment at Monterey.

SEES BRIGHT FUTURE

VISALIA, June 27.—"Nothing can and nothing will happen, so long as people keep faith, to undermine the prosperity of the San Joaquin Valley for any length of time," said Charles F. Stern, president of the Pacific Southwest Trust and Savings Bank, addressing the Visalia Kiwanis. He also stressed the opposition to the so-called "Water and Power Act" which will come before voters of the State again this fall. He urged the people to not become blinded by the unusual situations of this season in which it might appear that the power companies were unable to cope with conditions and the statements that the State should take over development of its water resources.

Accompanied by W. A. Sutherland of the Fresno branch of the Pacific-Southwest, Mr. Stern paid an unexpected visit to this city and was invited to attend the Kiwanis session.

Dallas H. Gray of Armona, candidate for Congress for this district, spoke on "The Relation of the Farmer to the Community."

TO RESTORE MISSION

Pastor at San Fernando Starts Campaign for Funds

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SAN FERNANDO, June 27.—Further restoration of the old Mission and of the historic Catholic church is contemplated by Rev. Father Siemes of the Mission who, today, announces that as administrator of the institution founded by the padres he is undertaking a campaign that promises to result in supplying the necessary funds. He is working out plans for the saving of the church, which is rapidly falling into decay, and says he has the promise from a good friend of the Mission for whatever money may be needed. The local lodge of Knights of Columbus is also interested in seeing that the work is done and plans a visit to the Los Angeles Council July 15 for the purpose of securing pledges of aid from that organization.

MILLIONS OF LEMONS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SAN FERNANDO, June 27.—To date the shipment of San Fernando lemons for the 1923-24 crop totals $97,500,000 specimens of the juicy fruit. In other words, the shipment figures 750 carloads. Each car consisted of 400 boxes, or 300,000 boxes in all. Each box accommodated 325 lemons. Laid end to end, the boxes required to carry this crop would reach a distance of 127 miles.

TREASURE UNEARTHED IN MEXICO

Workmen Discover Pesos Worth $25,000; Origin of Cache Undetermined

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TORREON (Mex.) June 27.—Laborers digging a well a short distance east of this city unearthed $25,000 in old pesos from a depth of several yards. It is not known whether this treasure was buried many years ago or during the fore part of the Madero revolution. The dates on the coins will no doubt give some idea as to when it was hidden, but they have not yet been deciphered.

There is every reason to believe that considerable wealth was buried in this country between 1910 and 1920. Some by wealthy people who were unable to get it out of the country, and some by revolutionary leaders or bandits who made rich hauls and were forced to bury the loot to await an opportune time to return for it, and were afterward killed, their secrets dying with them.

Revolt Leader of Villa Force Taken Captive

BY JACK STARR-HUNT

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, June 27.—Manuel Chao, a professional revolutionist and leader of the northern Villa insurgents, has been captured by Federal forces near Parral, State of Chihuahua, according to an official telegram from Parral.

Chao was an insurgent leader in the Costa Rico revolt of 1919 and has been a Central American and Mexican rebel most of his life.

NEW CITIZENS HELP CELEBRATE HOLIDAY

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, June 27.—An Americanization meeting at which eighty-four new American citizens who have been granted final naturalization papers since last July will be a feature of the Fourth of July celebration in Long Beach. The meeting will be held at 10 o'clock on the morning of the national holiday in the Municipal Auditorium. Gov. Friend W. Richardson, who makes his summer home in Long Beach, will be a guest of honor.

Prominent among those who will participate will be State Senator Joseph Rominger; Speaker of the Assembly Frank F. Merriam; H. F. Brunmester, president of the Chamber of Commerce; James F. Collins, State Commander of the American Legion, and others.

AIR MEN LEAVE FOR MANEUVERS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, June 27.—Two squadrons of seaplanes, one consisting of seven H-16 coastal planes commanded by Capt. Stanford E. Moses, and the other of six Vought planes, commanded by Commander Nathan Chase, took off from North Island this morning, bound for Sand Point, Wash. Several stops will be made en route for refueling.

From July 6 to September 15 the fleet air force aviators are scheduled to engage in operations with the battleships and destroyers, now en route to Puget Sound for two months' maneuvers.

NO WATER SHORTAGE

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

INGLEWOOD, June 27.—Notwithstanding the dry season, desert cattle were never fatter or in better condition, according to Mrs. P. Stanley George of this city. Mrs. George has just returned from a sojourn with her brother, H. C. Keene, prosperous cattleman of Blythe. She said, further, that the water level in desert wells and springs seems to be unaffected by the drought, being as high as usual.

TEACHER ENDS LIFE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, June 27.—Miss Mary Boylan, formerly a teacher in the San Francisco schools, committed suicide by shooting herself with a shotgun, it was disclosed this morning when her body was found in some underbrush in the foothills near the willows.

She had been under the care of specialists for a nervous breakdown and disappeared nine days ago. Search had been made for her daily since that time. She was 48 years of age.

Re-Discovery of Primitive Methods

Mausoleum Sepulture Merely an Adaptation of Ancient "Natural" Way of Disposing of the Dead

Development of the two beautiful "Chaste Temples" of the California Mausoleum Co., at Hollywood and Inglewood Cemeteries, is an interesting illustration of the rebirth and adaptation of old and well-nigh forgotten ideas. For ages past in Egypt, India, Persia and China—as in most Oriental countries—respect for the dead, as well as an understanding of "natural" methods, has led to entombment of the bodies of loved ones who have passed away—instead of burial with its horrors, as well as positive danger to the living.

Under entombment the body gradually desiccates and fades away—goes back naturally to the elements of which it is composed. And these chaste Mausoleums, of granite, reinforced concrete and marble are so constructed, by a unique method of ventilation to each individual crypt, that all of the advantages and none of the disadvantages of entombment are availed of. The cathedral atmosphere of the beautiful shrine-like buildings is utterly sweet, fresh and wholesome. No one could wish for a more fitting or more dignified resting-place for his loved ones, or a truer or more enduring memorial to the integrity of his loving care.

Carefully illustrated booklets giving full details of the company's buildings and methods may be had by telephoning its Offices, MAin 1534, or calling at 306 Harris Bldg., 110 West 11th St. The Mausoleums are open to visitors from 9 A.M. to 5 P.M. daily.—[Advertisement.

THE WEATHER

[Official Report]

LOCAL OFFICE, U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, June 27.—[Reported by H. B. Hersey, Meteorologist.] At 5 o'clock a.m. the barometer registered 29.94; at 5 p.m., 29.94. Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 63 deg. and 74 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 87 per cent; 5 p.m., 57 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., southeast, velocity 2 miles; 5 p.m., west, velocity 8 miles. Temperature, highest, 83 deg.; lowest, 61 deg. Rainfall for season, 6.67 inches; last season to date, 9.59 inches. Barometer reduced to sea level.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.—Local showers and occasional thunderstorms occurred yesterday in Missouri, Iowa and South Dakota. The rainfall was generally light, but thunderstorms in some localities were accompanied by heavy rain. The greatest amount of rainfall reported was 2.98 inches at Kansas City. It was rather warm in the North Atlantic States and in Tennessee and the Lower Mississippi Valley, but seasonable temperature was reported generally elsewhere. In Southern California clear, moderately warm weather prevailed Thursday, and it was clear yesterday morning, except on the immediate coast, where fog or clouds were reported at most stations. Clear, warm weather may be expected in this vicinity today, with northerly winds and low humidity. These conditions increase the danger of forest fires, and the greatest care should be exercised to prevent them.

SUN, MOON AND TIDES.—Los Angeles, June 28: Sun rises 4:44 a.m., sets 7:08 p.m. Moon rises 2:26 a.m., sets 4:19 p.m. Los Angeles Harbor, June 28: High tides, 7:40 a.m. and 7:06 p.m.; low tides, 1:45 a.m. and 12:46 p.m.

LOCAL TEMPERATURES.—Minimum and maximum temperatures from Southern California points, reported yesterday to the Los Angeles office of the U. S. Weather Bureau, were as follows:

STUDY HERE PRELUDE TO TUT FILMING

Photographer of Museum to Learn Studio Methods for Picturing Tomb

Methods of interior lighting in local film studios will be studied by a representative of the Metropolitan Museum of New York so that the best results may be obtained by photographers who will record for history the beauty and artistry of the tomb of King Tut-Ankh-Amen at Luxor, Egypt.

H. Burton of Florence, Italy, representing the museum, will arrive today on the Golden State Limited for a visit to local studios. While here he will familiarize himself with lighting problems involved in interior photography and with the most modern lighting equipment.

The films to be taken by the museum's photographers are to be deposited as a historical record of the remarkable discovery. They will include minute details of all interior and subterranean vaults of the tomb which are not touched by even the faintest reflection of sunlight. Some of the pictures are to be colored and expert artists will be assigned to work on the films. The museum, it is reported, will spend a large sum on the photographs.

Mr. Burton, who is accompanied by his wife, is a student of the ancient arts and has specialised in photography as applied to recording treasures of antiquity.

TRAFFIC MEN MEET

Seventy-four Attend Passenger Association Conference

Seventy-four rail and water transportation officials and agents attended the meeting of the Southern California Passenger Association yesterday noon at the Bull Pen Inn.

F. S. McGinnis, assistant passenger traffic manager of the Southern Pacific, made the principal talk, taking up problems of passenger traffic. H. R. Bulle of the Grand Trunk Railway, president of the association, introduced Carl Sundberg, who presided. W. Irving Way of Topeka, and M. M. Goodall of St. Paul, were guests. Jimmy Adams, Christie Studios comedian, furnished entertainment.

Allen T. Smith, secretary of the association, announced that the local group is now one of the largest in the country. He also outlined plans for a ten-day summer jaunt to San Diego.

ROBBERY CASE RETRIED

Suspect Before Court Second Time on Bank Theft Charge

George A. McBride, charged with the robbery, January 28, last, of the Pacific Southwest Trust and Savings Bank branch at 1501 West Pico street, went on trial for the second time yesterday in Judge Collier's court. A jury that heard the testimony in a previous trial failed to reach an agreement and was discharged by Judge Monroe, who ordered the case transferred to Judge Collier's department for further proceedings. McBride is asserted to have held up John Y. Elwood, an employee of the bank, and to have fled with $1500 in currency.

VALLEY BANQUET AIRS AIMS

Officials and Citizens of San Fernando District and City Get Together to Plan Future

Reports on the progress of major development projects in the San Fernando Valley were made last night at the initial banquet of the Greater San Fernando Valley Association at the Alexandria. It was an enthusiastic gathering of more than 700 persons, city officials of Los Angeles, officials of San Fernando Valley, officers of various commercial and civic organizations and representative citizens of Los Angeles and San Fernando Valley.

Heading the Los Angeles group was Mayor Cryer. H. H. Merrick of the Greater Los Angeles Association, presiding as toastmaster, presented A. Z. Taft, president of the new valley organization, as the first speaker of the occasion. Mr. Taft began by reviewing the aims and objects of the organization.

"It is not so much because of our agricultural needs and developments that we have organized," he said, "but it is a realization of the fact that the San Fernando Valley is really a part of Los Angeles. We are now confronted with the necessity of putting through various projects, such as new streets and boulevards, stores and other public utilities. It is for the purpose of working out these problems along logical and intelligent lines that we have organized."

Mr. Taft declared that the San Fernando Valley will build in a manner that will redound not only to the advantage of the valley, but to the city of Los Angeles as well.

CRYER SOUNDS NOTE

Applause greeted Mayor Cryer, the next speaker. The Mayor reviewed the growth of Los Angeles and declared that the destiny of this city is assured. It is to be, he said, a greater metropolis than we have dreamed of, largely because of cheap light, water, power and satisfactory labor conditions. He urged that th city keep abreast of the times and prepare for a greater population by building more and wider highways and by bringing industries here. In conclusion the Mayor urged that all proposed public projects of the valley be built now wherever possible.

Greetings to the new organization from the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce were extended by R. W. Pridham, first vice-president of the chamber. Mr. Pridham told of a contemplated industrial survey of the valley so that each community in it will know its po-

MARIE AND KENNETH TO GO TO ALTAR

Miss Prevost and Harlan, Picture Stars, Will Wed Here in October

Marie Prevost and Kenneth Harlan, both well known to the motion-picture world, will be married in Los Angeles in October. A telegram to that effect was received here yesterday from Harlan, now in New York. Its contents were verified by Miss Prevost at her studio in Hollywood.

The definite announcement of the wedding bears out rumors of the picture-star romance that have been persistent for some time. The marriage will be the second adventure in matrimony for both of the principals. The secret marriage of Marie Prevost to H. C. Gerke, popularly known as "Sonny," was revealed recently when divorce proceedings were instituted, ending their two-year relationship.

GAY BALL AT UPLIFTERS

Georgeous Setting for Beautifully Costumed Dancers at Junior Bachelors' Annual Affair

BY JUANA NEAD LEVY

Artistic in its settings of canyon and mountain flowers the Uplifters' clubhouse was the scene last evening of one of the loveliest affairs of the year when the Junior Bachelors entertained their many friends with their annual fancy dress dinner-dance. The clubhouse, which simulates an old Spanish hacienda, is picturesque amid the flowering shrubs and vines with a riot of color in its wild flowers.

The decorations were carried out in poppies, gladioli and garden flowers, the dining-room being set with small tables so the guests could indulge in dancing between the courses.

The "Junior Bachelors" have followed in the footsteps of their elder brothers, "The Bachelors," with the exception of giving their annual fancy dress ball in the middle of the summer rather than at the close of the winter season.

GUESTS AND PATRONS

Assisting the young gallants last evening as patronesses were Mrs. John T. Donnell, Mrs. J. Shurman Farrow, Mrs. William M. White, Mrs. L. D. Godshall, Mrs. Joseph Du Boise Simpson, Mrs. Edward G. Marlow, Mrs. Ethel Todd Kennedy, Mrs. Donald P. Smith, Mrs. E. L. Lewis, Mrs. Arthur P. Huntington, Mrs. George W. May, Mrs. William Eric Fowler, Mrs. G. J. Wilson, Mrs. Chester Wallace Brown and Mrs. Delia B. Morris.

Among those included in the evening's invitations were Misses Charlotte Darling, Mildred Sexsmith, Helen Ferguson, Lucy Chase, Alice Darling, Emily White, Glory Kennedy, Marjorie Hamlin, Sheila Garaughty, Ruth Driner, Frances Pitcher, Dorothy Duckies, Elizabeth Mulvane, Wilma Cavanaugh, Mary Grigsby, Alice Warmbath, Betty Brown, Louise Loftus, Rosemary Hancock, Virginia Laswell, Fern Carter, Jean Luton, Dorothy Hallett, Virginia Robinson, June Hale, Ruth Kennedy, Mary Florie, Marguerite Ramsey, Janet Morris, Delores Whiffen, Harriet Andrews, Billie Van Mourick, Marie Marlow, Lubelle Northcotte, Charlotte Metcalf, Dorothy Henry, Martha Sterricke, Marie Crismon, Catherine Spangler, Virginia Martin, Norma Collins, Elenor Pew, Marjorie Rankin, Camille Crocker, Vivian Vance, Dixie Fassell, Barbara Bradt, Corrine Hardwick, Effie MacNamie, Frances Johnson, Consuela Baker, Prudence Castel, Dorothy Phair, Mrs. John Carroll Baldwin, Mrs. Sterling Tipton, Mrs. Cecil May and Mrs. Thomas Brown Richardson.

WIFE TELLS OF EXTORTION PLOT

Mrs. George L. Shanks Names Woman Detective

Charges Also Are Filed on Head of Agency

Says Car Taken from Her by Scandal Threat

When George L. Shanks, a wealthy metal products dealer, returned from an eastern business trip a few days ago and missed his automobile, his wife told him she had been compelled to give it away to prevent the circulation of scandalous tales about her.

Such was the story that Mr. and Mrs. Shanks told Acting District-Attorney Fitts yesterday afternoon, and upon which charges of extortion and conspiracy were filed against Albert B. Betts, head of a large private detective patrol, and Mrs. Rita Clark-Alexander, an attractive woman detective.

Betts and Mrs. Clark-Alexander were taken to the District Attorney's office late yesterday afternoon. They were arrested by Detectives Reimer and Smith of the District Attorney's office, and later held on cash bonds of $1500 each.

TELLS EXTORTION STORY

Shanks is president of the Jamestown Metal Products Company and resides at 751 Windsor street. His young and pretty wife appeared at the Hall of Records with him to tell her version of the asserted extortion. The story of the extortion, as told to Acting District-Attorney Fitts by Mrs. Shanks was as follows:

Mr. Shanks left for the East on a business trip last February. Before departing, he engaged the Nick Harris Police Patrol to guard his home during his absence. Mrs. Shanks remained at the Los Angeles address during her husband's absence.

Betts was visiting with the head of the rival police patrol when he is said to have overheard information that the rival police patrol had been hired to watch the movements of Mrs. Shanks, and not the Shanks residence. Mrs. Clarke-Alexander was employed by Betts at the time and, according to the story, obtained the information from him.

WOMAN GETS AUTO

"On the following day," Betts said last night, "Mrs. Clark-Alexander, who was then Mrs. Clark, appeared at my office with a fine new automobile. I asked where she had obtained it and she told me she got it from Mrs. Shanks, and that she was to get $300 more. I told her she had to return it, and she replied that she had bought it and could produce a witness to prove she had bought it."

The story as told by Mrs. Shanks to Detectives Smith and Reimer differs from that of Betts. According to the investigators, Betts is suspected of having engineered the asserted extortion. The version, as told by Mrs. Shanks is—

That Mrs. Clark-Alexander appeared at Mrs. Shanks's home last February.

"I know of your escapades, Mrs. Shanks," the woman detective is said to have told Mrs. Shanks, "and I'm going to tell your husband. I'm going to wire him tonight. I want $500."

"I told her I did not have that much cash," Mrs. Shanks told the authorities. "But I told her I had a Kissel automobile valued at $1100. She took the automobile and I went with her to the motor vehicle department and possession of the car was transferred to her."

TELLS HER HUSBAND

Then, about a week ago, Mr. Shanks returned from the East. He missed his automobile and repeatedly asked where it was. Mrs. Shanks, on last Monday, finally told her husband the story she told

THINKS SON DID RIGHT TO SHOOT HIM

Martin Exonerates Boy; Episode Seen as Possible Way to Reconciliation

Charles Martin, 50 years of age, lying in the Redondo-Hermosa Hospital with a serious bullet wound in his left shoulder, took all the blame on himself yesterday for the act of his 12-year-old son Pat, in shooting him.

"I was rough; I deserve to be shot," he told questioners.

Thursday, according to Deputy Sheriff Wright, who investigated, the husband and wife met in a lawyer's office to settle their differences, and Thursday night Martin went to his wife's home, at 3432 Palm Drive, Redondo. They quarreled on the lawn and Martin is asserted to have caught his wife by the shoulder and threatened to kill her.

"Don't hurt mother, Dad, God will punish you for that," their son called out but the quarreling pair paid no attention. Then the boy ran in the house and got his mother's revolver, intending, he said, to frighten his father. He said, and Mrs. Martin confirmed, that she had previously told him the weapon was not loaded. He pointed it and pulled the trigger and Martin fell.

Deputy Sheriff Wright questioned the boy and his mother yesterday and released them. They went to the hospital where the wounded man lay and remained at his beside. It was believed the shooting was likely to lead, if Martin survives, to a reconciliation.

Martin is a glass worker and was instrumental, it was said, in bringing a glass factory to Redondo Beach.

ARIZONAN ARRESTED

Felony Suspect Is Taken Here in Company of Woman

Myle Wagner and Sarah Higgins were arrested yesterday in an apartment on Griffith avenue by Deputy Sheriffs Fox, Shultz and Luker, the former at the request of authorities at San Bernardino, the latter held as a witness.

A telegram from Sheriff Shea said Wagner was wanted on a felony charge and that he had deserted a wife and children at Seligman, Ariz. No further details were given.

RUM RUNNERS ARE CAPTURED

Cargo of Liquor Vessel is Seized Near Balboa

Five Men and Three Autos Taken by Officers

Coup Follows Week's Vigil Near Lonely Cove

Surprising a gang of rum runners who had just finished unloading a cargo of liquor from a schooner on the lonely beach of Irvine Cove, five miles south of Balboa, early yesterday, customs men of Los Angeles Harbor arrested five men, seized liquor valued at $12,000 and three automobiles worth $11,000 the officers reported.

The catch, according to Capt. Robert F. Martin, who with two assistants conducted the seizure, came after a week's vigil at the lonely spot, which is reached only by comparatively unknown mountain trails.

LIGHTS ARE SIGNALS

Appearance of an automobile at the head of the canyon where the customs men were hiding, Capt. Martin said, was the first intimation of the arrival of the rum runners. This machine was followed, he said, by two others.

Signals with automobile headlights, flashed to the small craft offshore with lights doused, followed. An hour later the first boatload of liquor was said to have been brought ashore. After several hours' work, Capt. Martin said, 100 cases of fancy whisky and liquors and 104 gallons of grain alcohol were transferred from the beach to the three automobiles.

At that juncture, Capt. Martin said, he and his assistants appeared and commanded the five men to alight from the machines. After disarming their prisoners, with the aid of two Orange county deputy sheriffs, the customs officers took into custody the following: George Wilbur, Hotel Commodore; Charles J. Raymond, 4423 Metter street; Dave Harsey, 961 Burnside Drive; James C. Craig, 151 West Twenty-third street, and M. J. Mohr, 1526 Van Ness avenue.

RELEASED ON BAIL

Arraigned before United States Commissioner Long yesterday on charges of smuggling contraband, the five men produced $2500 bail each and were released pending trial on July 26.

The schooner escaped to sea after the arrests were made, Capt. Martin reported. Chase was not possible because of lack of facilities, he said.

Investigation revealed, according to Capt. Martin, that the liquor seized was the first of a series of regular consignments which were to have been landed at the lonely cove within the next month.

MORBID GRAB MORGUE BARGAINS

Scented Love Notes Bring Twenty Cents; Pistol That "Worked Once Anyway," Thirty-five; Watch, Which Marked Hour Owner Died Sold for Dime

It was bargain day for the morbid yesterday.

On the Courthouse steps the County Coroner, by due process of law, offered to "who will buy" the trivial possessions left by the unclaimed dead.

"Here you are, folks, a packet of heliotrope-scented love notes, unsigned, a leather purse and three cents. What am I offered?" the Coroner cried.

Three cents," shrewdly bid a boy on the outskirts of the little group of attendants.

"Fifteen cents," offered a trim young girl.

"Twenty," bid a stout Mexican woman. The bidding stopped.

SOLD FOR TWENTY CENTS

"Twenty I'm bid. Who'll offer me twenty-five? A quarter for the lot. Does no one offer twenty-five cents?" the Coroner cried. "Twenty-five once; twenty-five twice; twenty-five three times and sold to the lady for twenty cents."

A revolver—"it worked once, anyway," someone remarked—brought 35 cents. A fountain pen 15 cents. A nickel watch, whose hands still mutely pointed to the minute at which its owner slipped the chains of time, brought only 10 cents. Its crystal was broken and its back was dented.

MANUSCRIPT SCORNED

A manuscript of a play no one wanted, even at this market.

Rings, brooches and other small pieces of jewelry found ready buyers, and the bidding mounted briskly to 95 cents when a substantial traveling bag was put up.

In all, the Coroner's collection o fmementos of the lonely dead brought $32. The buyers had been assembled by the advertising of the sale once each week for thirty days preceding, in accordance with the provisions of the law.

NAVY PLANES IN COASTAL FLIGHT

Six Stop Here en Route from San Diego to North

Squadron Makes Port San Luis Without a Hitch

Expected at Destination in Puget Sound July 6

Six naval seaplanes hopped off from Los Angeles Harbor at noon yesterday en route from San Diego to Puget Sound on a flight that is said to be the first of its kind on the Pacific Coast.

The squadron is in command of Capt. Stanford E. Moses. It arrived at the harbor at 10 a.m., after taking two hours to make the flight from San Diego. A radiogram was received at the base force headquarters at the harbor at 3:30 p.m. reporting the arrival of the squadron at Port San Luis. The planes were expected to arrive at San Francisco by nightfall. They are due at Puget Sound July 6.

Known in naval circles as a forced flight, the trip is expected to prove valuable to determine the effectiveness of seaplanes under war conditions. The planes will be supplied at various points en route by naval vessels which are engaging in maneuvers.

The flight as far as Port San Luis, the radio message stated, was made under perfect conditions.

The planes will remain in the vicinity of Puget Sound for the remainder of the summer.

Miss Harriet Andrews was a lady of the period of 1861 in quaint old-fashioned costume of flured silk with stripes of black velvet, the round bodice with wide lace bertha and black velvet ribbons over the shoulders. A coronet of flowers was worn as head-dress and she carried a lace fan.

SPANISH MAJORITY

Mrs. John Carroll Baldwin was an Arabian lady with gay plaided costume, bracelets and antique head-dress, and numerous strands of beads and ankle bracelets.

Miss Marjorie Hamlin was a Spanish lady with rich hand-embroidered shawl forming the bodice and drape of her costume.

Miss Dorothy Henry in white and black, was the Pierrette dancer.

Miss Mildred Sexsmith, in dainty white organdie with many ruffles, was the Baby Doll, a huge bow of satin ribbons tying her hair.

Miss Ruth Kennedy represented a Dutch girl in white and blue costume with bodice of black and her hair tied with blue ribbons.

Miss Marie Marlow was a dainty Chinese maiden with gown of blue satin heavily embroidered and a head-dress which had an ornament over each ear finished with a long silk tassel.

Miss Camilla Crocker appeared as a Spanish dancer in cerise, silver and white with great ruffled skirt of black lace. A high tortoise-shell comb was worn in her hair with yellow roses, and many bracelets on her arms.

Miss Frances Johnson was a Russian lady in costume of silver and blue.

Miss Virginia Laswell, in pale blue and white, was a dainty little girl doll.

Miss Janet Morris wore an oriental costume with bright colors and black.

Miss Peggy Edmonds wore a Spanish costume.

Miss Emily Canter as a maiden of 1860 wore blue satin and white with black velvet ribbons and flowers.

Miss Rosemary Hancock was exquisite as a dainty French maid in pale gray taffeta with lace apron and cap.

Miss Lubelle Northcote in blue brocaded satin was a Chinese maiden.

DAMES AND GIRLS

Miss Frances Pitcher in peach-colored brocade, with fine mull tuckings represented a Colonial damsel, and Miss Marian Russell was a Spanish dame with embroidered shawl and spangled net, high comb and bright red roses in her hair.

Miss Dorothy Thayer wore pink taffeta with dainty hat and fan.

Miss Alice Warmbath was a grande dame of the fifteenth century in full skirt of fancy gold brocade with white wig and hat set on the side. She carried an exquisite fan and wore a gold lace scarf.

Miss Virginia Martin wore a Hula Hula costume of raffia with yellow bodice and bright yellow flowers in her hair.

Miss Consuela Baker was lovely in evening costume, and Miss Marjorie Rankin also wore an exquisite evening gown, coming out to the dance after her graduation.

Miss Charlotte Darking was a Spanish Gypsy and Miss Glory Kennedy was a pirate in black satin with blue satin facings, while her house guest, Miss Eleanor Pew, was a Spanish dancer, as was also Miss Hortense Van Mourick.

Miss Emily White in French blue gingham frock with hand embroideries was a little girl. A blue ribbon bow was tied on her hair and she wore socks and Mary Janes and carried her Teddy Bear.

A TALE OF TUNNEL TERROR

They Thought the New Hall of Justice Tube Doomed to Be Built by Second Street Snail and Prepared for Worst—But Fears Are Set at Rest

Wild rumors giving rise to apprehension that the public might suffer further great inconvenience over the prolonged construction of another tunnel project in the city were set at rest yesterday by members of the Board of Supervisors who laughingly denied that the new tunnel connecting the Hall of Records and the new Hall of Justice will be built by the builders of the notorious Second-street bore.

The sidewalk along the Broadway side of the Hall of Records and the Court House has been fenced off and work on the connecting tunnel, which is to be built along this line, has been commenced. A near riot broke out in front of the Hall of Records when a workman carelessly let drop the word that another tunnel was to be built so close to the Second-street affair.

Supervisor Wright quelled fears of inquiries by merely saying, "No, the contract for the work has not been let to the contractors for the Second-street tunnel."

Supervisor "Jack" Bean, who is running for re-election, seized the opportunity to say that the tunnel will be built in jig time. It will be ten feet high and twelve feet wide. It will carry steam and electric lines from the old building to the new and also will be used as a connecting corridor to bring prisoners from the new County Jail on the upper floors of the new building to and from the courtrooms. By building the tunnel the expense of constructing a light and heating plant in the new building is saved.

SECOND TAR PARTY ARREST

Another Asserted Member of Band Which Mobbed Wobblies Arrested at Harbor

A second member of the tar-and-feather party which wrecked the I.W.W. at Los Angeles Harbor about two weeks ago and subjected six Wobblies to a coating of tar-and-feathers has been apprehended, police said yesterday. The suspect is T. Wilson, 35 years of age, of 1932 Mesa street, San Pedro.

Wilson was arrested at the harbor by one of his asserted victims, T. J. Sullivan, radical agitator who was one of the six Wobblies tarred and feathered at Santa Ana Canyon after the raid on the I.W.W. Hall.

Sullivan saw Wilson on the street and immediately pounced on him. He forced him to go to the harbor station and there turned him over to police.

A few days ago G. P. Thompson, 21 years of age, was arrested by police and Sullivan and another I.W.W. agitator declared he was the leader of the mob which wrecked the hall and also the leader of the group which subjected six Wobblies to the tar-and-feather bath.

It was also announced yesterday that the entire affair will be laid before the grand jury next Thursday by Dist.-Atty. Keyes for a full investigation.

CITY ENGINEER GETS HELP

Council Orders Contracts for Nineteen Deputies to Speed Up Street Improvements

Instruction to draw up contracts for the employment of nineteen outside engineers and engineering firms as deputies of the City Engineer's office, to assist in the preparations of plans and specifications for the improvement of twenty-two streets, were issued by City Council yesterday to City Attorney Stephens.

City Engineer Griffin has an accumulation of detail, authorized by property owners, which has grown so much faster than the ability of his standing staff to care for it that the total now amounts to more than $50,000,000 and is daily growing. Today's action by the Council, the first step toward clearing it away, will care for projects representing an expenditure of about $254,000. The list of streets named in the instructions follows:

Avenue 33 and Carlyle street; Baxter, from Alvarado to Allesandro; Clifton, from the alley north of Montecito to Montecito street; Echandia and Rinehart streets; Elm, from Cypress to San Fernando Boulevard; Emmett Terrace and Las Palmas avenue; Fifteenth, from Dewey to Normandie avenue; Gabriel and Effie street; Gaffey and Fourth streets; Glen Towers street, from Beachwood Drive to 393 feet west; Indiana, from First to Whittier; Inez, from 1245 feet east of Concord street to Ezra; Jennie Bell avenue and Lomitas Drive; Laclede avenue, from Parkdale avenue to Verdant; Landa and Whitmore avenue; Whitmore avenue and Alvarado street; Macy, from Gallardo to Keller; Saratoga, from Brooklyn avenue to Michigan; Terry Place, from Johnson to easterly terminus; Toledo and Weaver streets.

WIFE TELLS OF EXTORTION PLOT

Acting District Attorney Fitts yesterday.

Attorney H. L. Geisler, representing Mrs. Clark-Alexander, stated that if his client has told him the truth she has committed no crime; that the obtaining of the automobile was accomplished through a legitimate business deal.

"I am innocent of any wrongdoing," Mrs. Clark-Alexander said. "A big mistake has been committeed somewhere and the truth will be learned at the proper time."

During the interrogation of the principals it was learned that Betts is now awaiting trial in Police Court on a charge of disturbing the peace. He was arrested a few weeks ago on a complaint filed by Mrs. Clark-Alexander, who told the officers that Betts had invaded her apartment one night by smashing down her door.

Frederickson Is Out for Post on Superior Bench

Police Judge William Frederickson, who has served on the Police Court bench of Los Angeles for eighteen years, has decided to become a candidate for election to the Superior Court, and will be on the ballot at the August primaries. Many individuals and organizations have promised him support.

He has resided in Los Angeles city for more than twenty-five years, having come immediately after the Spanish-American War, during which he served in Cuba as a member of the First Illinois Volunteers. He was educated in the public schools of Champaign, Ill., afterward attending the University of Illinois. He practiced law in Kansas City and Chicago. Here he has been a reporter, deputy City Attorney and frequently re-elected police judge. He is married and has three children in the Hollywood High School. He lives at 1622 Curson avenue, Hollywood.

MINNESOTANS TO GATHER

Minnesotans will conduct a patriotic rally Wednesday evening at Music Arts Hall, 233 South Broadway. Community singing of national songs will be a feature. Dancing will follow the program.

STATE DAYLIGHT SAVING IS URGED

the Mayor and Council, however, was made conditional upon adoption of daylight saving by the Orange county communities.

CANVASS BEING MADE

The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce is now making a canvass of sentiment throughout California as expressed by other chambers on this subject, and its attitude probably will be governed by the reports received from other towns. The local chamber takes the ground that only confusion would result from checker-board adoption of daylight saving.

Earl C. Anthony yesterday in a letter urged the Chamber of Commerce to advocate daylight saving and offered co-operation of his radio station in educating the public on the urgency of such measures.

The co-operation area in Southern California in the emergency that threatens crops and pay rolls is growing in an ever-widening circle. The committee handling the campaign in Orange county yesterday paid a visit to Supervisor Guillou of the Railroad Commission to receive instructions and to assure him of the hearty co-operation of their territory.

FARM BUREAU ACTS

The Farm Bureau committee of Orange county has adopted the following recommendations:

"That bean and beet irrigation cease completely after July 10.

"That irrigation of the clover crop cease immediately.

"That citrus, alfalfa and such growers increase to the limit the interval between irrigations.

"That poultrymen using electric brooders and incubators cut down their operations 30 per cent as soon as the chicks now in the process of hatching are mature.

"The elimination of all lights not absolutely essential, such as yard and porch lights.

"That city dwellers conserve water by eliminating useless lawn sprinkling, car washing and other extravagant uses of water, as the city water is electrically pumped.

"That all ornamental watering, such as of fountains, be eliminated.

"That temporary pipe and ditch connection be made so that gas and gasoline-driven pumps may be worked for twenty-four hours daily.

"That all sign and show-window lighting be eliminated, as well as every other electrical use not absolutely essential.

"That individual power switches be pulled instead of circuit switches by the Southern California Edison Company."

STEAM IS INSTALLED

Many evidences of support for the plan to cut down the consumption of light and power are being received by the Edison company and the State Railroad Commission.

The Pacific Fruit Company at Colton sent word beginning yesterday its consumption had been cut 25 per cent, taking off 465 horsepower.

Fontana Light and Water Company of Fontana notified the commission that it is installing steam power for its own generators in order to comply with the 25 per cent reduction ordered.

The Richfield Oil Company announced that it was putting in a steam plant at its new refinery in Hynes, which will supply 600 kilowatts and that within ten days it will have some surplus to turn over to the general pooling of power.

The Standard Oil Company, through J. E. Balsley, general sales manager, notified the Edison company that at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon all of its scores of service station in Southern California were reduced to the required 500 watts each.

CARS REROUTED

Rerouting of three street-car lines necessitated by the conservation program was announced yesterday by the Los Angeles Railway Company. Beginning next week alternate cars on line "N" will be turned back at Ninth and Vermont, the remainder to run through to the west terminus of the line.

Service on lines "T" and "C" will be combined. No cars will be run over the grades of Angeleno Heights from Temple and Hill to Edgeware and Bellevue. Shuttle cars, however, will be operated from Edgeware and Bellevue to Kensington street, the company stated.

Line "C" cars will operate over Temple street from Hill to Belmont and service on Temple between Spring and Broadway will be discontinued except the Temple Street Owl cars, which will follow the regular route from the postoffice to Fountain and Edgemont.

This combination, the company points out, will relieve the light one-man safety cars now used on Temple street for use as shuttles on the terminal ends of main lines.

STORES MAKE CUT

Announcement was made to Acting Power Supervisor Guillou by the Dry Goods Association that immediate action will be taken by the organization to entirely eliminate sign display lighting, both on the inside and outside of buildings. The organization will also curtail street-window and show-case lighting 50 per cent and effect a 25 per cent cut in all interior illumination. A power supervisor has been appointed by the association, who will rigidly enforce the emergency measures, Supervisor Guillou was advised.

Eugene C. Mitchell, secretary of the Retail Furniture Association of California; William Francis Ireland, secretary of the Southern California Wholesale and Retail Bakers' Association, and A. G. Furqueharson, secretary of the Music and Radio Trade Association, discussed with the supervisor a conservation program. Details of the cut were turned over to Mr. Guillou for decision and an announcement of the reduction schedule which must be effected is expected to be made today.

Curtailment of electric power in outlying districts was announced yesterday by the Southern California Edison Company. Alhambra, the company announced, will be shut off from power two days a week, beginning Monday, from 4 to 6 p.m.

POWER SHUT OFF

Today Glendale will be powerless between 10 p.m. and 5 a.m., except for street car service. This order was issued by the city, which distributes the Edison Company's power.

Redondo and Hermosa beaches will probably be without power during the noon hour two days a week. Lighting on the ocean front and amusement zone has already been cut 50 per cent and motion-picture theaters are installing large gas lamps for outside illumination.

Power at Santa Monica is shut off from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. by the company. San Pedro generally is effecting a 25 per cent reduction, according to C. J. Jordan, branch manager at the harbor, while several of the larger companies are operating on a 50 per cent cut following the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce's request for conservation.

Outside cities around Pasadena are being supplied with 200,000 kilowatt-hours of energy daily for lighting purposes, according to the Pasadena municipal plant officials. This will shortly be increased to 400,000 kilowatts through capacity production of the plants. The Crown City has voluntarily reduced its street lighting in an effort to supply as much energy to neighboring towns as is possible.

WEEK FOR HAWAIIAN BANANAS

Free Fruit to be Feature of Campaign Here to Aid Island Trade

Hawaiian banana week, which will be observed here July 14 to 20, was indorsed yesterday by representatives of the Los Angeles and Southern California Grocers' associations and officials of local chain grocers at a meeting at the Chamber of Commerce.

J. C. Darby, a member of the foreign trade department of the chamber, emphasized the importance of the campaign to stimulate the demand for Hawaiian bananas.

Plans for observance of the week include distribution of free bananas, special displays of the fruit and other features.

A large shipment of Hawaiian bananas will arrive today on the liner Calawaii. A second shipment is due on the liner City of Los Angeles on July 12.

The Calawaii's passenger list includes 248 passengers, 165 of whom are school-teachers returning for their summer vacations, following the closing of the island schools. The passenger list is the largest ever carried by the liner. She will sail for Honolulu on July 4, with a large passenger list of vacationists.

DE MOLAY TO START NEW CHAPTER TODAY

Pioneer Chapter of the Order of De Molay will be instituted at 8 p.m. today in the lodgeroom of Los Angeles Lodge No. 42, F.&A.M., in the Masonic Temple. The ceremonies are in charge of Glendale Chapter, and Jesse M. Whited, Marshall Stewart and Wesley Goodfellow of the Grand Council will assist. Pioneer Chapter, which is sponsored by Los Angeles Lodge, oldest lodge in the city, is the sixth De Molay chapter in Los Angeles and the second to be started within the last week. It was organized by Earl S. Hartson, Master of Los Angeles Lodge, and the advisory council is composed of F. J. Fleckenstein, John W. Crawford, Charles V. Ecclestone, F. H. Huntoon, Charles M. Albert, Joseph Mintz, C. E. Titus, C. U. Sudenstricker and Mr. Hartson.

BIBLE STUDENTS TO MEET

More Than 4000 Delegates Expected at Convention in Trinity Auditorium Tomorrow

More than 4000 delegates and members of the International Bible Students' Association from various parts of California are expected to attend the convention of that association at Trinity Auditorum tomorrow. With brief recesses, services and business sessions will be conducted all day, beginning at 9 a.m. C. W. Millre will be chairman of the convention.

C. W. Gerdes of San Francisco, a nationally known lecturer, will be the principal speaker of the day and his address on "The World's Judgment Day is Near" will be given at 11 a.m. The public is invited. No collection will be taken. The speaker at 1:15 p.m. will be J. B. Naismith of Pasadena, and at 3 p.m. the principal address will be by A. G. Eckols of San Diego.

"PUSSYFOOT" JOHNSON

The world-renowned reformer, journalist and globe-trotter, William E. "Pussyfoot" Johnson, will tell the story of his travels in Africa, in an address on "The Cross and Crescent," to be given at 3 p.m. tomorrow at the Bible Institute Auditorium. The public is invited. The pulpit of the Church of the Open Door (at the Bible Institute) will be supplied tomorrow by Dr. John Marvin Dean, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Pasadena, who will preach in the morning on "Baffled Shadows" and in the evening on "Life's Greatest Tragedy."

"IS LIFE WORTH WHILE?"

While polytheists, judging from the present condition of human society, are inclined to believe that the gods are either insane or intoxicated, the majority of monotheists continue to voice Browning's celebrated slogan "God's in His heaven, all's right with the world." However, the fact of the world's misery is challenging the attention not only of governments but of all institutions, including the church. In view of the division of opinion concerning the value of human experience, many ministers of Los Angeles will touch upon this vital question in sermons to be preached tomorrow. At the Ambassador Theater tomorrow morning Dr. Frank Dyer, pastor of the Wilshire Boulevard Congregational Church, will preach on "Is Life Worth While?" with special reference to the meaning of human life and an indictment of "the crime of suicide." Among the questions to be discussed by Dr. William MacCormack, in his sermon tomorrow evening at the Scottish Rite Auditorium, is "Can Prayer Bring the Dead Back to Life?" Dr. MacCormack will also preach in the morning at the Scottish Rite Auditorium, headquarters for the members of St. Paul's Cathedral.

SAFVENBERG HERE

C. A. Safvenberg, prominent preacher of Stockholm, Sweden, who was a delegate to the General Methodist Conference at Springfield, Mass., will be the speaker tomorrow morning and evening at the Swedish Methodist Church, Fourteenth street and Union avenue. Dr. Safvenberg will speak in the Swedish language. Rev. Peter Munson, pastor of the church, announced yesterday that the Sunday-school picnic will be conducted on July 4 at the Pacific Palisades. All Swedish people are invited.

"TEMPTATION"

"If God wants all men to be saved why does He permit them to be tempted?" That is one of the questions to be discussed by Dr. M. Howard Fagan in his sermon tomorrow morning at the Wilshire Boulevard Christian Church. In the evening George Lewis Cooper will give an illustrated lecture on "Peru, the Old and the New."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Christian Science," is the subject of the lesson-sermon at 11 a.m. tomorrow in each of the sixteen Christian Science churches of Los Angeles. First, Second, Third, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Ninth, Tenth and Thirteenth churches will repeat this service in the evening. All churches conduct Wednesday-evening meetings at which testimonials of Christian Science healing are given.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN

The First Presbyterian midsummer communion service will be conducted tomorrow morning. Dr. Hugh K. Walker will speak briefly on "A Soul's Pilgrimage." In the evening, Dr. Walker will preach on "The Flash of Glory in Unpromising Workrooms." Its purpose will be to cheer the man who is "down on his luck" and who thinks that he has lost his chance when as a matter of fact the best and most beautiful things of his life are just in the making. Sibley G. Pease, who has been the organist and musical director of this church for more than six years, has resigned his position and concludes his service tomorrow.

OFF FOR THE HILLS

A group of sixty boys and men of the Wilshire Presbyterian Church will start Tuesday morning for a trip to Golden Trout Camp in the high Sierras, under the direction of Rev. Arthur Edwin Wake, director of men, and boys' work. The party will attend the morning service tomorrow in a body and hear a special sermon by Dr. John Albert Eby on "Religion in the Open Spaces." At the evening service the motion picture, "Through the Back Door," will be shown and Dr. Eby will speak on "Parents' Responsibility for Their Own Children."

MURPHY TO SING

Francis Murphy, concert singer and grandson of the famous temperance crusader, will be heard in several selections at the services tomorrow at Angelus Temple. Mrs. Aimee S. McPherson, the pastor, will preach in the morning on "Aggressive Christianity," the topic for 2:30 p.m. being "The Veiled Gospel." At 6:30 p.m. Mrs. McPherson will conduct an evangelistic service and will preach on "The God of All Comfort."

"THE SEARCH FOR GOD"

Negro spirituals and plantation melodies by the Suwanee Jubilee Singers will feature the program at the Trinity Methodist Church tomorrow evening. The preacher at Trinity tomorrow will be Dr. S. H. Werlein, who will preach in the morning on "The Soul's Search for God," and in the evening on "Isaiah's Wonderful Experience."

IMMANUEL PRESBYTERIAN

One of the five points on which the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church has expressed itself in recent years is the inerrancy of the Holy Bible. Dr. Herbert B. Smith, pastor of Immanuel Presbyterian Church, will preach on this theme tomorrow morning. In the evening Dr. G. M. Rourke, pastor of the Long Beach Presbyterian Church, will be the preacher.

"THE HOLY CITY"

The special feature of the program at the First Methodist Church tomorrow evening will be the rendition of Gaul's "The Holy City" by the Los Angeles Choral Society. The society will be assisted by the quartet of the First Methodist Church. The public is invited. Dr. E. E. Helms, the pastor, will preach at the morning hour. On July 6 the congregation will celebrate the anniversary of the dedication of their new church and Bishop A. W. Leonard will preach.

TEMPLE BAPTIST

An American flag, a Bible, a fiery red cross and a bouquet of roses will be presented to Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher by members of the Ku Klux Klan who will attend services at the Temple Baptist Church tomorrow evening. Dr. Brougher will preach on "Neutrality in Religion Impossible." The topic for the morning sermon is "Personal Liberty—What Is It and How Is It Regulated?"

FIRST BAPTIST

Activities in all departments of the First Baptist Church will continue in full swing during the summer, according to announcement made yesterday by Dr. James A. Francis, pastor. Dr. Francis will preach tomorrow morning and evening and a baptismal service will be conducted in the morning. The music at both services tomorrow will be led by the Euterpean Male Quartet.

CHURCH NOTES

Don Tyler, winner of the National Oratorical Contest, will give his oration on "The Constitution" tomorrow evening at the Highland Park Presbyterian Church, according to announcement made yesterday by Rev. Campbell Coyle, the pastor. The public is invited.

"Gospel Work Among Street-Car Men" is the subject of a sermon to be preached by Rev. R. C. Lewis tomorrow evening at the Berean Congregational Church. In the morning Rev. W. P. Hardy, the pastor, will preach on "The Divine Tragedy."

Dr. Carl S. Patton, pastor of the First Congregational Church, will preach tomorrow morning on "The Sifting."

Hollywood Christian Church, Rev. W. F. Richardson, pastor. Morning topic, "The Incarnation—Its Necessity;" evening, "How the Little Man Overcame His Handicap."

Wilshire Methodist Church, Dr. Benjamin S. Haywood, pastor. Evening topic, "Fatal Currents." In the morning Dr. R. B. von KleinSmid, president of the University of Southern California, will speak on "Education at Its True Value."

Rev. E. T. Corner, pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Epiphany, Fifth avenue and West Fifteenth street, will conduct services at that church tomorrow morning.

Vermont Square Christian Church, Rev. James E. McIntire, pastor. Morning theme, "What It Means to Become a Christian;" evening, "What Faith Really Is."

BACK TO NATURE

In England radio enthusiasts have been taking their microphones and concealing them in the wildwood. In this way they have obtained some wonderful broadcasting of the songs of native birds. When science and nature get together they can furnish something delightful.

QUERY?

If the Big Creek power plant of the Southern California Edison Company is not functioning owing to an insufficiency of water to produce the needed power, how is our expensive Municipal Power Bureau to squeeze "juice" from its juiceless plant by spending more millions of dollars?

THE LOOKERS-ON

Ambassador Kellogg and Col. James A. Logan appear to have been designated as Uncle Sam's official "unofficial observers" at the London conference at which an effort will be made to apply the terms of the Dawes award. The Dawes report is officially unofficial so far as the United States Senate is concerned, but yet it is furnishing the basis for the restoration of the world. In being officially unofficial our American statesmen are furnishing the rest of the world a quiet joke that is fully appreciated and harms none but ourselves.

WOMEN ON THE JURY

It was not very difficult for a jury composed entirely of women to convict an erring official of crime. The Long Beach policeman who went joy riding and caused the death of an innocent person was readily convicted of manslaughter by the twelve matrons to whom his fate had been intrusted. It is possible that a jury composed of his trousered peers would not have been so severe in their findings, but the ladies had no qualms about it. It is the first time that a jury in a homicide case has been made up entirely of women, but there is proof that they do not hesitate to apply the penalty to crime.

DAINTY DEMOCRACY

Madison Square Garden was said to have smelled like a zoo before the Democrats took it over. The committee had to spend about $10,000 for fumigating and ventilating before the convention hosts were admitted. In the olden days the Bourbons felt perfectly at home in the atmosphere of a livery stable, but since Tammany took to the use of violet water in connection with its shaving, Democracy has been growing luxurious. There are said to be a lot of Democrats who wash themselves every Saturday night. Even the fact that Gov. Al Smith has had his hands manicured no longer starts a war.

MONEY AND ART

Artists are recognized—after they are dead. After they have been filed away in the tomb for a generation wealthy citizens begin to clamor for their paintings. Sometimes the call is quick enough so that the immediate family of the artist may derive some share of the benefit. A George Inness canvas recently sold for $45,000 and a Winslow Homer for $65,000. Also a small creation of Ralph Albert Blakelock brought $25,000, in spite of the fact that the artist spent the last twenty years of his life under restraint. But it proves that American landscapes created by competent American brushes have a substantial value—even if it takes some years to collect it.

THE TAX BURDENS

The cities of America are mortgaging their future—through the issuance of municipal bonds—at the rate of more than $1,000,000,000 a year. This is more than the whole continent was worth in the days of George Washington. Now the cities spend that much every year for new roads, sewers or city halls. Each year more bonds are issued than were floated during the previous one. Can this pyramiding be kept up forever? Is it not possible that the taxpayers will go on a strike some day and repudiate their own bonds. As long as bonds are tax free and easy to dispose of there will be many issued. This system of financing should be made more difficult for the good of the race.

MERCHANDISE BY HORSE

It is said that fully three-fourths of the freight deliveries in the city of New York are still made by horses. In the wholesale districts teaming is real teaming. They are even building a number of livery stables in the metropolis. It is claimed that merchandise can be hauled or delivered cheaper by horses than by motors and that there is really less congestion on the streets. A wagon and a team of horses represent a smaller cash investment than a truck. The experts say that it costs 6 cents a minute when a big motor truck is idle on the street as against 3 cents for the horse-drawn vehicle. When accidents happen they are not so disastrous and the general cost of upkeep is less. That is why even the ponderous draft horse is able to stage quite a spectacular come-back in the big city. He may lose out on the farm, but he is holding his own in the largest trade center in the world. They are even using horses to haul gold to the subtreasury. One may go all day in Southern California without seeing a horse, but in Greater Gotham they bob up every few minutes.

POOLING THE "JUICE"

The year 1919, according to the records, brought the lightest rainfall to California in a generation. Basing their provision against any probable emergency upon the low figures for that year, the light and power companies made what seemed to be ample safeguard against any shortage.

But the unexpected happened. No human wisdom could foresee that 1923-4 would hit a lower level. So it has come about that, despite vast increase in the capacities of the private companies and the growth of supply at the command of the city's Public Service Bureau, the amazing growth of Southern California, taken together with the shrinkage of nature's supply of water, has outstripped all these and brought us to the urgent need of conservation now for the common welfare.

The present emergency is temporary but acute. Its kind has been the lot of many other American communities. Only in degree is it truer of California than of other States that water is its life fluid. It is a universal human need and an inscrutable Providence sometimes withholds it to the point of peril.

Perhaps it is to test our mettle. At any rate, such a test now confronts us. Pending the augmentation of the present supply, which is going on at the highest possible pressure, it devolves upon us, small and large consumer alike, to make sacrifice in such proportion as shall be fixed by the State Railroad Commission, the power companies and civic bodies with as much impartiality as they can.

If the present emergency is met in the right spirit it will soon pass with slight harm or discomfort to anyone. The autumn rains and the rapid construction of additional large supplies of power will bring relief and, it is assured, a wide margin of safety that will be ample for any possible future situation.

But, pending that time, the public must make the work of conservation easy for all by a pooling of their help and sacrifice, as the light and power companies are doing with their "juice." The alternative, let it be said frankly, will be a more serious situation in the late summer. We must be resigned for some weeks ahead to get along without familiar conveniences and even some of the things we have come to regard as necessities.

The burning of a few needless lights or the making of morning waffles in the electric device that is so handy may not seem important in any single home. But in the aggregate of thousands of homes it is a big factor in a highly important situation. The power so used is needed to give men employment in shops and stores.

Cut out the needless use of "juice" in every form. The large consumers are making heavier sacrifices under the direction of the State Railroad Commission which has taken charge of the situation as its paramount duty at this time.

THAT LITTLE RIFT

In a hot little telephone booth in New Jersey the other day Frank B. Gilbreth, reputed in scientific circles to be the foremost efficiency manager of this country, died suddenly of what the dispatches called a "heart attack." Here was a man who had made the closest analytical study of the conservation of human energy, of how to make every motion and every impulse count in industrial and mental labor—a man who for years had been writing and lecturing on how the human machine might be kept at its highest rate of efficiency, but who, while directing others as to the best means of exerting the power to accomplish their work, had failed to apply his precepts to his own particular case.

Gilbreth, by the minutest attention to detail in hand motions, aided by motion pictures, revolutionized the bricklaying and concrete-laying systems as well as those of some other industrial occupations. In many talks, books and articles on motion study he taught how the highest rate of production might be attained by individual workmen without undue fatigue, even where they were handicapped by physical disability. He fitted many crippled ex-soldiers for industrial life in various occupations, but he did not fit himself for carrying on a long life work—he died of an overborne heart at 56, an age at which his period of usefulness should have been far from its close.

The sword wears out the scabbard. The strenuous nature, often forgetful of physical limitations, saps the vitality of the body that envelops it. "Heart attack" in this case is only another term for the sudden cessation of that very power the conservation of which Gilbreth was constantly preaching, but not practicing individually.

It is a great pity that such a forceful intellect should work only objectively and not turn itself occasionally to the consideration of its own psychology and well-being. Many an eminent man of medicine, though ever working to restore the health of others, neglects his own particular ailment and goes on year after year with hardly a thought of—

"The little rift within the lute
That by and by will make the music mute."

To be sure, Gilbreth, leaving this life at 56, had done much more than many another man of more advanced age, but it is a greater cosmic need that such a man should take good care of himself than that one of the common run of humanity should nurse himself along in hale and venerable mediocrity.

Doubtless Gilbreth wished to live. Most people do. But neither he nor any other man may do so if he fails to conform to Nature's stern and uncompromising conditions of survival.

THE GREAT BAFFLER

Doctors continue to find cancer the most baffling human affliction with which they have to contend. It is an ailment that is evidently invited by modern methods of living, for it is increasing in the cities. The death rate from cancer is almost twice as great as it was forty years ago, so that virtually no progress has been made toward its correction—in spite of the use of the X-ray, radium and other modern agencies for relief.

Early and accurate diagnosis and prompt surgical treatment offer the most promising program thus far disclosed. At the recent convention of the American Medical Association one of the sessions was given over to a symposium on cancer and its cure. Two distinguished practitioners reported that they had been able to produce cancer experimentally—in animals. If it can be produced artificially, they say, it can be traced. If the cause is found, means for its relief may also be disclosed.

Repeated applications of coal tar were found to create a cancerous growth in the case of a white rat, but the same treatment barely affected a rabbit. In other instances a form of cancer had resulted after inoculation by certain animal parasites. If the origin of cancer can be definitely determined some serum or other treatment will be found to cope with it.

In the meantime the simple life and a plain or Spartan diet are the best safeguards against the appearance of the affliction. The doctors are grading cancer according to its malignancy, and the best of them agree that in the most virulent stages there should be no treatment at all. It is hopeless and wasteful and does not even prolong existence. At present it should be the business of Americans to so live that the cancer germ, if there be a germ, shall find no lodgment in their frames.

THE POCKET NERVE

William Jennings Bryan says that at the Democratic convention he will be in a position to frame a platform that will appeal to the hearts of the American people rather than to their financial interests. He opines that the Republican platform "touches the pocket nerve"—and that, since half the adults who die in America do not leave enough of an estate to justify administration and less than one-fourth of the voters have a taxable income, the pocket nerve is not a sensitive part of the majority of the American people.

However, Mr. Bryan does not explain for just what purpose he will appeal to the hearts of the people. If his object is to lacerate the tender emotions of the people on behalf of a large army of unemployed Democratic politicians whose lofty principles are in so much greater evidence while out of office than in and who claim to have done so much more for the country while in opposition than they ever seem to be able to do in responsible office, voters might easily misinterpret the appeal.

Mr. Bryan is an old campaigner. He tried appealing to the pocket nerve once upon a time himself—with the glittering effulgence of "free silver." Perhaps that should have been the proper occasion to appeal to the heart.

THE HUMAN BAROMETER

In the minds of some scientists any theory put forth by the unschooled layman generally is considered as wholly untenable. Thus the results claimed for the use of the divining rod in locating water and precious minerals have been laughed to scorn by learned men and so has the "protection" of houses by the lightning rod and the planting of potatoes in a certain phase of the moon. Government meteorologists see little or nothing in the pretensions of "rain-makers" and they have no use for the predictions of the local oracle who tells what kind of weather we shall have next winter or makes dire prognostications of earthquakes or cyclones. Most scientific men declare that it is utterly impossible to make such forecasts successfully and that where such a prophecy has been fulfilled the fulfillment was merely a coincidence.

Some of the official meteorologists have placed the professed prevision of the amateur forecaster who foretells the weather by his tingling corns or his rheumatic or gouty twinges in the same category as that of the old Roman haruspices who gravely consulted the entrails of some freshly slain animal and then said that there would be a big storm tomorrow. But even in that credulous age there were men who questioned this latter method of weather forecasting. Cato said he wondered how one haruspex could look another in the face without laughing.

But now comes Alexander McAdie, professor of meteorology of Harvard University, with a statement that gives the rheumatic forecaster at least one leg to stand upon, though the other be drawn up by painful flexures portending heavy precipitations. As to this class of weather prophecy McAdie admits that "there are many amateur forecasters who foretell weather by their aches and pains. Probably there is a high correlative factor between body sensations and dampness, and some individuals are quite sensitive to changes in both relative and absolute humidity." McAdie says, however, that this does not always mean that a storm is approaching, as humidity is only one factor and may be quite local, while most storms are widespread. But the fact that he practically admits that the human barometer is sometimes, though not always, effectively on the job gives a certain scientific warrant to the prophetic pretensions of the old gentleman who, rubbing his aching ankle or his throbbing thigh, declares, with conviction, "It's going to rain tonight."

THE SAGE OF CALABASAS

There are ways of dealing with motor-truck drivers who hog the road. One has but to note the license number and the owner and drop him a note, detailing what happened at such and such a place at such and such a time. It's effective.

No one has yet invented a way for dealing with the private motor driver who does the same thing. One might pull in front of him, force him to stop and bawl him out, but this involves considerable risk of accident.

No one needs to deal with a taxi driver. He invariably obeys the rules of the road.

But some invention is required for dealing with the judicial dogberry and the community that supports him. Despite the plain prohibition of law, there are several towns in Southern California that still operate speed traps; and the judge who hears the cases simply grins and slaps on the fine, confident that the motorist would rather pay than take the trouble to protect his rights.

If there were some way of reaching this bird through the processes of the criminal law he might change his methods; but there does not seem to be. Appealing cases and getting a reversal of his judgment doesn't hurt him any; the people who put him in office probably agree with what he is doing and think it smart. And provisions for removal seem pitifully inadequate. It's so difficult to prove he knows better.

EDWARD C. KRAUSS.

MATTER OF CAPACITY

Woodrow Wilson is said to have once referred to Prof. David Houston—once of his Cabinet— as the best-equipped man for the Presidency in America. This is a case in which opinions may easily differ, but in politics it is very seldom that the best-equipped man gets the job. The job develops the equipment. Nobody would question the ability of President Coolidge to cope with any problems that may arise in his office.

RIPPLING RHYMES

NO ENVY

In my four-cylinder calash I journey here and there; its crankshaft, made of seasoned ash, has energy to spare. The body, made of choicest tin, is much in need of paint; I know the fenders are a sin, the ancient top looks quaint. It has a home-made steering wheel, with wire together tied; and yet when driving it I feel all swollen up with pride. For this old bus is all my own, I owe no man a groat; and like a king upon his throne I sit and guide my boat. The spark plugs are not very good, I fashioned them of zinc; the pistons made of cottonwood are sometimes on the blink; but they are mine, such as they are, my credit's good and clean; and so I tool my groaning car with high and haughty mien. My wagon lacks the modern curves, it has no four-wheel brakes; its action's hard upon the nerves, it bucks and creaks and shakes; and yet no man can view my truck and say, "I'll call police unless you pay the silver buck you owe for gas and grease. I'll summon here the halberdiers, unless you pay me now for fixing up your busted gears that time you killed a cow." I'd rather drive a rusty bus and owe no man a cent than scorch around with pomp and fuss while creditors lament.

PEN POINTS

Being broke may not be a disgrace, but it is dreadfully tiresome.

The Democratic convention can always be relied upon for the unconventional.

When the housemaid begins to feel sorry for the husband it is time for her to go.

What has become of the old-fashioned Presidential year when they had torchlight processions?

When a cyclone sweeps a State it seems to do that very thing. As a sweeper a tornado is some broom.

Looks as if the Democratic campaign would be run on oil and gas—same as one of Uncle Henry's bugs.

When a man gets to monkeying with the moonshine nowadays they call the ambulance instead of the patrol wagon.

Tex Rickard maintains his record for great fight cards. Look what he's pulling off at Madison Square garden this week!!

Husband is asking for a divorce because the wife would never look after his clothes. Now he is compelled to press his own suit in court.

Bootleggers' goods now carry the poison label and are marked wood alcohol, 'tis rumored. A grim jest at best and only too frequently the truth.

A Santa Barbara woman celebrated her eightieth birthday by looping the loop in an airplane. At that, it was not the first time the world had seemed upside down to her.

Baseball can be used to extend the study of mathematics in the schools. That's the system. Any child can be taught to count as high as three by watching an umpire a single afternoon.

British and American 'round-the-world flyers pass each other in India. The Briton now strikes the hardest part of his trip, while the Americans have easier sailing, but it's a good race, at that.

Returned traveler from Tijuana reports the beer is full of water and that cocktail-makers have discovered orange juice is cheaper than gin. Well, somebody has to pay for the late Mexican revolution.

THIS IS THE DAY

The battle of Monmouth, N. J., was fought in the year 1778. George Washington, with 11,000 Americans, attacked an army of 8000 British under Sir Henry Clinton. In effect, it was an American victory, though Washington failed to injure the British seriously. The British retreated after the battle, but continued their march to New York.

The battle of Fort Moultrie, S. C., in the year 1776, delivered Charleston from British attack for nearly three years. The fort was attacked by a British fleet under Sir Peter Parker and was defended so well by Col. William Moultrie that the fleet, badly damaged, was compelled to withdraw.

The steamship Great Eastern arrived at New York on her first trip across the Atlantic in the year 1860. She was a vessel of 24,000 tons displacement, at that time by far the largest steamship in the world.

OUR SUNNY FRIEND

Cedar Knoll

I like to see our city grow,
With business block and bungalow
And new-paved streets and miles of curbs,
And voting in of far suburbs.
I like to watch bank clearings swell
And hear enthusiast realtors tell
Of greater growth in years to be,
And yet there sometimes comes to me,
It may be weakness of the flesh,
It may be that my gears don't mesh,
But, anyway, I sometimes feel
A foolish envy o'er me steal
Of folk who live in Cedar Knoll,
A town as dead as Old King Cole.
Go-getters say, a living tomb,
But Cedar Knoll yards have much room
For grass and shrubs and purple flowers
And are not crowded up like ours,
And residences big and wide
Without a built-in thing inside,
But real dressers, desks and—beds
On which tired folk may lay their heads.
Great roomy garrets where one may
Go browsing on a rainy day,
And they have mighty trees that meet
Across their one poor business street.
Before the trees of our good town
Grow very high we cut them down
And grub them out with much precision
For some new "improved" subdivision.
I like our town, so much is new,
But Cedar Knoll has good points, too.

Professor Dink Beeson says so often a good yarn is like a gift horse and won't stand overclose inspection, and there was the one that went the rounds in 1915 about the German who got a letter from the old country and the writer bragged about how prosperous everyone was in Kaiserland and how happy, and how plentiful food was and wound up with the sentence, "Know you will be glad to add a new stamp to your collection."

The recipient not being a stamp collector, was puzzled for awhile, but finally steamed off the stamp and found beneath, "we are starving."

The fellow that told the prof had seen the letter and knew the guy that got it. The first time the prof heard the story he felt mighty bad. What a terrible thing war was, even for the Germans.

When he heard the story a second time from an entirely different narrator of what must have necessarily been an entirely different letter he didn't feel quite so serious and after the fourth or fifth hearing he decided the whole thing was a fake.

POSSESSION

BY GRACE FRYE

Great drops of sweat steamed out on her forehead!

On her body they formed little rivulets running between throbbing, aching breasts. The white-capped nurse placed a cold cloth on her head.

"My God! My God!" she moaned, "I cannot live through one more pain!"

And then, as though to disprove mortal idea of endurance, nature again ground down. Quivering flesh responded to the agony of tortured ligaments and tissues. Tender bones seemed crushing, breaking! Burning was the pain! Cutting—biting—twisting—racking—consuming—crucifying!

Lights glimmered, voices faded and rose again to thundering, ear-rending torture! Her poor body seemed lifted high, higher, only again to be hurled down with destroying, lacerating force.

Now comes a breath! Another! What blessed relief!

One glimpse of her husband's face and fury envelopes her as encompassing as the pain. Why should he smile, walk, breathe, enjoying the sunshine of day?

"Why is it—why?" she cried, with bitterness in her voice. She sat up, wide-eyed, accusing, disheveled and panting. "This is all for you and now——"

"Have pity," she begged as once more the pain-racked body descended deep, deep into the desolating torment of the valley of the shadow of death.

Transfigured and rewarded by a most wonderful peace, she looked down at the little, pink, helpless bit of humanity she had brought back with her from the depths of the valley.

Tiny little clawing hands, a groping, hungry mouth pressed against her filling breasts.

In the mother love that thrilled and flowed down to sustain the new life, dependent on hers, came the knowledge that passeth all understanding.

Protectingly her husband leaned down over his little world and, with love and trust, she smiled up at him.

"Ours and God's," she whispered happily.

Through the open window came music from the church nearby. "Praise God from whom all blessings flow," sang the voices.

And their heads bent together in loving, grateful possession.

NIGHT NOISES

Night noise from the careless handling of automobiles becomes a bane and trial to the sick and shut-ins with the arrival of summer. Loud and raucous laughter, shouting and talking may seem to some to be the natural accompaniment of the summer social life, but when they take place after midnight in supposedly quiet residential communities they become a nuisance to those who have to court sleep. This is a feature of city life generally beyond the control of the safety department. It depends upon the good manners of the people themselves and their willingness to think of others.—[South Bend Tribune.

Mrs. Whit Bagley died weeks after her husband minister, who didn't know her well, said at the funeral that over Whit probably brought her death.

"Doubtless, couldn't face without him," the good man said.

I guess she couldn't face without him, at that. He was whole diversion for thirty They must have found out marriage was a mistake within month of its consummation.

She said Whit was cruel to but no one ever saw him cruel her or anyone else, not intentionally cruel. I always thought would be cruel to anyone to live with him, he was such a cided moron, but, of course, wasn't his fault.

She started panning him own family right away after wedding and as time went on included more distant relatives other friends and finally anyone could get to listen.

This was an evening which our radio family should appreciate to the fullest extent. It was no extemporaneous affair of a few pieces hastily thrown into a music case and brought to the studio. The girls of Mr. De Lano's Club worked for two months to perfect the program and we feel grateful not only for their fine playing, but their real devotion to their art.

NOVELTY TRIO HEARD

Our noon hour was a pleasant balance of classical and popular music. The Junior Novelty Three played and sang Hawaiian melodies with great gusto. Being genuine Hawaiian folk there was real atmosphere to their work.

Paul Ford, tenor, accompanied by Edyth Petesch, sang four lovely English ballads, ending with Amy Finden's "Kashmiri Song," the dreamy beauty of which not even the heat of noontide could dispel.

Charles D. McCroy added a touch of humor to the hour with his clever handling of a harmonica. He did a number called "The Fox and the Hounds." A lady called up from Manhattan Beach and said that at the sound her dog went to the loud speaker and barked furiously. That was true appreciation!

The afternoon Barker Brothers' matinee presented Christiaan Timmer, violinist, and Annie Timmer, 'cellist, with Rosel Hill at the piano. It is not often that one hears a more gifted couple than this violinist and his talented wife.

Their program was a joy from the opening strains of the first movement of the Beethoven Trio to the brilliant flare and sparkle of a "Spanish Dance."

The children's hour brought Prof. Walter Sylvester Hertzog with his love of country, which burns like a beacon fire through each evening's talk.

Victoria Louise Kerner, aged 5, screen juvenile, read "Pretty Pet Pollywog" and "A Midsummer Night." Jack Downs, 10-year-old boy actor and singer of southern birth, proved how true are the traditions of the South regarding cleverness, exquisite breeding and precocity of its youth.

Elsa Timmer, gifted young daughter of Christiaan Timmer, read Henry Drummond's "The Monkey That Would Not Kill," and Reed Heustis's "Apple Pie," in a fashion which proved the fallacy of the truism that talent skips the second generation.

PLANS TO SPEED UP LICENSE ISSUANCES

CORPORATION COMMISSION WILL PUT IN NEW SYSTEM HERE

Steps which are expected materially to speed up the detail work of the State Corporation offices in Los Angeles in the issuance of licenses, were taken yesterday by John L. Davis, executive secretary of the commission.

Mr. Davis arrived from the northern office yesterday and will remain in the city today. Following his departure the executive operation of the local office will be in charge of Harry Strachen, who has been appointed Mr. Davis's assistant by Commissioner Daugherty.

According to Mr. Davis the tremendously increased demands placed on the Los Angeles office have necessitated organizing the local office on the most efficient basis possible with the present staff. He said that the Los Angeles branch handles more than the amount of work done by both the San Francisco and Sacramento offices combined.

Applications now require approximately three weeks before action can be taken on them, Commissioner Daugherty said, but this time is expected to be greatly reduced under the system being instituted by Mr. Davis.

Take Lot 150 Feet and Erect a 90-foot Transformer Station on Rear of Said Plot; Gas Company Plans to Do it; Send Answer in to City Council

Where does the rear of a lot begin and the front end? Speaking more precisely, if it be assumed that the rear begins at the rear and the front begins at the front, when does the rear cease to be the rear and begin to be the front?

After struggling with this subtlety for nearly half an hour yesterday, the City Council reached a compromise decision that the answer was of no practical consequence, anyway, and adjourned. Lewis E. Whitehead, assistant City Attorney, helped throw light on the juridical aspects of the question by informing the Council that rear ends of lots have no well-defined legal status.

Out of the cloud of metaphysics that enveloped the debate, it developed that the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Company is laying foundations for a transformer house to be erected at 826 South Coronado street. The lot is 150 feet deep, the transformer house is to be ninety feet long and the company's permit from the city specifies that the transformer house shall stand on the rear of the lot.

Councilman Criswell contended that these were facts that could not be reconciled unless it were maintained that the rear of this particular lot overlapped the front by fifteen feet, something that he never had encountered.

The matter was settled to the satisfaction of neighboring property owners by an agreement on the part of the company to move its transformer station forward four feet, thereby making the rear overlap the front nineteen instead of fifteen feet and at the same time establishing the political value of consistency.

SEEKS MAIDEN NAME

Ruth Stonehouse, film actress, yesterday petitioned Presiding Judge York of the Superior Court for permission to drop the name of her divorced husband and use her maiden name, which is also the name by which she is known on the screen. Her married name, according to the petition, is Ruth S. Roach. The actress stated she received a final decree of divorce from her husband in 1920.

WOMAN IN VAPOR DEAL IS HUNTED

Health Producing Cabinet Agent is Sought by State Medical Board

Cecilia L. Bogg, who is asserted to have sold several medical vapor cabinet sets and a specially concocted chemical to be used for producing the health-giving vapor, was being sought yesterday by police of Inglewood on a complaint issued by the Inglewood Justice Court at the request of Special Agent Albert Carter of the State Board of Medical Examiners. The complaint charges Miss Bogg with violating the California Medical Practice Act.

Agent Carter gave the Inglewood authorities the number of a Montrose Postoffice box as Miss Bogg's only known address, but declared that none of the Montrose residents, including the postmaster, could remember ever seeing her.

According to Mr. Carter, Miss Bogg has inserted advertisements in newspapers suggesting that a good investment may be made by a "lady who can immediately invest $350 for a half-interest and take the management of the business in the home or office; $30 average daily profits."

Several witnesses to Miss Bogg's methods told Agent Carter that a half-interest in a $706 medical vapor cabinet is exchanged for the investment. The investor is then allowed to operate the cabinet in her home and Miss Bogg supplies all needed vapor chemicals. The investors told Mr. Carter that Miss Bogg requires only one-fifth of the profits from the operations of these home outfits.

HART SUIT TRIAL PLEA POSTPONED TO JULY

WIFE THEN WILL ATTEMPT TO HAVE HEARING SET UP FROM 1925 DATE

Hearing on the motion of Winifred Westover Hart to advance for trial the suit she brought against her husband, William S. Hart, in which she asked the court to pass on her right to return to the screen, was continued yesterday by Presiding Judge York of the Superior Court to July 14. Judge York also transferred the motion to Judge Hollzer's department for hearing.

The case at present is set for trial April 16, 1925, in Judge Stephen's department. Mrs. Hart, in an affidavit in support of her motion, asserted she had been offered an opportunity to resume work in pictures at a large salary and that a year's delay would cause her irreparable injury. Her suit is directed at provisions of an agreement she entered into with her husband shortly before they separated in 1922 and which, she declares, prevents her from earning her own livelihood as a screen actress.

New residents in California here is something which is of interest to you. Did you know that if you transfer your banking interest now to the woman's department of the Bank of Italy at 7th and Olive sts. you won't loose any interest at this time by the transaction. The move will be a profitable one from every viewpoint, because the woman's department is presided over by Miss Grace Stoermer, who understands the mother's problem and gives sympathetic attention and helpful advice. Miss Stoermer possesses a remarkable business head and is unusually well fitted to offer conservative counsel to professional and business women. Do make the change without delay—you will then enjoy your banking association as you never have before.

When using molasses and it is not as dark as desired for ginger bread or cooking, add a tablespoonful of melted chocolate to molasses and spices, improving the flavor.

At last—once again you may stop and have a delicious chicken dinner at the Lady Ann Cavendish Tea Room, 3002 Wilshire Blvd. No difficulty in parking any more.

Lingerie frocks have not been so fashionable in years! Mother possesses several and so does the small daughter and large daughter as well. Naturally, when soiled, the perplexing question who to intrust these precious garments of delicate lace and finest embroidery, arises so after making careful inquiry at the Crown Laundry the news is broadcast to the readers of this page that this splendid up-to-the-moment institution will take such good care of your most fragile dresses and return them washed and iron so beautifully that you will think them as lovely as when new!

Triplicate saucepans seem an unnecessary expense and very few of us purchase them. But they save space on the gas stove and certainly do save a lot of gas. Think it over.

The best of mattresses and pillows need renovating ever so often. It adds to their lives—and yours too, for your rest is assured by a comfortable bed and your recuperative powers naturally strengthened. The Western Feather and Down Works, 1205 W. Washington st. Scrambled Eggs with Mushrooms—Four eggs, eight button mushrooms, four tablespoonfuls milk, one tablespoonful butter, two whole slices whole wheat toast, salt and pepper.

Melt butter in frying pan. Add mushrooms cut in small pieces and fry lightly. Beat eggs slightly with milk and turn into frying pan. Lift with a fork as mixture thickens. Season with salt and pepper and serve on unbuttered toast for the reducing diet.

Isn't it funny—but true as can be that the whole dinner is planned and prepared without any apparent effort—yet when it comes to making dessert you frequently have a desire to renig? One runs out of ideas until the happy thought of serving brick ice cream occurs and, knowing that the L. A. "Lily" Brand made in a Sunday Special Brick is made each week in a different combination of flavors, the idea of giving this delectable sweet to your family is an altogether excellent one. What do you think? The near-by druggist displaying a blue and white sign will take care of your order. This week. True Vanilla and Cherry.

You can knit, embroider and not complain about your hands being rough, if you use "Blanco" in all water into which you put your hands. It's an actual fact that our hard city water not only eats up soap because of the alkali it contains, but makes soft white hands red and unsightly. "Blanco" is the remedy and "cure all" you should buy. All reliable grocers sell it, too.

An interesting announcement to old customers and friends, is being made by Martha Wueff—whose Harper Method Beauty Shope, formerly in the Merchants' National Bank Bldg., is now ideally located in the unique Westlake Shopping Arcade, 2540 W. 7th St. (DUnkirk 0873.)

When jellies ferment, reheat, add a little sugar and water and thicken with cornstarch for hot sauces. To serve cold, follow the above directions, but instead of the cornstarch, add one-half teaspoonful of gelatine that has been first soaked in cold water and then dissolved in hot jelly.

"But how do you explain the facts that "Frozen Steam" melts so much slower than raw water ice?" a prospective customer asked a few days ago. "Well, you see, 'Frozen Steam,' which by the way is only made by the Merchants Ice and Cold Storage Company whose white trucks bear the red diagonal stripe, has had all animal, vegetable and mineral matter, which as you know, are heat conductors, removed. Naturally then, this superior product is economical to use and absolutely clean by the way." Watch your drain in the box after a week's use of "Frozen Steam," that will prove that it is indispensable to the woman who is particular. When phoning your order, call TRinity 1351.

The package containing bacon should be kept in the bottom of the refrigerator, never right next to the ice, as it should not become moist. It is much easier to slice if very cold.

The warm June days which bring such joy to the lover of out-of-doors, in California, bring also a tiny pest which, smallness notwithstanding, has power to temper the joyousness with acute grief. Especially the diminutive red ant, foe of all good housekeepers of the warm Southland. You may not know that your ant troubles will be wiped out in a jiffy if you but get in touch with with the manufacturers of "Calpro," 1842 West Washington. The phone is BEacon 1360.

This is the ideal time to re-upholster any pieces of furniture which are in need of new coverings. While away for the summer the house will doubtlessly be closed and the furniture unused, so you can easily spare the chairs or davenport. Simank Bros., 725-27 West Ninth street (near Figueroa) do all sorts of upholstering very efficiently and their charges are unusually modest. Phone at once (VAndike 0767) so that they can start your repairing now and have it ready for you when you return home.

When fruit has fermented, reheat it, add a little sugar and make up into pies or tarts.

Have you ever heard what Dr. H. H. Roberts's five specifications for pure water as an aid to good health are?

(1.) Those waters which are slightly alkaline and carry the salts having the normal constituents of the blood are the most beneficial.

(2.) The water should come from a source which is free from surface contamination. The source should be located high up in the hills or mountains, far from inhabited and cultivated districts.

(3.) The substitution of distilled water, boiled water and filtered water where the public water supply is polluted is a poor make-shift for the health of the public. Only a bottled water—bottled under the most perfect and sanitary conditions is reliable and trustworthy.

(4.) Water for drinking should be pure and free from bacteria. Water is frequently infected with bacteria from dysentery and forms of dyspepsia; also those due to animal and intestinal parasites; also metallic poison in solution produces many disorders of the body.

(5.) The act of drinking water should be a business. The normal functions of the body require not less than thirty-two ounces daily. Now "Arrowhead Mountain Springs water" is declared by Dr. Roberts to be pure in every way. It is given his indorsement, too, so why not phone HUmbolt 0300 and get a demijohn of five gallons with the free cooler? Fifty cents is the cost.

Next Friday a week is the Fourth of July—Are you going on a picnic or having friends in that evening for a buffet supper before setting off the fireworks? If so, you won't forget to get the things you want for the outdoor spread or cold lunch at Travaglini's Roma Rotisserie, 1801 W. 7th (52092.) They will have the best things to eat already to serve. Don't forget to order what you need early.

Spread thin slices of buttered whole wheat bread with cream cheese; cover cheese with strawberry, peach or orange marmalade and cover with a slice of buttered whole wheat bread.

Just couldn't you be happy and perfectly content in a bedroom with furniture you had painted your very own self at so trifling a cost? Not long ago a beautiful guest room in a bride's home was seen and, well, it was so lovely that the bride in a burst of pride said: "I did it, see! painted the bed, chairs and high boy a soft toned mauve, using 'Water-Spar,' a waterproof varnish, which went on so easily that I decided to transform other rooms." The "other room" was done in shades of blue, gold and green with just a soupcon of clear cerise and a wager is made that dealers selling Water-Spar have been swamped with orders for this remarkable varnish ever since. In case you want to buy some, write or phone the Paint and Varnish Division of the Pittsburg Plate Glass Co., 928 S. Main, (TRinity 6969.) They will send you what you need or direct you to the near-by dealer from whom you may make your selection of colors.

Salads for auto lunches should be made from firm, fresh ingredients and mixed with just enough salad dressing to season well. Line the paper water cups with leaves of lettuce, cover with a lettuce leaf and wrap in waxed paper.

Its hard to explain why there are so many water bugs or roaches at this time of the year. Even moths seem to have increased in number. You can safely purchase and highly recommend Anti-Pest as being a proven method. Anti-Pest is made by the Horace Moll Mfg Co., 720 West Ninth street, (TUcker 4843.) It absolutely will not harm the most delicate material. Consequently one may spray it in closets freely. Do try a can, now. It's delivered or mailed anywhere free of charge.

Mix finely chopped blanched almonds sweetened with sugar to a paste with thick cream and spread between thin slices of white bread.

"Isn't it remarkable"—a new resident remarked only the other day—"that this White King Washing Machine Soap which I was urged to try when I first came to California, does all my household cleaning with the same degree of perfection that it washes clothes in the electric machine?" That same remark has been made a thousand times in the past and will continue to be voiced as long as this splendid soap in granules is obtainable. Yes, it is ideal in all ways. Economical as well and most satisfactory. Your grocer sells it, of course!

Lobster Salad—Equal amounts of cooked lobster meat and celery; French dressing.

Take advantage of the sale of single rolls of wallpaper for 6 cents! No, you are not obliged to buy a border. A. Walter, 816 S. Main, is making this reduction.

Fill the vacuum bottles full of hot water for hot drinks and of ice water for cold drinks the day before they are to be used.

"But I haven't any place for an electric washing machine—we do not possess enough room," has been the cry of loads of women who really wanted a machine, but had the above mentioned complaint to make. With the advent of the Royal Electric Washer backed and made by the same concern who make the well-known Royal Vacuum Cleaner—the problem is solved admirably for the Royal Electric Washer fastens on the Sanitary tub, consequently you have no water to handle, and the washing, wringing and rinsing is done by power. After the clothes are washed all you have to do is pull out the plug and drain the tub, so you can realize instantly what an improvement this machine is over the other kinds.

As Listenwalter & Gough, 819-21 E. 1st, are local distributors, call or write them for prices and full information. TRinity 9711 is the phone number.

Grape Juice Lemonade—Strained juice of three lemons, two cupfuls of grape juice, three cupfuls of water, one cupful of sugar; pour into cold bottle.

"It smacks of the continents!" is invariably the comment of strangers on their first visit to Mora's Grill, 107 W. Market St. (near the postoffice.) Such a remark is certainly complimentary for in Europe one does dine well and artistically. Suppose you go there today—you are sure to enjoy the treat that's certain!

NEGRO WINS DAMAGES

Policemen Must Pay for Assault on Courthouse Janitor

Judge Burnell of Superior Court yesterday awarded James H. Bate, a negro churchman and janitor at the Hall of Records, damages of $2515 against five police officers whom Bate charged with assaulting him at Seventh street and Maple avenue, the night of September 19, 1923.

The court criticised the policemen for their conduct in arresting Bate, who asserted he was beaten and thrown into the City Jail while on his way home with a grip containing church funds.

The defendants in the case were William F. Jollins, James R. Jester, Lewis Fineslaur, J. K. Carles and G. E. Ruppers. The officers set up the defense that Bate sought to resist them when they questioned him.

PROGRAM AT MUSEUM

Pageant and Music to Entertain Friends of Institution

Sunday from 3 to 5 p.m. has been set aside by the officials of the Southwest Museum for an informal gathering of members and friends. A musical program with numbers by Sylvia Harding, violinist; a short pageant by the children of the drama division accompanied by Mary Jane Mayhew, harpist, and an open forum led by Mrs. H. R. Sanborn, chairman of the hospitality committee, will be part of the entertainment.

Sunday will also mark the opening of the ninth annual bookplate exhibition of the American Bookplate Society at the museum. The exhibition will last three weeks. It consists of 248 designs by sixty-eight artists and is said to be the largest of its kind in the world. All of the designs to be shown were made during 1923 and include those made for many museum members. American bookplates will predominate but there will be many from foreign countries.

ARROYO PARK DEAL OPPOSED

Property Owner Says Price Asked is Too High

Mrs. Johnson Urges Council Head Make Inquiry

Says Area is Willing to Pay $250,000 to Hawley

Strong personal protest was made yesterday by Mrs. M. E. Johnson, club woman and an Arroyo Seco property owner, to Boyle Workman, president of the City Council, against a proposed deal between the city and the Los Angeles Rock and Gravel Company, by which it is sought that the city should acquire approximately 131 acres of the company's holdings in the arroyo for park and playground purposes at a cost of $350,000.

"I will take this matter to the grand jury," she told Workman, "if all the facts surrounding it are not thoroughly ventilated before the Council takes action." Later she announced that she had called a district meeting of property owners at her residence, 4323 North Griffin avenue, for Monday night.

NOTHING DEFINITE

Thus far the deal has not advanced beyond the stage of negotiations. The Finance Committee has listened to proposals, but has not committed itself officially. Henry W. Hawley, president of the company, has represented its interests and Deputy City Attorney MacCoy has been adviser to the committee.

Hawley asks the city to pay $350,000, of which $50,000 would be cash down, for all his land between Avenue 58 and Avenue 35, the remainder to be raised by the creation of an improvement district. In case the district should be protested out, he agrees to let the city have for its cash payment sufficient of his land between Avenue 58 and Avenue 52 to make up one-seventh of the total. In this area, he asserts, is gravel worth $1,500,000.

"The land," said Mrs. Johnson yesterday, "is not worth a fraction of the price asked, unless the owner is permitted to excavate it for gravel. The whole ostensible object of the deal is to get Hawley out of the Arroyo and so stop the digging of gravel and the crushing of rock, to the defacement of the neighborhood.

WILLING TO PAY

"We, who live in the Arroyo don't need a park, but we are willing to be assessed within reason and perhaps even beyond, for the creation of a park if that is the only way to make the district what the law has said for fourteen years that it should be—a residence district.

"I think we would cheerfully pay $200,000, perhaps even $250,000, but the price asked is preposterous and contains considerations which do not appear on the surface of the offer."

Hawley's first price was $500,000. He told the Finance Committee that he scaled off $125,000, in order to stabilize his business and get out of litigation. For five months he has been prevented by injunction proceedings not yet settled from excavating gravel on leased property which he offers the city together with his fee simple holdings. The lease expires in September, 1925.

ALIENATION CHARGE DENIED BY MOTHER

ANSWER IS FILED TO THIRD SUIT IN DIVORCE OF BRIDGER COUPLE

Denial of charges that she had alienated the affections of her daughter, Effie A. Bridger, was made yesterday in an answer Mrs. Justina J. Brown filed in reply to the suit for $125,000 damages brought against her by her son-in-law, Claud W. Bridger.

The suit is one of three actions filed recently in the Superior Court involving the marital relations of the Bridgers. In one of these actions Mrs. Bridger is seeking a divorce from her husband on grounds of cruelty, while in another Bridger is asking an accounting of community funds he declared he intrusted to his wife under a partnership agreement.

In his complaint for alienation of affections, Bridger charged his mother-in-law with using "flattery, fraud, enticements and deceit" to persuade her daughter to desert the plaintiff.

WIFE FREE AS SERF

Story of "High Brown" Treatment From Mate Wins Decree

He was the son of a Russian prince and she was the descendant of a line of plebeians and serfs. Therefore, her husband, Guy Boschke, treated her as his serf about their home and "high hatted" her, Mrs. Katharyn Boschke testified in Judge Summerfield's department of the Superior Court. He also lied, she said. He told neighbors he had given her $60,000. The truth of the matter was that he gave her only $18,000, she said.

The last item on her bill of complaint, which charged extreme cruelty, was that he told their friends who assembled at their home to play bridge that they were wasting their time. She was awarded a decree.

ALL IS PREPARED FOR HOLLYWOOD'S FIESTA

The last touches were placed yesterday on the Spanish Plaza in the Hollywood Bowl for the Hollywood fiesta today. The stages are ready for singing and dancing as are the booths for the acrobats and jugglers and puppet shows and for the selling of Spanish and Mexican food, and for the various crafts that will be exhibited. Lucero's Mexican band will take part in the parade and will give concerts along the route, the first at the library at 3:45 p.m. A feature of the fiesta will be the bull fight, for which Monte Banks has been in training. He will be the matador.

SENATOR AND WIFE HERE

Senator and Mrs. William Andrews Clark arrived yesterday from their Montecito home to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ross Clark at their home in West Adams street. Senator Clark and J. Ross Clark are brothers.

DRIVE PAST MILLION MARK

Remainder of $1,500,000 for Harbor Service Men's Home Promised on Monday by Teams

Announcing the receipt of subscriptions totaling $1,117,977.35 toward the fund for the building of a home for Army and Navy men at the harbor, stating that the erection of a splendid social service building is now assured, R. H. Ballard, general chairman of the campaign yesterday received the promise of his 300 helpers that they will make every effort to bring in, by next Monday noon, an additional $382,022.65, thus bringing to success the drive for $1,500,000 sought for the harbor home and other Y.M.C.A. work in the Southland.

Mr. Ballard said that the conditional gift of $500,000 from the International Y.M.C.A. War Funds Committee has been met by Los Angeles people who, to date, have subscribed $617,977.35, more than twice the amount asked by the committee, and he therefore included in the $1,117,977.35 the sum pledged by the War Fund Committee. The money to be collected by the workers between now and Monday noon will be used to further the "Y" work at Hollywood and to build a Y.M.C.A. for the negroes of Los Angeles.

FIRMS CONTRIBUTE

Revised figures of the contributions made by various large firms of Los Angeles are as follows: Bullocks, $5000; The May Company, $5000; Broadway Department Store, $5000; J. W. Robinson Company, $5000; Barker Brothers, $4000; Coulter Dry Goods Company $1625; N. B. Blackstone Company, $1000; Jacoby Brothers, $1000; Walker's, Inc., $500; Myer Siegel & Co., $500; Union Oil Company, $5000; Janss Investment Company, $2500.

Among the recent large gifts from individuals were the following: N. D. Carpenter, $5000; W. L. Stewart, $2500; J. G. Bullock, $5000; A. W. Faris, $5000; C. H. Barker, $1000.

TRADE MISSION AIDS

Subscriptions reported yesterday by the various teams and working organizations were as follows: Los Angeles teams, $11,757.25; negro workers, $1961; San Pedro, $7604; Hollywood, 4885; Central Committee, $20,000; Y.M.C.A. directors, $23,000.

Employees of the Y.M.C.A. have contributed, to date, the sum of $3900. Capt. D. S. Valentine of Team No. 4 reported that of the $1075 obtained by his workers, $500 was donated by the Japanese of Los Angeles. Charles F. Stern, chairman of the Central Committee, said that his organization has collected, altogether, $180,885. A radio message was received yesterday stating that passengers aboard the City of Los Angeles, Honolulu bound, have subscribed $1000.

The "king" of the luncheon yesterday was J. W. Brigance, captain of Team No. 48, who turned in subscriptions totaling $1350.

PRACTICAL RECIPES

Helps for Epicures and All Who Appreciate Good Cooking

[Note—This department is conducted for the benefit of readers of The Times in the hope that the information herein contained will help in effecting economy in the home. Advertising considerations have no weight in determining the choice of this matter and no free publicity is given any product because it happens to be the subject of paid advertising. In other words, The Times declines to join the rapidly lengthening procession of newspapers who prostitute their news columns for monetary gain by giving a bonus of free space in return for advertising. The Times considers that the public is entitled to absolute integrity in the news and other reading matter appearing in its columns and will justify full confidence in this policy.

Requests for recipes and information pertaining to the proper preparation and serving of foods will be answered in this column every Tuesday and Saturday. Address all requests to Chef A. L. Wyman, Laboratory kitchen, 424 Arden avenue, Glendale.—Ed.]

MAYONNAISE

O. S. B., Inglewood, wants a recipe for a mayonnaise dressing that will keep without being placed in the ice box, wants to use oil, lemon and honey; also wants a recipe for a French dressing to be used on potato salad.

For the mayonnaise beat the yolks of two eggs to a cream with one teaspoon of mustard, one scant teaspoon of salt and one tablespoon of honey. When well mixed beat in slowly half a cup of olive oil or melted butter; beat well, beat in the well-beaten whites of two eggs and beat in slowly half a cup of lemon juice. Pour into a double boiler and stir and cook until thick, do not boil. Keep in a cool place.

FRENCH DRESSING

Place in a pint fruit jar two teaspoons of salt, two teaspoons of honey, one teaspoon of mustard, half a teaspoon of paprika, one-quarter of a cup of lemon juice and two-thirds of a cup of olive oil. Cover tight and shake for five minutes before using. A small piece of garlic added to this dressing makes it very nice if liked.

CANDIED APRICOTS

J. L. H., Hollywood, sends 2-cent stamp and requests that we send her a recipe for glazing apricots. We never send recipes by mail, all requests are answered in these columns in the order that they are received.

Dip two pounds of firm apricots in boiling water two minutes, remove, drain and cool. Place in a saucepan two cups of water and four and a half cups of sugar, bring to a boil, skim and boil five minutes. Add the apricots and boil fifteen minutes, remove from the fire and let stand over night, return to the fire and boil ten minutes; repeat this process of boiling and cooling for five days. When the fruit is transparent and bright, lift out of the syrup, place on trays and dry in the sun. Place in saucepan two cups of water and three and a half cups of sugar, bring to a boil, skim and pour over the dried and candied apricots, let stand three days, drain off the syrup and dry in the sun. The stones can be removed from the apricots and the space filled with blanched almonds if liked.

BRAN COOKIES

G. G., Los Angeles, wants us to publish a recipe for bran health cookies.

Beat one-third of a cup of butter to a cream and beat into it one cup of honey, beat smooth and beat in one well beaten egg, four tablespoons of milk, one and a half cups of 100 per cent whole wheat flour sifted with two teaspoons of baking powder, half a teaspoon of mace, and half a teaspoon of salt. Work to a smooth dough with two-thirds of a cup of bran. Roll out on a whole wheat floured board, cut, place on a baking sheet one-half inch apart and bake in a moderate oven.

DEVILED EGGS

E. M., Inglewood, asks that we give a recipe for deviled eggs.

Cover six eggs with cold water, place over the fire, bring to a boil and boil twenty minutes; remove and place in cold water to cool. Take off the shells and cut in halves crosswise, carefully remove the yolks and mash with one and a half teaspoons of anchovy sauce, two tablespoons of finely grated American cheese and a seasoning of salt and cayenne pepper. Fill the white halves with the mixture, cut off the pointed ends and serve on dishes covered with watercress and shredded lettuce mixed with French dressing.

WATERMELON RIND PICKLE

A. H. F., Huntington Beach, wants a recipe for making watermelon rind pickles.

Pare the green part off of the rind, scrape off all of the red and cut the rind in pieces two inches long and one inch wide. Bring three quarts of water to a boil with one tablespoon of alum, stir until the alum is dissolved and pour over the prepared rind; let stand overnight; drain, cover with fresh water and let stand two hours. Drain and place in a preserving kettle, cover with fresh boiling water and cook until tender, drain and set aside. Place in the preserving kettle two quarts of vinegar, four pounds of sugar, two sliced and seeded lemons, a three-inch stick of cinnamon, and a small piece of ginger root; bring to a boil and boil ten minutes; add the drained melon rind and cook until clear. Drain out the rind, pack in hot jars, boil the syrup twelve minutes, pour over the rinds and seal.

PRESERVED CANTALOUPES

G. L. M., Los Angeles, wants to know if it is possible to preserve cantaloupes. It is. Select firm ripe cantaloupes, peel off the outer skin and peel a thin slice from the inside; weigh (there should be ten pounds) place in a preserving kettle, add six pounds or twelve cups of sugar and two quarts water; bring to a boil and boil until the melon is transparent and clear. Boil until the syrup is thick, pack in jars and seal.

CODFISH BALLS

B. D. L., Los Angeles, asks that we tell her an easy way to make codfish balls.

Pick and freshen two cups of codfish in cold water; drain and place in a pot with five peeled potatoes, cover with water and boil until the potatoes are soft; drain and mash with a potato masher, mix with them two beaten eggs, one tablespoon of chopped parsley, two tablespoons of butter and a seasoning of pepper. Roll into even sized balls, roll in flour, place in a buttered baking pan, brush with butter and bake a nice brown. Serve with cream sauce.

YOUNG PUMPKINS

E. D., Puente, was served with a vegetale dish on a recent trip to Italy and was told that it was young pumpkins, she wants to know how to prepare it.

Select young pumpkins about the size of a small egg, cut in four, remove the seeds and pulp; place in an earthenware baking dish with half a cup of olive oil to each twelve pumpkins, and cook until tender; add a seasoning of salt and pepper and mix in grated Parmesan cheese. Serve hot.

JELLIES AND PRESERVES

M. R., Los Angeles, in a letter to The Times suggests we give recipes for jellies and preserves during the fruit season.

Chef Wyman's Suggestions for Tomorrow's Menu, which are published daily in The Times have carried a recipe for a jelly, jam or preserve nearly every day for the past month and during the balance of the fruit season we will publish recipes for the preserving of California fruits as they come in season.

DRUGGISTS AND CAFE OWNER IN DRY RAIDS

Raids by Federal dry agents yesterday resulted in the arrest of nine men on charges of violating the Volstead Act. Those arrested were D. T. Lewis, druggist, 4430 Moneta avenue; A. Morgan, druggist, 4777 Moneta avenue H. F. Hamblin, druggist, 1317 North Main street; Robert Jole and S. Peto, proprietor and employee of a restaurant at 659 North Broadway; Nick Nastro and A. Costi, 504 North Alameda street, and John Ferrenti and J. Montileora, the two latter charged with selling liquor in a place on the northeast corner of Alameda and Aliso streets. The defendants were released under $1000 bond each.

FARMER IS TOLD TO SHUN GIRLS

Judge Orders Elderly Beau Granted Probation to Avoid Wild Women

Admonishing Charles Crothers, 60-year-old farmer of Ventura county, to "keep away from wild women and stay on your farm," Judge Hardy yesterday admitted the aged man to five years probation on a charge of issuing checks without sufficient funds.

Crothers, who pleaded guilty to the charge, told Probation Officer George W. Neily he came to Hollywood to see the bright lights and look over the beauties for which the motion-picture city is noted. He could not stand the financial strain of a hectic night life, he said, and finally began cashing worthless checks in order to hold the pace with his younger rivals.

Monday Is Last Day to Pay Up Occupation Tax

More than 10,000 Southern California professional and business men are liable to a penalty of $1000 each if they fail to pay special and occupational taxes on or before Monday, according to United States Internal Revenue Collector Goodcell. Physicians, druggists and all others dealing in narcotics must register and pay tax by July 1, or incur heavy penalties under the Harrison Narcotic Act, the collector said. Special taxes are due by Monday from stock brokers, custom house brokers, ship brokers, proprietors of bowling alleys, shooting galleries, riding academies, and owners of automobiles hired for passenger service, and pleasure boats.

New forms for capital stock returns were sent out yesterday to 10,000 Southern California corporations. It was announced that corporations which have never filed returns and which are not listed at the revenue office must make application for the new forms and file returns even though they do not receive notices.

SUICIDE IDENTIFIED

Man Who Leaped to Death Came Here from Arizona

The body of the young man who jumped Wednesday from the sixth floor of the Kerchoff Building, Sixth and Main streets, was identified yesterday as Neil White, 25 years of age, of 351 East Jefferson street, who came to Los Angeles about a month ago. Identification was made by a distant relative, C. A. Raymond of the Hibernian Building, who made arrangements to have the body sent to White's father at Tempe, Ariz. Raymond said he had no idea why White killed himself.

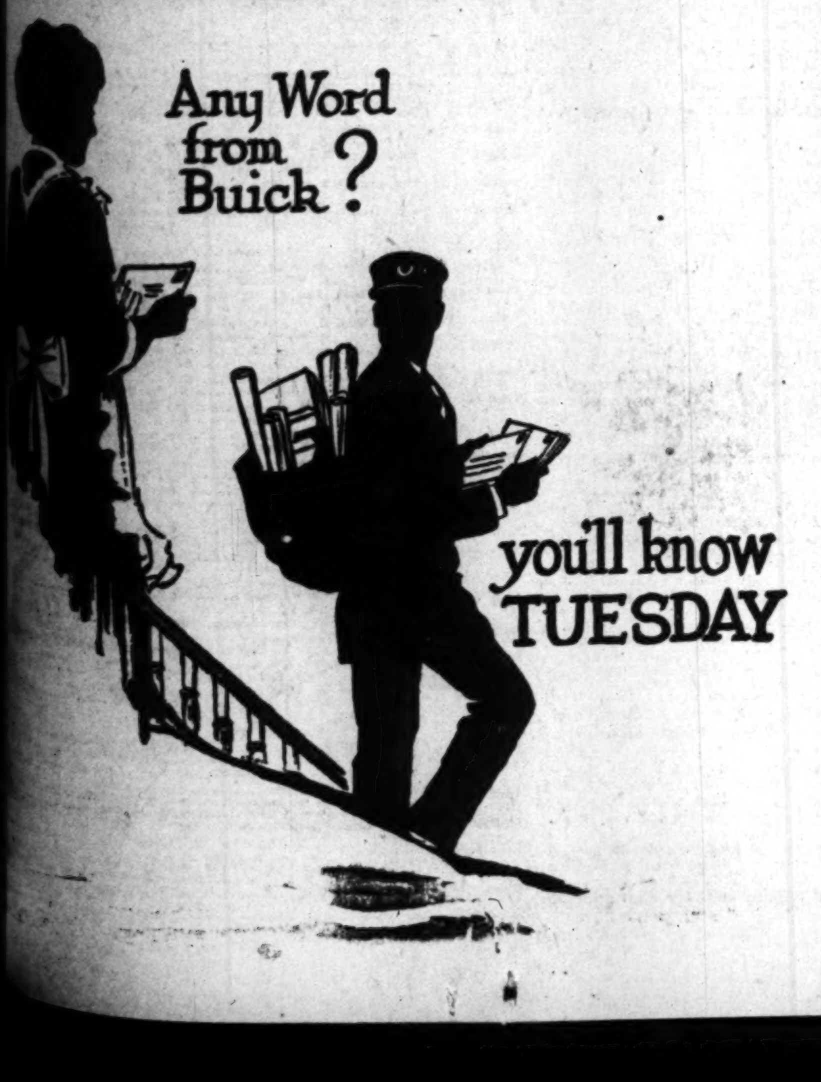
SUNDAY CONCERT



COUNCIL TO GET BUDGET ON MONDAY

Last Action by Committee Today; Final Figures May be $20,000,000

Final form will be given to the city budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 at a session of the budget committee of the City Council to be conducted behind closed doors this afternoon.

In past statements Chairman Mushet has said that the committee's task was to reduce departmental estimates totaling $22,000,000 to fit $18,000,000 of revenue in sight, but it became known yesterday that the figures to be submitted to the Council Monday morning will look more like twenty than eighteen millions.

What new sources of income have been discovered Chairman Mushet refused to reveal. Nothing as to the nature of the budget will be made public, he said, until it has been laid before the Council.

Among matters on which the committee has not yet passed is an increase of 450 men in the strength of the police department asked for by Police Chief Vollmer.

The Council adjourned yesterday until 8:30 a.m. Monday in order to have time to dispose of the budget and still catch the new steamer Catalina on her first trip to Avalon as guests of William Wrigley, Jr.

WILL SPEED UP LA MARR CASE TRIAL

Attorney to Request Suit by Husband be Advanced from June, 1925

Trial of the suit for divorce brought by N. Bernard Deely, actor, against Barbara Watson Deely, known on the screen as Barbara La Marr, yesterday, was set for June 3, 1925, by Presiding Judge York of Superior Court. The motion was made by R. D. Knickerbocker, attorney for Miss La Marr, who indicated he soon would file a motion to advance the case for trial at the earliest possible date in order to clear up the ambiguity surrounding Miss La Marr's marital status.

Deely charged statutory adultery in his complaint, asserting Miss La Marr was living with her present husband, Jack Daugherty, without having been legally separated from Deely.

In an amended answer to the suit, Miss La Marr denied she ever was the wife of Deely and asked the court to annul any ceremony that might have taken place between them.

The case and its principals figured prominently in the recent trial of Herman L. Roth, Hollywood attorney, on a charge of extortion. It was asserted at the trial that Roth planned to use an amended complaint in the action as a means to blackmail Miss La Marr and her manager, Arthur H. Sawyer. Roth was convicted of extorting $100 from Sawyer and is now serving a sentence of from one to five years in San Quentin penitentiary.

DEPARTMENT STORES TO CLOSE THREE DAYS

VACATION OVER FOURTH TO SUNDAY ANNOUNCED BY ASSOCIATION

Due to the fact that July 4 this year falls on Friday, the leading department stores of the city and many oher business houses will remain closed not only on Friday, but also all day Saturday, thus giving employees a three-day holiday.

Announcement was made by the Retail Dry Goods Merchants' Association yesterday that the following stores have signified their intention of remaining closed for the two days of July 4 and 5: Bullock's, Broadway Department Store, J. W. Robinson Company, the May Company, Walker's, Incorporated, Barker Brothers, Coulter Dry Goods Company, Ville De Paris, Myer Siegel & Co., N. B. Blackstone Company, Jacoby Brothers and Swelldom.

AIMS AIRED AT VALLEY DINNER

sition in the industrial program and will be assured of getting its share of new industries to be brought to Los Angeles. The new organization was urged to make use of the facilities of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Pridham also declared that it will be necessary for the County Supervisors and the City Council to get together on the problem of flood control for San Fernando Valley.

Henry W. Wright of the County Board of Supervisors pledged the co-operation of the Supervisors to the organization and pointed out that there is now available in the County Treasury the sum of $200,000 for the improvement of Cahuenga Pass, and $100,000 for the improvement of San Fernando roads.

FLOOD AID PLEDGED

In a brief address Boyle Workman, president of the City Council, advised the members of the association to get together on any project to be brought before the City Council and to handle their problems in a community manner.

Mr. Workman commented on the benefits of such an organization and stated that any of their problems will receive the earnest consideration of the City Council.

The banquet hall echoed with applause when Chief Flood Control Engineer Regan stated that the Pacoima Dam will be among the first of the $35,000,000 flood control projects to be put through. Mr. Regan said that he hoped to have the contracts let by September. It will require two years to complete the dam, he said, adding that it is a dam to control flood waters and not to provide a reservoir that will be pretty to look upon.

San Fernando Valley was referred to by O. A. Vickrey of the Los Angeles Realty Board as the bread basket of Los Angeles. He extended pledges of the Realty Board to the association and urged them to work together to solve their problems.

In view of the rapid growth of Los Angeles, Secretary Ryerson of the Los Angeles Traffic Association suggested that the local City Hall be built at San Fernando and that the Union Terminal also be erected there so that this city may keep ahead in the startling increase in population. Mr. Ryerson also outlined the necessity of solving some of the traffic problems of San Fernando.

CITY PLANS TOLD

John Prince of the City Planning Commission discussed the vital factors necessary for the development of the valley, touching upon flood control; the construction of Riverside Drive which, he said, will be put through; improvement of Ventura Boulevard, Mulholland Drive and San Fernando Road. More railroads are needed, he declared.

A glowing picture of the San Fernando Valley of the future was painted by Willis Owens, former industrial surveyor for the late E. H. Harriman. Mr. Willis declared that in his opinion Hollywoodland will prove to be one of the greatest residential districts in America.

The Sepulveda Boulevard program was discussed by R. L. Haley of Van Nuys, who pointed out that it will be a vital necessity to have an outlet to the southern beaches and the greater harbor district. Co-operation on the part of all concerned is of utmost importance in bringing this about, he declared.

Congratulations to the new association from the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce were given by Carl Bush, secretary of the latter.

SEES HUGE GROWTH

S. H. Woodruff, industrial engineer, declared that he can look into the future and see the valley joined to Los Angeles by a network of highways. The entire community presents a picture, he declared, that home builders have never before realized.

The final speaker was George W. Bunton, secretary of the Van Nuys Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Bunton voiced a strong appeal for close co-operation on the part of the various towns, cities, organizations and people of the entire valley. He predicted that if the valley were opened up by the contemplated highways as planned by the association, that in five years it would have a population of 500,000.

Projects now before the association and the object of concentrated work are Riverside Drive, Victory, Sepulveda and San Fernando Boulevards. Riverside Drive is a development of the road which extends along the south side of Los Angeles River under the bluffs of Elysian Park. When completed it will supply a river-level route from Los Angeles into the San Fernando Valley. It wil be 100 feet wide and will be fifteen miles long without dangerous grade crossings. Victory Boulevard will be a major highway 100 feet wide and will traverse virtually the entire center of San Fernando Valley. It will be an entirely new thoroughfare opening up new territory, connecting Ventura county on the north and west with Los Angeles county. It is planned as a lasting memorial to heroes of the World War.

Sepulveda Boulevard is the valley extension of the north and south artery, which is to bisect the western part of Los Angeles. Its base will be the harbor. It will course northward through Sepulveda Canyon back of Beverly Hills and will cross Mulholland Highway at the crest of the Santa Monica Range and then wind its way to the floor of the valley, virtually at the exact geographical center.

It is proposed to widen San Fernando Boulevard to at least 100 feet and to repave it with heavy-duty type of paving. The highway is considered by the association as essential to intercommunity traffic of the valley as well as the flood of traffic northward from Los Angeles.

MATE STAR BOARDER

Waited Ten Years for Something to Turn Up; Wife Freed

For ten years Gilbert Hudson Spence was her star nonpaying boarder, Mrs. Nellie May Spence testified in Judge Thompson's court yesterday when her divorce suit was heard.

Spence was a modern Micawber, she said, "always waiting for something to turn up." In his case it was returns from "investments" in oil and mining stock. None of his "investments," she said, produced any money and she continued to furnish him with room and board.

Judge Thompson agreed with her contention that a nonpaying boarder, even if he is a husbnad, is a liability, and gave her her freedom.

BARS ALL FIRE FROM CANYON

Forest Supervisor Takes Action to Safeguard Cucamonga Area

As a result of increasing fire hazards growing out of the dryness of the season, R. H. Charlton, supervisor of the Angeles National Forest, has issued an order closing Cucamonga Canyon against all forms of fire. This action was authorized by the district forester at San Francisco. It is desirable, Supervisor Charlton said, that persons entering any of the canyons in the forest refrain from smoking. Unless the number of fires started by careless smokers materially decreases in the next few weeks it is likely an order prohibiting smoking will be issued, he explained.

Cucamonga Canyon is north of Upland and is not easily accessible. This canyon was the first to be closed this season because it is not possible to protect it adequately should a fire start there.

LONG LEASE FOR SITE IN HOLLYWOOD

Two Million-Dollar Deal for Boulevard Frontage; Height-Limit Building

A ninety-nine-year lease, involving a total rental of $2,000,000, has been obtained by Henry I. Beller and Henry and George Gittelson on property on Hollywood Boulevard, Wilcox and Hudson avenues, Hollywood. The land has a frontage on Hollywood Boulevard of 139.4 feet and a depth of 120 feet. It is improved at present with a two-story building containing eight stores on the ground floor and apartments overhead.

Under the terms of the lease the property will be remodeled at once and carried to a height of three stories. This work will include the remodeling and redecorating of the entire facade in an up to date and attractive manner. The plans for these changes are being drafted by Carl J. Weyl, architect.

The property was obtained by the new lessors from the A. C. Blumenthal Company, the transaction being handled by John P. Elsbach of Metcalfe and Ryan, with Attorney John J. Wilson preparing the papers.

The new owners of the lease who have been active in Hollywood and downtown real estate for some years, intend to replace the present structure with a Class A, heigh-limit building in a few years.

Husband Shows Quadrangle as Marital Block

The marital troubles of John J. Lahiff were of the quadrangular, rather than the triangular kind that is to popular nowadays.

A brother-in-law and a pet dog were the additions that he objected to in his cross-complaint filed yesterday in the divorce suit brought by Mae Lahiff.

The brother-in-law first caused the marital bark to list slightly, he said. From the time her brother came to live with them, Lahiff declared, things were different.

In the first place, the brother persuaded Mrs. Lahiff to go in for spiritualism, Lahiff continued. That was not so bad, asserted Lahiff, but when the brother enthusiastically informed Lahiff that the "spirits" had advised Lahiff to sell a piece of property and buy his brother-in-law an automobile, Lahiff said, he formed an immediate dislike of the brother and his spirits.

The pet dog was inoffensive, at first, Lahiff declared. But his wife insisted that the pup sleep with them, he said. For three years, Lahiff said, he stood it. Then he abdicated in favor of the canine and slept on the davenport.

OTIS ART INSTITUTE WORKS ON EXHIBITION

The works of the students of the Otis Art Institute have been placed on exhibition at the Los Angeles Museum in Exposition Park, where they will remain until July 10.

The exhibit represents the work of students in all departments of the school, including painting, drawing from life, sculpture, costume and commercial design. Wood carvings, metal work and jewelry also are shown.

RECEIVER IS APPOINTED

As a result of dissension among the stockholders of the Community Investment Company, Superior Judge Shaw yesterday appointed Willard L. Goodwin as receiver for the company. The company owns a subdivision near Burbank, which has sixty houses, valued at $336,500, and a cash surplus of $118,000. Goodwin's bond was fixed at $100,000.

Legal Lochinvar Wins Fair Maid by Court Order

Scion of Dons Armed With Writ Instead of Sword Routs Girl's Parents

Like Lochinvar of old, Manuel Parra, 33 years of age and descendant of an old Spanish family, rode out into the world in search of love. And, as did the Lochinvar of story-book fame, young Parra found love but met vigorous opposition at the hands of the maiden's parents.

Yesterday, still emulating Lochinvar, Parra figuratively rode into Judge Archbald's Juvenile Court. But instead of a trusty broadsword, he was armed with a writ of habeas corpus.

The writ commanded the appearance of Manuela Gamez, 20, the maiden fair of the erstwhile Lochinvar. Manuela, it was indicated by Parra's application, reciprocated the youth's burning love. But Mr. and Mrs. Sebastian Gamez of 1417 East Twentieth street, did not approve of the match, Parra said. He asked Judge Archbald to grant the writ so that he and his fiancee might be free to obtain a marriage license.

After hearing both sides of the case, Judge Archbald ordered the writ issued, and Parra and his bride-to-be later were seen heading for the priest's, armed with a marriage license issued them pursuant to the court's order.

ATHLETIC FIELD URGED

Playground Body Recommends That City Buy Acreage

Fifteen acres of land for an athletic field in the southwest district of the city should be acquired by the City Council, according to recommendations made to that body yesterday by the Playground Commission. The basis of the communication is the fact that the infield at Exposition Park is to be abolished in the near future in order to make way for a spacious approach to the Coliseum from Figueroa street.

Some compensation, it is maintained is due those who are now using the present athletic field and recreation center, and it is said that sufficient property can be obtained at a reasonable price. The matter was referred to the Finance Committee.

The children ask for more. The price is reasonable, so spread Wilso on thick.

JURY ACQUITS BILL CROCKETT

Not Guilty is Verdict in Bank Bandit Case

Two Asserted Companions Now in San Quentin

Mother in Court When Son Wins Freedom

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, June 27.—"Bill" Crockett is a free man. After deliberating for more than thirty-three hours, the jury agreed upon a verdict of acquittal at 10 o'clock this morning. Five minutes later Crockett was freed by the Sheriff. He stands absolved by the jury of having had any connection with the robbery of Taft State Bank last March, when two masked bandits held up the bank and escaped with $5700 in cash after locking the employees in a vault.

When the jurors made known their decision Crockett leaped over the rail of the courtroom and embraced his mother, who was attended by Crockett's brother. Crockett seized the hand of Attorney Jackson Mahon, who had appeared brilliantly in his defense.

The jurors were worn and fatigued and gave evident signs of pleasure when their long vigil finally culminated in the happiness of a young man and his mother.

The first ballot of the jury, when that body began its deliberations Wednesday evening, was reported as 9 to 3 for acquittal. For hours the vote stood at this impasse. All day yesterday the jury was deadlocked.

With the conclusion of the case today Crockett left for Taft with his mother and brother.

SPEED TO SPARE

Pasadena Traffic Officer Has Specially Built Mount

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, June 27.—Motorcycle Officer Dan R. Armer of the Pasadena police department, has fairly made his fellow-officers turn green with envy since the arrival of his new Henderson police special direct from the Henderson factory. The new motorcycle was built on plans and specifications prepared by Officer Armer and is the only one of its kind west of Chicago, the officer declares.

The motor is capable of traveling 110 miles an hour, and with Officer Armer astride its saddle speeders of Pasadena will receive no mercy. Armer, aside from being an officer, is a stunt rider for a Hollywood motion-picture company.

Some of the special features incorporated in the wheel include larger valves, pistons and connecting rods similar to those used in the famous Miller racers, and a quarter-inch more valve raise. There are a few of the motors now in use in Chicago, where Officer Armer was formerly employed. These specially built machines are sold to police officers only.

BANK IS DEFENDANT

Financial Institution Made Party to Lawsuit

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SANTA ANA, June 27.—Alleging the Bank of Italy, Long Beach branch, violated its instructions to hold money of investors until stock certificates were issued, it was made a joint defendant with officials of the now defunct Pacific Corporation in a suit for $24,000 damages, filed here in Superior Court today by John Mangold.

The plaintiff, he says, has been assigned the asserted claims of fifteen other stockholders who purport to have never received the certificates from the bank and who said their money never was returned.

Some of the defendants are now facing a criminal complaint, they having recently been charged with obtaining money under a false pretense in selling stock of the corporation, which operated at Signal Hill. These include R. C. Steel, Benjamin Brubaker, teller of an Orange bank; J. C. Gaines, Orange real estate dealer; Mrs. Mollie Meinecke, associated with Gaines, and others.

SET DATE FOR MURDER TRIAL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, June 27.—The trial of William Downs, Tayler Downs and W. C. Crawford for the murder of J. J. McGuire of Los Olivos will be called July 2, it was announced today after the hearing in which it is charged an entire community plotted to kill the aged blacksmith and drew lots to determine his assassin had been postponed three times.

One hundred veniremen have been called from which a jury is to be selected. It is said that practically the entire town in which the murder was committed is making preparations to attend the court sessions.

OPEN SEWER BIDS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

BURBANK, June 27.—In opening bids for the first link of the proposed sewer system, which in the end is to cost $300,000, the City Trustees found the tenders ranging from $20,000 to $40,000 for the first unit. These bids are being given consideration by the engineering department, the purpose being to award the contract and start the work at the earliest possible date.

PREPARE FOR CAMPAIGN

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

REDLANDS, June 27. — The Redlands Republican Club of which George M. Smallwood is president; W. B. Johnson, secretary and Austin T. Park, treasurer, held a meeting at the City Hall today to make plans to carry on the campaign of Coolidge and Dawes. The local work will be well organised so that the voting strength of the party will be represented at the polls.

BATTLE TO RID CITY OF RODENTS

Authorities Combine Efforts Following Discovery of Bubonic Plague

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN LUIS OBISPO, June 27.—The discovery of bubonic plague among squirrels on several ranches near San Luis Obispo has caused this city and county to unite in a campaign for rodent extermination.

W. J. Dudelson, head of the agricultural department of the California Polytechnic School, has been appointed by Mayor L. F. Sinsheimer to take charge of the work of extermination for the city and co-operate with the farm bureau and county authorities.

The campaign is for the extermination of rodents within a radius of twenty-five square miles of the city of San Luis Obispo, and the work is now well under way. It is expected that a representative from the United States Department of Agriculture will arrive here in the near future to assist in the extermination campaign.

Farm Adviser Murphy states that the bubonic plague found among the squirrels here is of the same type as that found in about ten other counties of the State, and which has not been communicated to human beings thus far.

The disease is apparently of a mild form, but the authorities are determined to completely exterminate not only squirrels but rats and mice.

Seek to Free Men Charged With Murder

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, June 27.—After seven days of piling up evidence against Charles Nolan and John Carlton, accused of the murder of Charles Love here on May 11, the prosecution rested its case late this afternoon and the defense immediately called its first witnesses following motions that the case be dismissed for lack of sufficient evidence.

Striving to prove that the accused had both been placed in black cells at the time of their arrest to force confessions from them and basing their opening questions along lines which indicate that an effort will be made to prove Nolan drunk and dazed when he shot Love, defense attorneys attempted to introduce in evidence the fact Love had a quarrelsome and irritable disposition and was in the habit of using his blackjack.

HEAP BAD INDIAN

Red Man Arrested for Pointing Gun at Officer

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

MONROVIA, June 27.—Calino Davis, 22 years of age, a Palermo Indian who leveled a gun at Constable J. L. Quiggle yesterday as Quiggle caught Ike Williams, another Indian, in an attempt to burglarize a house in South Monrovia, will be charged with assault with intent to commit murder tomorrow morning in the Police Court of Judge Clyde Burr.

Williams will be charged with burglary. Both are now in the County Jail and will be brought here tomorrow to be arraigned. Williams was attempting to break into the house of M. Kawaguchi, a Japanese, in South Monrovia, when Constable Quiggle and Deputy Constable R. E. Jeffries caught him and arrested him. Davis was hiding in the weeds near the house and pointed his six-shooter at the officer as Jeffries covered the Indian with his gun and saved Quiggle's life.

Both Indians said they were from San Joaquin and were looking for work.

OLDEST RESIDENT ANSWERS LAST CALL

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

HUNTINGTON PARK, June 27. One of the very oldest pioneers of this city, Charles Jacob Cobler, is dead at his home at 417 South Rita street, and funeral arrangements are awaiting the arrival of his daughter, Mrs. Frank Dresman, who, with her husband, left a month ago on a three-months' touring trip for the North and Middle West. They have just been located at Lake Cheland, in Washington, and are now on their way to this city.

Mr. Cobler, who was 68 years of age at the time of his death, was a native of Illinois, and, with his parents, located in California thirty-five years ago, and he had resided here for the past twenty-two years. At the time he located in Huntington Park, this place was populated with just about one-dozen persons. He is survived by his widow and two daughters, Mrs. Dresman of this city, and Mrs. Olive Campbell of Los Angeles.

"DON'T SHOOT," CRIES BOY

Enraged Father Kills Wife and Ends Own Life; Result of Family Quarrel

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, June 27.—Aroused by the screams of his mother shortly after 4 o'clock this morning, Ora McElroy, 14-year-son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. McElroy, rushed to her bedroom to find his father advancing upon her with a shotgun.

"Don't shoot, Dad, don't shoot," the lad cried and immediately grappled with his father. The fight was brief. Striking the boy on the head with the butt of the gun, the father knocked him down and while the lad was still in a daze, shot and killed the mother as she leaped from the bed in her night clothing and attempted to escape.

After committing the murder, the father walked steadily to another room, secured another gun, walked to the back porch and there blew his own brains out.

The murder and suicide was the culmination of an all-night quarrel over financial matters, according to neighbors, who were interrogated by the police.

The couple came home about 11 o'clock last night and throughout the entire night kept the neighbors awake as they quarreled. No one suspected a tragedy was impending until the screams of the woman rent the air as her husband stalked her like an animal.

The McElroy family had been living in Fresno for some time but the husband and father had expressed a wish to return to a former home in Oregon. The mother protested against the move.

"Property settlement is the cause of this act," read a note found in the dining-room, signed by McElroy and dated at midnight.

Uses Revolver in Attempt to Win Lady Love

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

UPLAND, June 27.—Caveman methods of Ignacio Flores, 21 years of age, well-known Upland youth of the city's Latin quarter, in attempting to win the lady of his heart with a large six-shooter, lodged him in the City Jail in lieu of $500 bail. He is being held to await trial following his arraignment today before Judge George R. Crane in the Police Court. Flores is charged with assault with a deadly weapon and his hearing is set for July 9.

Miss Lucy Hernandez, 18, and unusually pretty, is the girl in the case. According to her story, Flores has for some months been attempting to force unwelcome attentions upon her and late last night as she and her brother, Pete Hernandez, and Miss Carmen Ayala were returning to the Hernandez home in Campus avenue, they were overtaken by Flores and was again spurned by the girl when he attempted to persuade her to be friendly.

The youth is said to have drawn a large gun with which he threatened to shoot her and then to have struck at her with the butt end of the weapon. When the girl's brother attempted to interfere, he came out a poor second at the hands of the husky Lothario. Hernandez finally reached a telephone and called the police who lodged Flores in jail.

COMBINE TO FIGHT TELEPHONE COMPANY

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SOUTH PASADENA, June 27. Seeking definite information which may be used by the City Attorney in combatting the application of the Southern California Telephone Company for increased service rates, blank forms are being distributed by the city to users of automatic telephones in order that all calls made during July may be recorded.

These forms have been supplied to each pharmacy in the city for circulation, City Manager R. V. Orbison stated today in requesting that patrons of the Southern California Telephone Company co-operate with the municipal officials in gathering data to be presented at a hearing before the State Railroad Commission.

BEAN GROWERS MEET

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OXNARD, June 27.—Announcement has been made by Ralph L. Churchill, general manager of the California Lima Bean Growers' Association, with head offices here, that the annual members' meeting and barbecue will be held at Hueneme on Tuesday, July 8. Preparations are being made for a big gathering as bean growers from all parts of Southern California are expected to be here.

The annual meeting is held in the Oxnard Citrus Association packing sheds on the wharf at Hueneme. A typical California barbecue always features the affair. Carlyle Thorpe, manager of the California Walnut Growers' Association, will be the principal speaker of the day.

DRIVE IS SUCCESSFUL

SANTA MONICA, June 27.—The three-day drive which ended yesterday for new members of the Santa Monica-Ocean Park Chamber of Commerce was instrumental in obtaining 231 new subscribers, it was announced this morning. The goal originally set by the committees in charge was 150 new members and the number obtained now makes the chamber one of the strongest in the Southland. Teams for the drive were organized under the direction of M. C. McKenney, secretary of the chamber.

LEAVES CITY SERVICE

Long Beach Employee Quits to Manage Alhambra

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, June 27.—J. Lloyd Moore, superintendent of the municipal water department here, and one of the best known of the Long Beach city officials, has resigned from the city service to become City Manager of Alhambra, it was announced by City Manager Windham today.

He takes up his new duties at Alhambra on July 1, it was said. Mr. Moore has been a resident of Long Beach since 1918, and for many years was connected with various railroads in California as a general agent.

His successor as head of the water department here will be Clark Shaw, chief engineer of that department, it was announced. With Moore's departure there will be a reorganization of the water department, which will be combined with the new city gas department.

SCHOOLBOY SAVES TWO-YEAR-OLD GIRL

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, June 27.—Catherine Chase, 2 years of age, 230 Horizon avenue was rescued from drowning in the Alderbaren Canal this morning, after she had lost her balance and had fallen into the water unnoticed. Camden Roger, Venice high-school boy, who was walking along the bank of the canal saw the body of the little girl float to the surface. Discarding his coat he dived into the canal and brought the child to the shore.

Lawson Thurlow, son of Trustee T. H. Thurlow, an expert swimmer immediately gave first aid and after more than an hour the child was resuscitated. She was removed to her home. Police Surgeon Saylin, who attended her says she will recover.

DIVE SAVES LIFE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, June 27.—Only the presence of mind of Manuel Leonardo, Jr., aged 12 years, of Newman, near here, saved his life yesterday when the explosion from the exhaust of a gasoline engine enveloped his whole body in a mass of flames. The boy turned and dived head first into a tank of water. Despite his quick action he was badly burned and was suffering greatly today. He will live, doctors said.

TO CONTEST ACTION FOR SEPARATION

Cross-Complaint Latest Development of Domestic War at Orange

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA ANA, June 27.—O. W. Dehne, Santa Ana man who was knocked down at the door of Justice Jack Landell's court by Al Aubuchon, who later paid Landell $200 for the privilege, was cross-complainant today in a divorce contest with his wife, Mrs. Amelia Dehne.

Dehne filed an answer and cross-complaint to his wife's divorce suit late yesterday several hours after the attack made upon him by Aubuchon. The attack had climaxed a court hearing in which Aubuchon, 37 years of age; Mrs. Dehne, 25; Mrs. Fannie Mohn, 22, and Earl Davidson were arraigned on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of Mrs. Dehne's 4-year-old daughter. Orange police had arrested the quartet in a raid upon an asserted "love nest" at Orange.

In his cross-complaint to the divorce action, Dehne says his wife abandoned him last December. He also mentioned a raid made Monday night at 237½ West Maple avenue, Orange. He charged his wife with improper conduct with "another man" who was said to be unknown to Dehne. Mention of the Orange raid was made in connection with this allegation.

Army Flyer to Make Pictures of Salton Sea

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, June 27.—Seven hundred and fifty square miles of territory around the Salton Sea in the Imperial Valley will be photographed in the next two weeks by Lieut. W. E. Taylor, commanding officer of the fifteenth photo section of the Ninety-first Aero Squadron, temporarily based at Rockwell Field.

It is estimated that 2000 separate photos will be taken, and these will be made into an aerial map of the Salton Sea district. Special photographic apparatus will be used. The "shots" being made at an altitude of 15,000 feet.

Lieut. Taylor left Rockwell Field this morning to start the work. He said that between thirty and forty hours of flying would be required to complete the mission. Assembling of the photos at the Rockwell Field laboratories will require about six weeks. Copies of the completed map will then be sent to the Department of the Interior, the Geological Survey, the California State Engineer, the Army Air Service engineering department, and the Imperial Valley Irrigation District.

TO AN UNKNOWN GRAVE

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, June 27.—All efforts of police and others to establish the identity of the man whose body was found on Terminal Island west of the Edison plant Wednesday afternoon with a bullet hole in his forehead have failed and the body will be buried at city expense, it was announced here today.

More than 100 people have viewed the remains at the Holton and Son undertaking establishment since the body was taken there but none has been able to identify it.

The man was apparently 45 or 50 years of age, dark complexion, black hair, about 145 or 150 pounds and was about five feet seven inches tall in life.

GIVE LAST CONCERT

MONROVIA, June 27.—The auditorium of the First Presbyterian Church was filled this evening when the last concert of the season by the Monrovia Community Orchestra was given with John R. Bayley as conductor.

One of the best programs of the six concerts of the series was presented by the forty-piece orchestra and in spite of the warm weather the audience was most enthusiastic in its appreciation.

MAKES PLEA FOR OLD MISSIONS

John Steven McGroarty Tells of New Plan

Organizes Society to Raise Needed Funds

First Chapter Instituted at San Diego

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, June 27.—The Society of the Golden Scroll, with Chapter No. 1 at San Diego has been organized here for the purpose of restoring and perpetuating California's twenty-one missions. The movement got under way at a dinner last night given by the Chamber of Commerce, and at which John Steven McGroarty, one of the foremost authorities on California missions, was a guest of honor.

Mr. McGroarty, in an eloquent appeal for the missions, aroused his audience to a high pitch of enthusiasm, and his suggestion of a united effort in behalf of the historic edifices was readily take up.

"It is impossible to start the Society of the Golden Scroll anywhere but in San Diego, the place where the first mission was built, where civilization and Christianity were born upon this Pacific Coast," said Mr. McGroarty. "The chapters of the society will be numbered, the first twenty-one being founded where the missions were established and numbered in the order in which the missions were founded. San Diego chapter will be No. 1. I hope we will have thousands of chapters all over the world, with an enrollment of men and women who will make permanent the great historical monuments of California, the greatest historical monuments in the United States."

The society, as outlined by Mr. McGroarty, will be open to any person anywhere upon payment of a $5 initiation fee, and the annual payment of $1 for dues. He expressed the wish that the society would enroll 100,000 members, which would give an immediate fund of $500,000 and an annual income of $100,000 all to be devoted to the restoration and preservation of the Franciscan missions of California.

AIR MAIL SERVICE

Flyers to Leave Santa Monica After July 1

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, June 27.—Air mail service to and from all parts of the United States will be inaugurated here July 1, according to an official announcement made this morning by Grace Tooker Postmaster. Parcels are not to exceed fifty pounds in weight and will be carried for 8 cents an ounce or fraction thereof for each zone or part of zone over which the air route goes.

The government route is from New York to San Francisco and mail must be marked "via air mail" if it is intended for transmission in that way to and from any point. Special air-mail stamps may be used, but any stamps will serve the purpose if enough to cover the cost of the service under the rates fixed by the department.

COURT UPHOLDS CITY ZONING ORDINANCE

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SIERRA MADRE, June 27.—Exponents of the zoning ordinance which was passed last June, and which restricted the operation of sanitaria in certain portions of the city, were jubilant yesterday when it became known that the petition for an injunction filed by owners of the Mountain Glen Sanatorium was denied.

In the opinion of Superior Judge Hartley Shaw, before whom the case was argued, the city has a right to pass and enforce a zoning ordinance, and the demurrer of the city attorneys was sustained. The complaintants now have ten days in which to file an amended complaint.

This is the second attempt of the sanatorium owners to prevent enforcement of the ordinance, and it brings to mind the intense feeling which resulted in factional differences and the formation of a civic association for the promotion of the zoning law.

CELEBRATES 93RD BIRTHDAY

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SAN FERNANDO, June 27.—Capt. L. C. Almond yesterday celebrated the ninety-third anniversary of his birth. He crossed the plains to California fifty-four years ago and today resides with his daughter, Mrs. W. A. Humphrey, of North Maclay street. During the Civil War he saw service as captain of Co. E, Eighty-second Regiment of Indiana Infantry. Since 1853 he has been a member of the Odd Fellows order. Aside from tracing his ancestry back to to England's Queen Elizabeth, his ancestral tree shows that he was related to both President John Adams and President John Quincy Adams.

CAMP FOREMAN KILLED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, June 27.—James Connelly, camp foreman for the Southern California Edison Company, was killed today when he was struck by an electric crane at Camp No. 50. Connelly, a man of family, had been employed by the power company here for several years.

His family had come here but a week ago to make their home.

Coroner John Lisle was summoned from Fresno an dis conducting an inquest today.

NEW BUILDING ORDINANCE

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, June 27.—A new building ordinance which will provide for specified construction in residential, business and industrial zones, as contained in a recent zoning ordinance adopted by the City Council, is being prepared by local architects. Upon the completion of the plans they will be submitted to the board for final approval.

ANGELENO IS GIVEN PROBATION

One Court Shows Lenient to Auto Driver, Other Asks Full Penalty for Bigamist

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SANTA ANA, June 27.—While one man convicted of manslaughter in connection with the death of a woman in an automobile accident was being allowed probation in one branch of the Superior Court here today, in another department a youth convicted of bigamy was being sentenced to Folsom penitentiary with the recommendation "that you be required to stay in prison every day of your maximum sentence."

Permitted to go free was Benjamin Brooks of Los Angeles, on whom were placed probationary restrictions, one being that he abstain from using intoxicants. He was found guilty of manslaughter after a jury deliberated twenty-four hours, but the jurors recommended clemency.

Doomed to go behind the grey walls was Sterling Eckert, 22 years of age, and admitted husband of three young women, one of whom, he claimed, since remarried without obtaining a decree.

Judge F. C. Drumm passed sentence in the Brooks case, while Judge Z. B. West sent the verbal broadside into the Eckert camp.

Mrs. Brooks, who collapsed when her husband was found guilty of manslaughter after his car was in a collision that proved fatal to Mrs. Stena Duncan of Montebello, rushed forward to the bench today with a spontaneity that startled the spectators. Again the was virtually overcome, but this time with joy.

Judge West refused probation to young Eckert, husband of 18-year-old Iris Dixon of Brea and others, when the prosecution offered to prove his sisters and aunts, who last week took the blame for his going wrong, saying they had pampered him, really "had no use for the boy."

RELATIVES CLAIM REMAINS OF RECLUSE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PORTERVILLE, June 27.—A niece of "Old Jim" Michael, 103 years of age, recluse residing near here, and who was found dead in the road near his home Sunday under mysterious circumstances, who lives in Philadelphia, is en route o Porterville. Mrs. J. J. Gilmore of Delano, a distant relative of the deceased, has also arrived here. "Old Jim" had lived alone for fifty years, had considerable property and was believed to have quite a little money. Officers are investigating the cause of his death.

SENTENCE SUSPENDED

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, June 27.—L. Rouse and Alta Roberts Paddock, charged with petty larceny and violation of the rooming-house ordinance, were sentenced when they appeared before Judge W. R. Garrett yesterday to serve ten days in the County Jail on the first count and sixty days suspended on the second.

The are said to have buried a trunk in the back yard of a house which they had rented in Santa Monica, which was said to have contained stolen property.

USED BY UNCLE SAM

Banknote Plates Are Made Into Battleship Castings

From banknote plates to battleship castings is the path taken by much of the steel used by Uncle Sam in printing stamps, government notes and paper money of all denominations. Each year, thousands of plates used for this purpose are scrapped, melted up and molded into yokes for eight-inch guns, castings for torpedo tubes and many other things.

Before being discarded, the plates are watched as carefully as money itself. They are sent to the different departments each morning and returned at night to the custodian of the original dies, which are never destroyed. After making about 50,000 impressions, the delicately engraved lines become worn so that further printing wit hthem would be unsatisfactory. Under the direction of a committee of three officials appointed by the Secretary of the Treasury, the destruction and transformation of the plates take place.

Not long ago, more than twenty tons of metal were taken from the vaults, hauled to the foundry of the United States navy yard and there "cremated" under the watchful eyes of the committee.—[Popular Mechanics.

JAPANESE HIGH FESTIVAL

The festival of the cherry blossoms is a notable event in Japan each year. The fete is celebrated during the second or third week in April, when the cherry trees are at the height of their season. Inaugurated in the Ninth century, the emperor's garden party is famed throughout the world for its floral splendor, and as a social function it brings about the most brilliant assemblage seen at the royal palace during the entire round of the four seasons. To the Japanese the cherry blossom has a symbolism akin to that of the bluebird in other countries, and they speak of it as "Sakura—symbol of happiness."—[Exchange.

DAWES AND PRESIDENT MAY SPEAK

Pair Expected to Talk on Economy at Conference of Department Heads

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, June 27.—President Coolidge and Gen. Charles G. Dawes, his running mate, may have an opportunity to discuss the issue of economy in government expenditures from the same platform.

If Gen. Dawes reaches Washington by Monday, it is understood that he will be invited to address the semiannual meeting of the government business organization which takes place on Monday night. Monday is the closing day of the fiscal year and, according to the custom inaugurated by Gen. Dawes as the first director of the budget, all government department heads and bureau chiefs will assemble at the call of the President and the director of the budget.

President Coolidge and Director of the Budget Lord, who succeeded Gen. Dawes in the position, are the scheduled speakers of the evening. They will review the record of the fiscal year as to expenditures and will urge economy at every point for the coming fiscal year.

Gen. Dawes will be a guest of the President at the White House during his stay in Washington and because of his former connection with the Budget Bureau, is expected to accompany the President to the meeting if he is here at the time, regardless of whether or not he is down for a speech.

JAPAN WILL NOT APPEAL TO LEAGUE

Kato Says His Country is Stricken and Hand-Tied Over Exclusion Situation

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TOKIO, June 27.—It is stated by the Foreign Office, that Japan has dropped the idea of appealing to the League of Nations on the American Exclusion Act, not because it is not a good case, but the League is apparently impotent.

Premier Kato informed a delegation of big business people that the government is stricken with anxiety over the situation, but is hand-tied because of the American elections which preclude any chance of a satisfactory presentation to America.

The delegation inquired what the plans would be in the event of a pretext being found to bar the Japanese now en route to America, on account of physical disabilities. America might later bar employees of Japanese commercial houses on the score that they are contract laborers. The Premier replied he was watching carefully and hoping such trouble does not occur.

This morning every motion-picture house in Tokio with the exception of two, opened with programs of European and Japanese films. It was noticed that the two houses showing American films were the best patronized. A majority of the motion-picture proprietors say the boycott is not expected to last more than a fortnight. A Japanese suicide in Tiachu, in Foromosa, left a note saying, "I am dying as a protest to exclusion, and when I am dead my soul will fly to America to punish Representative Albert Johnson and his kind."

Dr. Morgan Will Head Southland Chemist Society

The regular June meeting of the southern section of the American Chemical Society took place last evening at the Mary Louise on West Seventh street. New officers elected for the ensuing year were President, Dr. William Conger Morgan, director of the chemical laboratory of the University of California, Southern Branch; vice-president R. Trageroff; secretary, Mark Walker, and treasurer, C. V. Marvin. Walter Schmidt, retiring president, was elected a councilor.

The annual award of a silver cup to the high school team winning the recent chemical society examination was made to the Long Beach High School team, which has the honor of twice winning this contest.

The address of the evening was given by H. C. Parmelee, editor of Chemical and Metallurgical Engineering, New York City. Mr. Parmelee gave an interesting talk on the relationship between chemical engineering and industry. He showed how many industries, while diverse in character, are related through their use of common processes and common equipment. In many respects they have common problems of operation that can be handled most efficiently by men trained in chemical engineering, he said.

Coupal Picked by Coolidge as His Physician

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Maj. James F. Coupal, curator of the Army Medical Museum, was selected by President Coolidge today to be his personal physician, succeeding Brig.-Gen. Charles E. Sawyer, resigned. Maj. Coupal was physician to Mr. Coolidge as Vice-President.

PORTUGAL CABINET QUITS

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LISBON (Portugal) June 27.—The Portuguese Cabinet headed by Alvaro Castro resigned last night. The resignation was accepted, but Premier Castro will remain in office temporarily.

CITY'S SCHOOLS BEGIN VACATION

Release 200,000 Pupils for Summer Months

Six Thousand Teachers Also Will Get Rest

Large Enrollment for Recess Courses Predicted

Closing of the city schools yesterday released from their round of studies nearly 200,000 elementary, private and high-school pupils, who scurried away burdened with note books showing signs of a long hard winter.

More than 6000 teachers were also released for summer vacations, university work, or other activities. Many of these men and women will take a brief rest until July 7, when they will again return to their desks for six weeks of summer school.

Summer school, both day and evening, has proved more successful here than in the eastern cities, and thousands of students make up grades lost through illness or absence, or review subjects in which they have failed during the school year.

EXPECT 25,000

There are probably 25,000 students who are planning to enroll in the summer schools, and possibly 5000 in the evening high schools.

Transportation of students to new high schools in the outlying districts is one of the big problems of the Board of Education at this time. On its solution will depend the attendance at the new John C. Fremont, the Belvedere Junior, and the Fairfax high schools, which are to be opened in September.

"There must be a cross-town lines, for instance, if the pupils are to reach the John C. Fremont High School," said Mrs. Susan M. Dorsey, Superintendent of Schools, yesterday.

HAS BIG FIELD

"Students will be drawn from the Sixty-sixth, the Seventy-fifth and the South Park elementary schools. And all the A-8 pupils from Woodcrest, West Athens, James Whitcomb Riley, Ninety-fifth, Ninety-seventh, Manchester, Figueroa and the Miramonte elementary schools will go to the John C. Fremont. I haven't a doubt that it will be filled to capacity the first day of the new school year," Mrs. Dorsey concluded.

Mr. Frederick R. Feitshans, member of the board, has been in frequent conference with officials of the Los Angeles Railway Company. The board has been urging the installation of bus lines, which would eliminate the question of power reduction and solve the transportation problem to its satisfaction.

Belvedere Junior High School is supposed to have a street-car line extension, but it seems doubtful that it will be in operation by September.

Fairfax High School must have a bus or car line on Melrose to connect with existing car lines.

Hand of Reds Seen in Harbor Theft Series

Connection of the I.W.W. followers with the wave of petty burglaries now sweeping the port district was pointed to by the harbor police yesterday following the discovery of a large amount of Red propaganda scattered promiscuously about the rifled tobacco shop owned by Otto Miller, at 132 South Harbor Boulevard. Cigarettes and tobacco were stolen in the raid.

The Western Auto Supply Company, 439 South Pacific avenue, Los Angeles Harbor, also was entered yesterday, more than $600 in cash, stocks and checks being taken. Entrance was gained to the steel safe by chiseling off the combination.

Twenty spurious pay checks, in amounts ranging from $24 to $28, have been distributed about the port district during the past week by burglars who a week ago stole a blank check book from the office of the Harbor Materials Company, it was announced yesterday by Detective Lieutenant Farrell.

Harry Taylor was arrested at the harbor yesterday by Detective Lieutenants Spinner and Ryan, of the Wilshire division, on suspicion of having committed a number of burglaries recently in the Wilshire district.

Star Witness in Oil Frauds Case Is Fined

E. Guy King, chief witness for the government in the trial of Wyatt L. Nix and others on a charge of conspiracy to use the mails in a scheme to defraud, was fined $1500 yesterday by Federal Judge Bledsoe. King, field foreman for the Eliasville Pool Syndicate No. 1, an organization promoted by Nix, pleaded guilty to the conspiracy charge at the beginning of the trial. Evidence showed that King bought in the syndicate's well near Breckenridge, Tex., at a bankruptcy sale, and turned it over to stockholders who now are operating it.

Judge Bledsoe gave King ninety days within which to pay the fine. The latter, it was announced, will return to Texas to superintend work on a well now being drilled by the reorganized syndicate. In assessing the fine Judge Bledsoe said he did not think King was dishonest, but that he had merely been unable to withstand temptations to misrepresent affairs of the original syndicate.

Nix was convicted on the conspiracy charge and was sentenced to serve two years at Leavenworth and to pay a fine of $1000. Frank L. Gardner, Mrs. Alice B. Gardner and Percy E. Raymond, codefendants, were acquitted. The case against J. E. Chambers, another defendant, was dismissed.

GIRLS TO TOUR EUROPE

Miss Violet Carewe, daughter of Edwin Carewe, film producer, and several other girls from the Cumnock School, leave tomorrow for a European trip. They will be gone about three months.
